Rethinking The Trauma Of War:

Rethinking the Trauma of War Patrick J. Bracken, Celia Petty, 1998 This text examines the emerging concerns about the export of trauma experts and counsellors to war torn areas of the world The contributors are all professionals who are involved in helping adults and children rebuild their lives after witnessing the destruction of their families and communities Based on their own experience of working internationally this book presents an analysis of present misconceived attempts to give help but also an agenda for future more appropriate ways of responding to those affected by wars and conflicts

War and Rape Nicola Henry, 2012-07-26 Wartime rape has been virulent in wars of sovereignty territory conquest religion ideology and liberation yet attention to this crime has been sporadic throughout history Rape remains unspeakable particularly within law Moreover rape has not featured prominently in post conflict collective memory And even when rape is remembered it is often the subject of political controversy and heated debate In this book Henry asks some critical questions about the relationship between mass rape politics and law In what ways does law contribute to the collective memory of wartime rape How do counter memories of victims compete with the denialism of wartime rape The text specifically analyses the historical silencing of rape throughout international legal history and the potential of law to restore these silenced histories it also examines the violence of law and the obstacles to individual and collective redemption Tracing the prosecution of rape crimes within contemporary courts Henry seeks to argue that politics underscores the way rape is dealt with by the international community in the aftermath of armed conflict Providing a comprehensive overview of the politics of wartime rape and the politics of prosecuting such crimes within international humanitarian law this text will be of great interest to scholars of gender and security war crimes and law and society

The Practice of War Aparna Rao, Michaela Bollig, Monika Böck, 2008-03-01 The fact is that war comes in many guises and its effects continue to be felt long after peace is proclaimed This challenges the anthropologists who write of war as participant observers Participant observation inevitably deals with the here and now with the highly specific It is only over the long view that one can begin to see the commonalities that emerge from the different forms of conflict and can begin to generalize From the Introduction More needs to be understood about the ways of war and its effects What implications does war have for people their lived in communities and larger political systems how do they cope and adjust in war situations and how do they deal with the changed world that they inhabit once peace is declared Through a series of essays that move from looking at the nature of violence to the peace processes that follow it this important book provides some answers to these questions It also analyzes those new dimensions of social interaction such as the internet which now provide a bridge between local concerns and global networks and are fundamentally altering the practices of war

One Nation Under Therapy Christina Hoff Sommers, Sally Satel, 2025-08-22 Americans have traditionally placed great value on self reliance and fortitude In recent decades however we have seen the rise of a therapeutic ethic that views Americans as emotionally underdeveloped psychically frail and requiring the ministrations of mental health professionals to cope with life's vicissitudes. Being in touch with one's feelings and freely expressing them have become paramount personal virtues. Today with a book for every ailment, a counselor for every crisis, a lawsuit for every grievance and a TV show for every conceivable problem, we are at risk of degrading our native ability to cope with life's challenges. Drawing on established science and common sense, Christina Hoff Sommers and Dr. Sally Satel reveal how therapy and the burgeoning trauma industry have come to pervade our lives. Help is offered everywhere under the presumption that we need it: in children's classrooms, the workplace, churches, courtrooms, the media, the military. But with all the help comes a host of troubling consequences, including the myth of stressed-out homework-burdened hypercompetitive and depressed or suicidal schoolchildren in need of therapy and medication; the loss of moral bearings in our approach to lying, crime, addiction, and other foibles and vices; the unasked-for grief counselors who descend on bereaved families, schools, and communities following a tragedy, offering dubious advice while billing plenty of money; the expansion of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder from an affliction of war veterans to nearly everyone who has experienced a setback. Intelligent, provocative, and wryly amusing, One Nation Under Therapy demonstrates that talking about problems is no substitute for confronting them.

Jobs After War Eugenia Date-Bah, 2003. This publication examines the critical role of employment in post-conflict reconstruction and considers effective practical approaches to help achieve sustainable peace building. It contains papers and country case studies which provide a broad picture of the key issues involved, including the nature of the labour market and other features of the post-conflict situation, the diversity of crisis-affected groups and their specific concerns, such as youth, women, refugees, internally displaced people, and ex-combatants; skills training, local economic development, micro-finance, labour-intensive infrastructure rebuilding, social protection, the roles of the private sector, co-operatives, workers and employers associations, labour administration, and international organisations.

