Rethinking Youth:

Rethinking Youth Rob White, 2020-08-05 Young people grow up in varied circumstances with different priorities and perspectives While youth does not exist as a single group we need to understand what is happening in young people's lives Rethinking Youth challenges the conventional wisdoms surrounding the position and opportunities of young people today and provides a systematic overview of the major perspectives in youth studies The authors demonstrate how the concept of youth involves a tension between the social significance of age which gives young people a common status and the significance of social divisions Drawing upon studies from different societies they examine debates surrounding youth and economy youth development youth subcultures youth transitions and youth marginalisation Rethinking Youth offers a provocative critique of mainstream conceptions of youth the programs and strategies designed for at risk young people and policy development in youth affairs It calls for greater sensitivity to the complexities of youth and greater emphasis on democracy and equality in dealing with the problems experienced by young people in a rapidly changing world Johanna Wyn is Director of the Youth Research Centre at the University of Melbourne Rob White lectures in Criminology at the University of Melbourne

Young People Making It Work Hernan Cuervo, Johanna Wyn, 2012-08-01 Young People Making it Work examines a generation's lives in rural Australia over the last two decades Against a backdrop of dramatic social economic and environmental change the book tells the story of how a generation of young people have strived to remain connected to the people and places that matter to them It transcends the assumption that rural places are one of deficit and disadvantage to focus on the ways in which powerful narratives of belonging are conceptualised Now aged in their late thirties these are participants in the Youth Research Centre's Life Patterns longitudinal study who left school in the early 1990s They are members of generation X and like their peers in urban places they have used education to achieve their goals Their stories reveal the powerful influence of both family and place on the decisions they have made since leaving secondary school Cuervo and Wyn draw on contemporary theory from sociology cultural geography and youth studies to provide new insights about youth transitions and young adulthood that are relevant not only to the rural context but to all young people

Retrovisions Deborah Cartmell, I. Q. Hunter, Imelda Whelehan, 2001-09-20 The contributors to Retrovisions consider what happens to history in the movies Focusing on films and texts from the 1950s to the 1990s the contributors argue that the past has always come to us by way of previous texts and culturally bounded aesthetic categories and that history films to the despair of historians have always taken a postmodern approach to their subject seeing the past as a dynamic resource for exciting stories and poetic morally uplifting untruths Why do certain decades appeal at certain times And what does the renewal of interest in narrative history reveal about our culture at the start of the new millennium The authors address the variety of ways in which history can be used refashioned and made over to reflect current concerns and how history films from the past can be reinterrogated to learn what they tell us about their own times The films discussed include Elizabeth Shakespeare in Love Culloden The Avengers Titus and several adaptations of Les Liaisons Dangereuses including Cruel Intentions For We Are Young And . . . ? Sally Beadle, Roger Holdsworth, Johanna Wyn, 2011-03-15 For we are young and offers a provocative perspective on Australia's young people against a global and local backdrop of uncertainty and change. It asserts the importance of a critically informed and positive approach to youth moving beyond seeing young people through the lens of shortcomings and problems to be solved. For we are young and draws directly on the work of the Youth Research Centre at The University of Melbourne and its legacy of innovative and significant research on young Australians. Opening with the theoretical context of youth research, the book draws on contemporary examples to discuss new conceptual and research approaches, the ways in which young people participate in change and the challenges and possibilities that are presented by current conditions. For we are young identifies emerging issues and future directions for youth research policy and professional practice.

