Rethinking The Pacific:

Rethinking the Pacific Gerald Segal, 1991 Parts of the Pacific region are of increasing importance for international security and prosperity But in this the first study of the trends in the international relations of the region Segal demonstrates that the Pacific never has been and gives no indication of becoming a coherent region In fact the vital developments taking place in the region are best understood in the context of global trends The study provides historical perspective to the idea of the Pacific and then analyzes the fundamental trends in politics ideology culture security and economic affairs Higher Education, Research, and Knowledge in the Asia-Pacific Region V. Meek, C. Suwanwela, 2007-01-08 One of the first books to focus on different national perspectives of knowledge production and research in higher education in the Asia Pacific region it compares contrasts and critically analyzes how policy in Asia Pacific countries is furthering a supportive or non supportive environment for the promotion of research within higher education Researching Multilingually Bridget

Goodman, Brian Seilstad, 2025-01-14 This book examines what researching multilingually means in practice and theory It is multinational and transnational in scope including the voices of both experienced and emerging scholars who reflect on the process of conducting analyzing and reporting multilingual research in various settings Together the chapters address issues including theorizing multilingualism and collaborative research with multilingual scholars and research participants navigating insider or outsider positioning with research participants making and accepting language choices among researchers and participants during research translating and interpreting multilingual data and confronting policy challenges of multilingual research design and reporting in English dominant contexts The book ties these processes to existing theories of multilingualism in research and proposes new ways of understanding best practices while also wrestling with challenges and at times failures in the research process Postcolonial Past & Present Anne Collett, Leigh Dale, 2018-11-26 In

Postcolonial Past Present twelve outstanding scholars of literature history and visual arts look to those spaces Epeli Hau ofa has insisted are full not empty asking what it might mean to Indigenise culture A new cultural politics demands new forms of making and interpretation that rethink and reroute existing cultural categories and geographies These makers include Mukunda Das Janet Frame Xavier Herbert Tomson Highway Claude McKay Marie Munkara Elsje van Keppel Albert Wendt Jane Whiteley and Alexis Wright Case studies from Canada to the Caribbean India to the Pacific and Africa analyse the productive ways that artists and intellectuals have made sense of turbulent local and global forces Contributors Bill Ashcroft Debnarayan Bandyopadhyay Anne Brewster Diana Brydon Meeta Chatterjee Padmanabhan Anne Collett Dorothy Jones Kay Lawrence Russell McDougall Tekura Moeka a Tony Sim es da Silva Teresia Teaiwa Albert Wendt Lydia Wevers Diana Wood Conroy The Pacific Tale Mandy Treagus, 2025-07-01 This book offers a genealogy of short fiction in English set in the Pacific and written by British American and Australian writers Through its analysis of texts by non Islander authors such as Robert Louis Stevenson Louis Becke Jack London W Somerset Maugham and James A Michener this book traces the rise of

The Pacific Tale as a popular genre Exploring themes of masculinity and imperialism traders literary mapping and inter racial relationships plantation labour and racial taxonomies tropical breakdown missions and colonial illegitimacy together with militarism environmental destruction and the persistence of the trope of the Polynesian belle this study highlights the role and agency of Pacific Islanders despite the multiple fronts on which their cultures were impacted by colonial powers It concludes with the moment when Pacific writers Albert Wendt and Epeli Hau'ofa express that agency in their own fictions moving beyond the tradition of the Pacific tale

Disassembling and Decolonizing School in the Pacific David W. Kupferman, 2012-08-11

Schooling in the region known as Micronesia is today a normalized ubiquitous and largely unexamined habit. As a result many of its effects have also gone unnoticed and unchallenged. By interrogating the processes of normalization and governmentality that circulate and operate through schooling in the region through the deployment of Foucaultian conceptions of power, knowledge and subjectivity, this work destabilizes conventional notions of schooling's neutrality, self-evident benefit and its role as the key to contemporary notions of so-called political, economic and social development. This work aims to disquiet the idea that school today is both rooted in some distant past and a force for decolonization and the postcolonial moment. Instead, through a genealogy of schooling, the author argues that school as it is currently practiced in the region is the product of the present emerging from the mid-1960s shift in US policy in the islands, the very moment when the US was trying to simultaneously prepare the islands for putative self-determination while producing ever-increasing colonial relations through the practice of schooling. The work goes on to conduct a genealogy of the various subjectivities produced through this present schooling practice, notably the student, the teacher and the child-parent family. It concludes by offering a counter-discourse to the normalized narrative of schooling and suggests that what is displaced and foreclosed on by that narrative in fact holds a possible key to meaningful decolonization and self-determination.

Graduate Research Supervision in the Developing World Erik Blair, Danielle Watson, Shikha Raturi, 2020-01-03 Recognising that graduate supervisory practice is not an abstracted academic pursuit but an activity that is subjectively bounded by content and context, impacted by the experiences and beliefs of supervisee and supervisor, this text explores the unique dynamics of graduate supervision in the Global South as perceived and experienced by students and academics within those same contexts. Bringing together contributions which reflect a rich diversity of perspectives on supervisory practices at regional universities in the Caribbean and South Pacific, Graduate Research Supervision in the Developing World explores how supervisors navigate unscripted supervisory terrain, contextualise supervisory best practices, establish roles and relationships and work to understand supervisees' needs. By highlighting the effect on graduate supervision of complex sociocultural interplay and the relationship between learning environments and student success, contributors look to locate best practices through analyses of stories of success and failure. As the contributors demonstrate, there is a need to restructure the standardised operation of graduate supervision across diverse faculties. This text will be of great interest to graduate supervisors and their supervisees as well as scholars in the fields of continuing professional development and higher education in international and comparative education and Sociology of Education.