Diplomatic Interventions K. Fierke, 2005-04-22. Diplomatic Interventions argues that war is a social construction. In so doing, it unsettles the definition of intervention as a coercive interference by one state in the affairs of another, to examine the range of communicative or diplomatic practices which, through their presence, modify the experience of war. The tension between claims that war is pervasive and that war is a social construct is analysed in relation to a range of moral, legal, military, economic, cultural, and therapeutic interventions. The concluding chapter highlights how the book itself is a critical intervention that requires us to look at war again from a new angle at international practice.

Healing the Wounds of Gukurahundi in Zimbabwe Dumisani Ngwenya, 2017-12-14. This book is based on a participatory action research project carried out with a group of former Zimbabwe People's Revolutionary Army (ZPRA) which was the armed wing of the Zimbabwe African People's Union (ZAPU) which was led by the late Joshua Nkomo. ZPRA was the primary target of Gukurahundi, a pogrom by the Mugabe government which left an estimated 20,000 civilians dead and countless others tortured in the early 1980s in Matabeleland, Zimbabwe. It has been almost 30 years since the violence ended, but there has never been an official healing and reconciliation programme or truth commission into the atrocities The government chose the path of amnesia by granting a blanket amnesty to all involved The regime has enforced a culture of silence over the event through repression and intimidation The book is a culmination of a two year journey by the group and the author of an exploration of group based self healing approaches to the pain caused by the violence of Gukurahundi Global Perspectives on War, Gender and Health Hannah Bradby, 2016-04-22 Rendering the suffering of the marginalized visible has been an important aspect of feminist sociological studies of health illness and medicine with the subjective experience of those without access to institutional power being at the forefront of the research This volume analyzes the links between the suffering caused by the intentional violence of war and the unintentional suffering engendered by modern medicinal processes By establishing a fitting tribute to the academic and campaigning work of Meg Stacey Global Perspectives on War Gender and Health responds to her challenge of why medical sociology had not yet turned its gaze upon the health consequences of war A selection of international case studies are used to create a volume of significant interest to sociologists and those working in the fields of anthropology social policy social work peace war and security studies and international development Psychotherapy and Culture Zack Eleftheriadou, 2018-05-08 this book focuses on cross cultural relationships and examines how culture and racial factors manifest in the clinical setting It discusses on how to work with both cross cultural differentiation and integration Children and Youth on the Front Line Jo Boyden, Joanna de Berry, 2005 This series reflects the multidisciplinary nature of the field and includes within its scope international law anthropology medicine geopolitics social psychology and economics Searching for Normal in the Wake of the Liberian War Sharon Alane Abramowitz, 2014-07-03 At the end of Liberia's thirteen year civil war the devastated population struggled to rebuild their country and come to terms with their experiences of violence During the first decade of postwar reconstruction hundreds of humanitarian organizations created programs that were intended to heal trauma prevent gendered violence rehabilitate former soldiers and provide psychosocial care to the transitioning populace But the implementation of these programs was not always suited to the specific mental health needs of the population or easily reconciled with the broader aims of reconstruction and humanitarian peacekeeping and psychiatric treatment was sometimes ignored or unevenly integrated into postconflict humanitarian health care delivery Searching for Normal in the Wake of the Liberian War explores the human experience of the massive apparatus of trauma healing and psychosocial interventions during the first five years of postwar reconstruction Sharon Alane Abramowitz draws on extensive fieldwork among the government officials humanitarian leaders and an often overlooked population of Liberian NGO employees to examine the structure and impact of the mental health care interventions in particular the ways they were promised to work with peacekeeping and reconstruction and how the reach and effectiveness of these promises can be measured From this courageous ethnography emerges a geography of trauma and the ways it shapes the lives of those who give and receive care in postwar Liberia Women, Migration, and Conflict Susan Forbes

Martin, John Tirman, 2009-09-18 An estimated 35 million people worldwide are displaced by conflict and most of them are women and children During their time away from their homes and communities these women and their children are subjected to a horrifying array of misfortune including privations of every kind sexual assaults disease imprisonment unwanted pregnancies severe psychological trauma and upon return or resettlement social disapproval and isolation Written by the world's leading scholars and practitioners this unique collection brings these problems and potential solutions into sharp focus Based on extensive field research and a broad knowledge of other studies of the challenges facing women who are forced from their homes and homelands by conflict this book offers in depth understanding and problem solving ideas Derived from a project to advise U N agencies it speaks to a broad array of students scholars NGOs policymakers government officials and international organizations