Young Working-Class Men in Transition Steven Roberts, 2018-06-27 Young Working Class Men in Transition uses a unique blend of concepts from the sociologies of youth and masculinity combined with Bourdieusian social theory to investigate British young working class men's transition to adulthood. Indeed, utilising data from biographical interviews as well as an ethnographic observation of social media activity, this volume provides novel insights by following young men across a seven-year time period. Against the grain of prominent popular discourses that position young working class men as in crisis or as adhering to negative forms of traditional masculinity, this book consequently documents subtle yet positive shifts in the performance of masculinity among this generation. Underpinned by a commitment to a much more expansive array of emotionality than has previously been revealed in such studies, young men are shown to be engaged in school, open to so-called women's work in the service sector and committed to relatively egalitarian divisions of labour in the family home. Despite this, class inequalities inflect their transition to adulthood with the toxicity of neoliberalism rather than toxic masculinity being core to this reality. Problematising how working class masculinity is often represented, Young Working Class Men in Transition both demonstrates and challenges the portrayal of working class masculinity as a repository of homophobia, sexism and anti-feminine acting. It will appeal to students and researchers interested in fields such as youth studies, masculinity studies, gender studies, sociology of education and sociology of work. Sex Work Now Rosie Campbell, Maggie O'Neill, 2006 Aims to provide an overview of prostitution, approaching the subject from an interdisciplinary perspective and cutting across the conventional boundaries of sociology, criminology, politics and social policy. This book addresses the relationship between prostitutes and the communities in which they live and work. Critical Reflections on Migration, 'Race' and Multiculturalism Martina Boese, Vince Marotta, 2017-06-26 Migration and its associated social practices and consequences have been studied within a multitude of academic disciplines and in the context of policies at local, national and regional level. This edited collection provides an introduction and critical review of conceptual developments and policy contexts of migration scholarship within an Australian and global context through political economy analyses of migration.

and associated transformations sociological analyses of settling in processes multi disciplinary analyses of migrant work a historical review of scholarship on refugees a Southern theory approach to cultural diversity sociological reflections on post nationalism Cultural Studies analyses of public culture and second generation youth cultures interdisciplinary and Critical Race analyses of race and racism feminist intersectional analyses of migration belonging and representation the theorising of cosmopolitanism a transdisciplinary analysis of gender transnational families and care and a comparative transcontextual analysis of hybridity An essential contribution to the current mapping of migration studies with a focus on Australian scholarship in its international context this collection will be of interest to undergraduates and postgraduates interested in fields such as Sociology Cultural Studies Geography and Politics Young Citizens and Political Participation in a Digital Society P. Collin, 2015-01-13 Drawing on diverse theoretical perspectives this book examines questions of youth citizenship and participation by exploring their meanings in policy practice and youth experience It examines young people s participation in non government and youth led organisations and asks what can be done to bridge the democratic disconnect

