International Statebuilding in West Africa Abu Bakarr Bah, Nikolas Emmanuel, 2024-08-06 At the turn of the twenty first century manipulation of the democratic process coupled with preexisting political and economic grievances led to years long civil wars in Sierra Leone Liberia and Cote d'Ivoire During and after these conflicts international peacekeeping efforts and humanitarian intervention became the dominant paths for restoring stability by rebuilding the state Using these three countries as case studies this manuscript sheds light on internationally driven state building in war torn West African nations the problematic nature of the postcolonial state and the difficulties of securing its people's wellbeing Connecting peace and conflict democracy and international development studies Bah and Emmanuel argue that there is a clear nexus between the concepts and practices of peace building and statebuilding that peace building and statebuilding are not domestic matters alone but also matters of global intervention and that civil wars can be viewed as opportunities for state building through creative postwar partnerships and organization This study goes beyond the familiar concepts of failed states R2P peacekeeping and peace mediation and introduces and enhances the concepts of state decay new humanitarianism people centered liberalism and institutional design In doing so it provides critical lessons that local and international actors can draw on as they try to figure out practical solutions to the political economic and social problems that impede the development of peaceful and democratic multiethnic postcolonial states in Africa and beyond Applying comparative historical methods and theory to archival materials and expert interviews International Statebuilding in West Africa seeks to shift the discourse on civil wars from their causes and implications to the opportunities they provide to rework failed states and to shift the discourse on African states from their colonial and neocolonial legacies to their shared moral and security interests with the rest of the world The Human Rights Field Operation Professor Michael O'Flaherty, 2013-01-28 This volume assesses the development of human rights field operations of the United Nations and other intergovernmental organizations It makes a substantial contribution to the debate and understanding with regard to the sector's underlying doctrine The book unprecedented in its scope addresses the range of aspects of the nature role and activities of field operations It draws together the reflections of academics policy makers and field practitioners Its analysis is located within the context of applicable normative and ethical frameworks assessment of former and current practice and examination of complementary and analogous experiences The book will be an essential resource for all those actively involved in human rights field work as well as for policy makers and academics and students involved in human rights research Closing the Mind Gap Ted Cadsby, 2014-03-24 We have always struggled as human beings But our struggle today is exacerbated by a gap between the increasingly complicated world we have created and the default ways we think about it Twenty first century challenges are qualitatively different from the ones that generations of our ancestors faced yet our thinking has not evolved to keep pace We need to catch up To make smarter decisions as governments organizations families and individuals we need more sophisticated mental strategies for interpreting and responding to today's complexity Best selling author and business leader Ted Cadsby explores the insights of cognitive psychology anthropology biology neuroscience physics and philosophy to reveal the gap between how we typically tackle complex problems and what complexity actually requires of us In an accessible and engaging style he outlines ways to close the gap the strategic mental shifts that increase decision making effectiveness The bottom line We need greater complexity in our thinking to match the increasing complexity in our world and Cadsby shows us how Our Faithfulness to the Past Sue Campbell, 2014 This volume brings together essays three of them previously unpublished on the epistemology ethics and politics of memory by the late feminist philosopher Sue Campbell The essays in Part I diagnose contemporary skepticism about personal memory and develop an account of good remembering that is better suited to contemporary reconstructive theories of memory Campbell argues that being faithful to the past requires both accuracy and integrity and is both an epistemic and an ethical achievement The essays in Part II focus on the activities and practices through which we explore and negotiate the shared significance of our different recollections of the past and the importance of sharing memory for constituting our identities Views about self identity relation and responsibility all influenced by traditions in feminist philosophy are examined through the lens of Campbell s relational conception of memory She argues that remaining faithful to our past sometimes requires us to re negotiate the boundaries between ourselves and the collectives to which we belong In Part III Campbell uses her relational theory of memory to address the challenges of sharing memory and renewing selves in contexts that are fractured by moral and political difference especially those arising from a history of injustice and oppression She engages in detail Canada s Indian Residential Schools Truth and Reconciliation Commission where survivor memories have the potential to illuminate the significance of the past for a shared future The study of memory brings together philosophers psychologists historians anthropologists legal theorists and political theorists and activists Sue Campbell demonstrates a singular ability to put these many different areas of scholarship and activism into fruitful conversation with each other while also adding an original and powerful voice to the discussion

