Rethinking Justice in Catholic Social Thought Daniel K.

Finn, 2025 Catholics traditionally have relied on the definition of justice supplied by Thomas Aquinas. Yet developments in human history complicate this medieval conception of justice. Take but two examples. We now live in democracies where citizens elect their leaders and so bear the responsibilities of distributive justice once assigned only to kings and princes. And the growing interest in restorative justice means that one-on-one injustices require the involvement of a larger community for long-term healing. Add other developments: secularism, the growth of Christianity in the Global South, economic change, the impact of social scientific insights, and a host of widely acknowledged obligations related to the environment, social media, privacy, religious freedom, gender, racism, harassment, transparency, etc. Together they require new ways of thinking about justice in Catholic social thought. This book draws on a number of traditions from Africa, Hindu and Buddhist understandings of justice, to Latin American theological and Scriptural readings of justice to develop a new concept for our times. The result is a definition of justice as a lived experience of communal life characterized by the freedom and equal dignity of all people and by equitable relationships of exchange and access to the common goods of the community.

Rethinking Agency Sumi

Madhok, 2014-03-21 This book proposes a new theoretical framework for agency thinking by examining the ethical, discursive and practical engagements of a group of women development workers in north-west India with developmentalism and individual rights. Rethinking Agency asks an underexplored question: tracks the entry, encounter, experience and practice of developmentalism and individual rights and examines their normative and political trajectory. Through an ethnography of a moral encounter with developmentalism, it raises a critical question: how do we think of agency in oppressive contexts? Further, how do issues of risk, injury, coercion and oppression alter the conceptual mechanics of agency itself? The work will be invaluable to research organisations, development practitioners, policy makers and political journalists interested in questions of gender, political empowerment, rights and political participation, and to academics and students in the fields of feminist theory, development studies, sociology, politics and gender studies.

Rethinking Second Language Learning Marisa

Cordella, Hui Huang, 2016-05-19 This book evaluates a project where formal classroom learning of a second language was supplemented with informal, natural interactions with older native speakers of the target language, delivering a number of pedagogical and societal benefits. The authors introduce a model of intergenerational, intercultural encounters which aims to promote the use of community language resources, enrich the experiences of young learners, foster greater understanding between generations, break down cultural stereotypes, encourage appreciation of different cultures and enhance the quality of life and community engagement of older people with a bi-multilingual background. It draws on theories of language acquisition, discourse analysis and psychosocial perspectives to propose a model of language learning for students that can be used for any language or locality. It is therefore an essential resource for graduate students, researchers and language teachers as well as for education aged and youth care policy makers practitioners and community services workers who are interested in innovative language pedagogy      Re-thinking Religious Pluralism Bindu Puri, Abhishek Kumar, 2020-12-16

Re-thinking Development in Africa Komla Tsey,2011 In this thought provoking book Komla Tsey argues that if governments NGOs development donor agencies and researchers are serious about development in Africa they need to get down to ground level both metaphorically and literally They must search deep into Africa s own rich oral traditions by creating space and opportunity for ordinary Africans whose voices have so far been conspicuously absent in the development discourse to tell and share their own stories of development Story sharing as research methodology acts as a mirror reflecting the participants self evaluation of where they have come from where they are now and how to proceed into the future They are strategies that can empower and enable individuals and communities of people to be agents of their own change which in Tsey s view is what development is all about Rethinking the Issues: A Christian Search for Balance in Doctrine and Practice Elsen Portugal,2019-03-20 This book is a reviewed perspective of the Christian life with an emphasis on balance It addresses issues that conservative Christians and churches have commonly struggled with but that may profit from a new honest and thorough analysis It addresses Bible interpretation questions of right and left leanings music church services standards systems of theology and other important topics for a Christian seeking to stay in the Way of Christ with biblical balance

Re-Thinking Freire Chet A. Bowers,Fr,d,rique Apffel-Marglin,2004-12-13 This landmark collection of essays by Third World activists highlights two major world changes which they argue have been neglected by Freire and his many followers the Third World grass roots cultural resistance to economic globalization and the ecological crisis One source of the activist authors criticisms of Freire s pedagogy is rooted in their attempts to combine consciousness raising with literacy programs in such diverse cultural settings as Bolivia Peru India Southern Mexico and Cambodia where they discovered that Freire s pedagogy is based on western assumptions that undermine indigenous knowledge systems Equally important these authors make the case in various ways that a major limitation with Freire s ideas and which is reproduced in the writings of his followers is that he did not recognize the cultural implications of the world s ecological crisis Several essays in the collection focus directly on how the cultural assumptions Freire took for granted were also the assumptions that gave conceptual and moral legitimacy to the Industrial Revolution and continue to be the basis of the thinking behind economic globalization The essays also explain why cultural diversity is essential to the preservation of biological diversity and how intergenerational knowledge and patterns of mutual aid within different cultures provide alternatives to a consumer dependent lifestyle In his Afterword C A Bowers addresses the need to adopt a more ecological way of thinking one that recognizes the many ways the individual is nested in the interdependent networks of culture and how diverse cultures are nested in natural systems It also stresses that one of the tasks of educators is to help students recognize the patterns and relationships of everyday life and to assess them in terms of their contribution to less consumer dependent relationships and activities As the essays in this volume affirm this involves facilitating students awareness of differences between cultures the impact of consumerism on ecosystems and the connections between hyper consumerism and environmental racism and the colonizing relationship of the South by the North Re Thinking Freire Globalization and the Environmental Crisis is a major contribution to this critical endeavor Rethink Ageing Reshmi Chakraborty, Nidhi Chawla, 2022-10-17 Veena Iyer aged sixty six got a degree in dance movement therapy She is training to upgrade her skill and now runs various workshops B R Janardan aged eighty seven started running after sixty and has sixteen full marathons under his belt These important stories illustrate the shifting narrative for ageing in India They battle the ageism that is deep rooted in Indian culture with fixed notions of approved behaviour Grandchildren Yes Pilgrimage Yes But companionship Gasp A second career Why the need India will have over 300 million senior citizens by 2050 Active ageing has become a popular topic of conversation in urban India and is the process of developing and maintaining functional activities as one gets older Therefore it is no longer uncommon to meet people like Janardan or Iyer in our fast evolving society We have an ageing society that is living longer and adapting to nuclear families faraway kids and amorphous social support Urban Indians are navigating health challenges isolation and shifting social barometers to practise active ageing the best form of preventive healthcare This book takes a deep dive into understanding ageing its impact on society and how to overcome certain hurdles Biological age no longer defines and limits us After all why should age prevent us from living the lives we want to A Tale of Three Kings Gene Edwards, 1992 Those facing pain resulting from unfair treatment by other believers will be encouraged by this powerful story of David Saul and Absalom This story was turned into a play that has been performed by both professionals on stage and in simple dramas performed in church buildings (Re)Thinking Violence in Health Care Settings Dr Amélie Perron, Professor Dave Holmes, Professor Trudy Rudge, 2013-01-28 This comprehensive volume explores various forms of violence in health care settings Using a broad range of critical approaches in the field of anthropology cultural studies gender studies political philosophy and sociology it examines violence following three definite yet interrelated streams institutional and managerial violence against health care workers or patients horizontal violence amongst health care providers and finally patients violence towards health care providers Drawing together the latest research from Australia Canada the UK and the US Re Thinking Violence in Health Care Settings engages with the work of critical theorists such as Bourdieu Butler Foucault Latour and i ek amongst others to address the issue of violence and theorise its workings in creative and controversial ways As such it will be of interest to sociologists and anthropologists with research expertise in health medicine violence and organisations as well as to health care professionals