Young People and the Struggle for Participation Andreas Walther, Janet Batsleer, Patricia Loncle, Axel Pohl, 2019-07-10 Young People and the Struggle for Participation rethinks dominant concepts and meanings of participation by exploring what young people do in public spaces and what these spaces mean to them individually and collectively This book discusses how different spaces and places structure and are in turn structured by young peoples activities Drawing on findings from a comparative study in eight European cities insights into different styles of youth participation emerging from formal non formal and informal settings are presented The book provides a comparative analysis of how transnational discourses national welfare states and local youth policies affect youth participation It also investigates how it comes about that young people get involved in different forms of participation in the course of their biographies This book will appeal to academics researchers and post graduate students in the fields of youth studies community studies sociology of education political science social work psychology and anthropology The Politics of Inequality David Pettinicchio, 2021-07-19 For its breadth and depth of research this volume of Research in Political Sociology is essential reading for researchers and students of Politics Sociology and Policy Complexities of Researching with Young People Paulina Billett, Matt Hart, Dona Martin, 2019-11-22 Currently most books on youth research available on the market focus on how to conduct youth research or the research process itself This edited collection proposes to take this process a step further and discuss the complexities of youth research from a practical and theoretical context In total five themes are examined conceptualising young people ethics and consent the digital voice participation and unexpected tensions In this book authors from six countries explore the complexities of researching with young people across disciplines and national contexts Offering a closeup examination of their own research experiences the authors address the complexities of researching with young people beyond simple questions of protection from harm and coercion by problematising notions of resilience participation risk and voice This edited collection takes the reader through an exploration of its key themes and in doing so presents a cast of candid and insightful accounts from youth researchers situated within the humanities and social sciences Incarcerated Young People, Education and Social Justice Kitty te Riele, Tim Corcoran, Fiona MacDonald, Alison Baker, Julie White, 2023-03-31 This book foregrounds the provision of education for young people who have been remanded or sentenced into custody Both international conventions and national legislation and guidelines in many countries point to the right of children and young people to access education while they are incarcerated Moreover education is often seen as an important protective and rehabilitative factor However the conditions associated with incarceration generate particular challenges for enabling participation in education Bridging the fields of education and youth justice this book offers a social justice analysis through the lens of participatory parity the book brings together rare interviews with staff and young people in youth justice settings in Australia secondary data from these sites a suite of pertinent and frank reports and international scholarship Drawing on this rich set of material the book demonstrates not only the challenges but also the possibilities for education as a conduit for social justice in custodial youth justice The book will be of immediate relevance to governments and youth justice staff for meaningfully meeting their obligation of enabling children and young people in custody to benefit from education and of interest to scholars and researchers in education youth work and criminology Young Adult Drinking Styles Dominic Conroy, Fiona Measham, 2019-11-30 This book brings together cutting edge contemporary research and discussion concerning drinking practices among young adults individuals aged approximately 18 30 years old Its chapters showcase an interdisciplinary range of perspectives from psychology sociology criminology geography public health and social policy The contributors address themes including how identity becomes involved in young adult drinking practices issues relating to the non consumption of alcohol within friendship groups and the role of social context religious and ethnic orientation gender identity and social media use In doing so they highlight changing trends in alcohol consumption among young people which have seen notably fewer young adults consuming alcohol over the last two decades In acknowledging the complex nature of drinking styles among young adults the contributors to this collection eschew traditional understandings of young adult drinking which can pathologise and generalise They advocate instead for an inclusive approach as demonstrated in the wide range of disciplinary backgrounds cultural perspectives methods and international settings represented in this book in order to better understand the economic socio cultural and pharmacological crossroads at which we now stand This book will appeal in particular to researchers theorists practitioners and policy makers working in the alcohol and drugs field public health and health psychology in addition to students and researchers from across the social sciences The Beginning of Politics Kirsi Pauliina Kallio, Jouni Hakli, 2016-02-05 The conventional wisdom according to which children's lives should be safe from adult concerns tends to situate them categorically outside the political Thus understood children become political agents when they reach maturity and eligibility to formal participation Alternatively political skills and competences may be seen to develop gradually through political socialization Both views are challenged in recent scholarship on youthful politics beyond the formal adult centered political world This book considers politics as it appears and unfolds in children and young people s everyday lives The collection problematizes several key concepts in the research field and introduces a relational reading of youthful political agency based on social spatial and political theorization The chapters engage with youthful realities in Sri Lanka Palestine Sweden New Zealand the US and the UK revealing a variety of ways in which children and youth are important political actors in their own right The book also includes an extensive literary review on the study of children and young people s politics in the past decade This book was originally published as a special issue of Space and Polity

The Citizen in the 21st Century James Arvanitakis, Ingrid Mattheers, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2013 In the nineteen essays of this collection the 21st century citizen is introduced deconstructed probed and admired among the messy realities of the contemporary world As an inter disciplinary project the collection draws on expertise from across Europe North America and Australasia to offer new insights into such diverse existences as the environmental citizen the young citizen the multiple citizen the non citizen and the global citizen It unflinchingly spotlights the failures of our contemporary societies to resolve the endless universal problems of conflict poverty and oppression It also opens windows of hope onto a range of new understandings and innovative approaches to the challenges we face from the mass movements of refugees to the digitalisation of social contact This material can be read as a whole as a conceptual collection or it can be dipped in to and out of between work and leisure Whether it is read as research or pastime this volume will challenge and confront comfort and renew the many ways of thinking about citizenship in the 21st century