Pacific Island Women and Contested Sporting Spaces Yoko Kanemasu, 2023-06-26 This book focuses on the variety of strategies developed by women athletes in the Pacific Islands to claim contested sporting spaces in particular rugby union, soccer, beach volleyball, recreational sports and exercise as a prism to explore grassroots women's engagement with heavily entrenched postcolonial hetero-patriarchy. Based on primary research conducted in Fiji, Samoa, Solomon Islands and Vanuatu, the book investigates contested sporting spaces as sites of infrapolitics intersected primarily by gender and also by other markers of inequality including ethnicity sexuality class and geopolitics Contrary to historical and contemporary representations of Pacific Island women as victims of gender injustice it explores how these athletes and those who support them actively carve out space for their transformative agency Pacific Island Women and Contested Sporting Spaces Staking Their Claim focuses on a region underexamined by sport or gender studies researchers and will be of key interest to scholars and students in Gender Studies Sport Studies Sociology and Pacific Studies as well as sport practitioners and policymakers

Education in Australia, New Zealand and the Pacific Michael Crossley, Greg Hancock, Terra Sprague, 2015-01-29 This book provides an up to date and well grounded analysis of education in Australia New Zealand and the Pacific including Cook Islands Federated States of Micronesia Fiji Kiribati Marshall Islands Papua New Guinea Samoa Solomon Islands Tonga Tuvalu and Vanuatu Leading writers from throughout this region identify contemporary educational challenges issues and priorities while drawing upon their own ongoing empirical research Key themes include the impact of international trends and developments educational reform and the quality of education indigenous learning inclusivity aid and development co operation and the changing role and place of tertiary education Detailed studies of specific educational systems and developments are considered in the light of broader analyses that run throughout the volume

New Oceania Matthew Hayward, Maebh Long, 2019-09-30 For so long figured in European discourses as the antithesis of modernity the Pacific Islands have remained all but absent from the modernist studies critical map Yet as the chapters of New Oceania Modernisms and Modernities in the Pacific collectively show Pacific artists and writers have been as creatively engaged in the construction and representation of modernity as any of their global counterparts In the second half of the twentieth century driving a still ongoing process of decolonisation Pacific Islanders forged an extraordinary cultural and artistic movement Integrating Indigenous aesthetics forms and techniques with a range of other influences realist novels avant garde poetry anti colonial discourse biblical verse Indian mythology American television Bollywood film Pacific artists developed new creative registers to express the complexity of the region s transnational modernities New Oceania presents the first sustained account of the modernist dimensions of this period while presenting timely reflections on the ideological and methodological limitations of the global modernism rubric Breaking new critical ground it brings together scholars from a range of backgrounds to demonstrate the relevance of modernism for Pacific scholars and the relevance of Pacific literature for modernist scholars

Pathways to the Present Mansel G. Blackford, 2018-03-31 Ranging from the Hawaiian Archipelago to the Aleutian Islands from Silicon Valley to Guam Pathways to the Present is a thoroughly researched and concisely argued account of economic and environmental change in the postwar American Pacific Following a brief survey of the history of the Pacific the author takes the Hawaiian Islands as the center of American activities in the region and looks at interactions among native Hawaiian developmental military and environmental issues in the archipelago after World War II He then turns to land and water use problems that have intersected with more nebulous quality of life concerns to generate policy controversies in the Seattle region and the San Francisco Bay area especially Silicon Valley Economic expansion and environmentalism in Alaska are examined through the lens of changes occurring along the Aleutians From there the study considers Hiroshima after its destruction by the atomic bomb in 1945 looking at residents desire to combine urban planning concepts The author investigates the effort to remake Hiroshima as a high tech city in the 1990s an attempt inspired by the perceived success of Silicon Valley and postwar planning on Okinawa where American influences were particularly strong The final chapter takes into account issues raised on Guam regarding the growth of tourism and the use of the island for military purposes and links these to developments in the Philippines to the west and American Samoa to the south

Settler Garrison Jodi Kim, 2022-04-07 In Settler Garrison Jodi Kim theorizes how the United States extends its sovereignty across Asia and the Pacific in the post World War II era through a militarist settler imperialism that is leveraged on debt as a manifold economic and cultural relation undergirded by asymmetries of power Kim demonstrates that despite being the largest debtor nation in the world the United States positions itself as an imperial creditor that imposes financial and affective indebtedness alongside a disciplinary payback temporality even as it evades repayment of its own debts This debt imperialism is violently reproduced in juridically ambiguous spaces Kim calls the settler garrison a colonial archipelago of distinct yet linked military camptowns bases POW camps and unincorporated territories situated across the Pacific from South Korea to Okinawa to Guam Kim reveals this process through an analysis of how a wide array of transpacific cultural productions creates antimilitarist and decolonial imaginaries that diagnose US militarist settler imperialism while envisioning alternatives to it