Young Soldiers Rachel Brett, Irma Specht, 2004 It is estimated that more than 300 000 children are involved in armed conflicts throughout the world the vast majority through forced labour This publication contains the personal views and experiences of child soldiers highlighting a number of factors contributing to their participation including the socio economic and political environment and their vulnerable personal circumstances as well as how diverse risk factors interact These personal stories also draw attention to the gender dimensions of the problem and to concept of child soldiers volunteering in armed conflict situations The book then goes on to explore key factors in the development of a comprehensive strategy to tackle the problem including addressing issues of breakdown of law and order availability of weapons extreme forms of social exclusion including poverty and inequality lack of educational opportunities widespread child abuse and child labour The publication includes profiles of conflict situations in Afghanistan Colombia the Congo Northern Ireland Sierra Leone South Africa and Sri Lanka

War and Film in America Marilyn J. Matelski, Nancy Lynch Street, 2017-10-27 America's chief exports are war and entertainment combined they are the war films viewed all over the world The film industry is a partner of the government American film shapes the ways in which both Americans and others view war The authors herein explore differing film perspectives across five decades The essays written especially for this volume explore topics such as frontier justice Cold War fervor government sponsored terrorism the back to Nam films films as a venue for propaganda and war's far reaching effects on personal values family relationships and general civility The movies used in these analyses vary from conventional battle epics like Bridge on the River Kwai and The Green Berets to motion pictures with a war motif either as part of the story The Way We Were or as a historical setting The Graduate Some of the films are satirical Dr Strangelove some are propagandistic The Alamo Big Jim McLain Other films include Black Hawk Down True Lies The Deer Hunter Patriot Games and Let There Be Light Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

Rethinking The Trauma Of War Introduction

In today's digital age, the availability of Rethinking The Trauma Of War books and manuals for download has revolutionized the way we access information. Gone are the days of physically flipping through pages and carrying heavy textbooks or manuals. With just a few clicks, we can now access a wealth of knowledge from the comfort of our own homes or on the go. This article will explore the advantages of Rethinking The Trauma Of War books and manuals for download, along with some popular platforms that offer these resources. One of the significant advantages of Rethinking The Trauma Of War books and manuals for download is the cost-saving aspect. Traditional books and manuals can be costly, especially if you need to purchase several of them for educational or professional purposes. By accessing Rethinking The Trauma Of War versions, you eliminate the need to spend money on physical copies. This not only saves you money but also reduces the environmental impact associated with book production and transportation. Furthermore, Rethinking The Trauma Of War books and manuals for download are incredibly convenient. With just a computer or smartphone and an internet connection, you can access a vast library of resources on any subject imaginable. Whether you're a student looking for textbooks, a professional seeking industry-specific manuals, or someone interested in self-improvement, these digital resources provide an efficient and accessible means of acquiring knowledge. Moreover, PDF books and manuals offer a range of benefits compared to other digital formats. PDF files are designed to retain their formatting regardless of the device used to open them. This ensures that the content appears exactly as intended by the author, with no loss of formatting or missing graphics. Additionally, PDF files can be easily annotated, bookmarked, and searched for specific terms, making them highly practical for studying or referencing. When it comes to accessing Rethinking The Trauma Of War books and manuals, several platforms offer an extensive collection of resources. One such platform is Project Gutenberg, a nonprofit organization that provides over 60,000 free eBooks. These books are primarily in the public domain, meaning they can be freely distributed and downloaded. Project Gutenberg offers a wide range of classic literature, making it an excellent resource for literature enthusiasts. Another popular platform for Rethinking The Trauma Of War books and manuals is Open Library. Open Library is an initiative of the Internet Archive, a non-profit organization dedicated to digitizing cultural artifacts and making them accessible to the public. Open Library hosts millions of books, including both public domain works and contemporary titles. It also allows users to borrow digital copies of certain books for a limited period, similar to a library lending system. Additionally, many universities and educational institutions have their own digital libraries that provide free access to PDF books and manuals. These libraries often offer academic texts, research papers, and technical manuals, making them invaluable resources for students and researchers. Some notable examples include MIT OpenCourseWare, which offers free access to course materials from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the Digital Public Library of America, which provides a vast collection of digitized books and historical documents. In conclusion, Rethinking The Trauma Of War books and manuals for download have transformed the way we access information. They provide a cost-effective and convenient means of acquiring knowledge, offering the ability to access a vast library of resources at our fingertips. With platforms like Project Gutenberg, Open Library, and various digital libraries offered by educational institutions, we have access to an ever-expanding collection of books and manuals. Whether for educational, professional, or personal purposes, these digital resources serve as valuable tools for continuous learning and self-improvement.