Religion, Tradition, and Restorative Justice in Sierra Leone Lyn S. Graybill, 2017-06-15 In this groundbreaking study of post conflict Sierra Leone Lyn Graybill examines the ways in which both religion and local tradition supported restorative justice initiatives such as the national Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC and village level Fambul Tok ceremonies Through her interviews with Christian and Muslim leaders of the Inter Religious Council Graybill uncovers a rich trove of perspectives about the meaning of reconciliation the role of acknowledgment and the significance of forgiveness Through an abundance of polling data and her review of traditional practices among the various ethnic groups Graybill also shows that these perspectives of religious leaders did not at all conflict with the opinions of the local population whose preferences for restorative justice over retributive justice were compatible with traditional values that prioritized reconciliation over punishment These local sentiments however were at odds with the international community s preference for retributive justice as embodied in the Special Court for Sierra Leone which ran concurrently with the TRC Graybill warns that with the dominance of the International Criminal Court in Africa there are currently eighteen pending cases in eight countries local preferences may continue to be sidelined in favor of prosecutions She argues that the international community is risking the loss of its most valuable assets in post conflict peacebuilding by pushing aside religious and traditional values of reconciliation in favor of Western legal norms

Discourse, normative change and the quest for reconciliation in global politics Judith Renner, 2018-02-28 This book offers a new and critical perspective on the global reconciliation technology by highlighting its contingent and highly political character as an authoritative practice of post conflict peacebuilding After retracing the emergence of the reconciliation discourse from South Africa to the global level the book demonstrates how implementing reconciliation in post conflict societies is a highly political practice which entails potentially undesirable consequences for the post conflict societies to which it is deployed Specifically the book shows how the reconciliation discourse brings about the marginalisation and neutralisation of political claims and identities of local post conflict populations by producing these societies as being composed of the victims and perpetrators of past human rights violations which are first and foremost in need of reconciliation and healing This book will interest students and teachers of transitional justice and international relations

Evaluating Transitional Justice K. Ainley,R. Friedman,C. Mahony,2016-02-16 This major study examines the successes and failures of the full transitional justice programme in Sierra Leone It sets out the implications of the Sierra Leonean experience for other post conflict situations and for the broader project of evaluating transitional justice

Force Short of War in Modern Conflict Galliot Jai Galliot,2019-03-21 Jai Galliot explores the overarching phenomenon of how force short of war is being used in modern conflict and how it impacts just war theory He shows that we need to bring the rules of war into alignment with increasingly digital means of conducting kinetic warfare through the force short of war paradigm The use of force short of war is now commonplace in large part owing to casualty averseness and the explosion of emerging technologies most notably drones autonomous robotics and cyberwarfare It often involves the selective or limited use of military force to achieve political objectives and assumes many forms These include targeted killing assassination special forces raids limited duration bombing campaigns or missile strikes and low intensity counterterrorism and counterinsurgency operations

International Criminal Justice Gideon Boas,Pascale Chifflet,2017-04-28 This book explores crucial themes in international criminal justice It starts by answering the searching question what is international criminal justice The book then considers the role and impact of politics history psychology terrorism transitioning society and even the idea of hope and the relationship of these themes with how we understand international criminal justice While addressing some crucial legal questions International Criminal Justice goes further drawing on a range of multi disciplinary thinking

The Era of Transitional Justice Paul Gready,2010-10-18 First Published in 2011 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Judging State-Sponsored Violence, Imagining Political Change Bronwyn Leebaw,2011-04-18 How should state sponsored atrocities be judged and remembered This controversial question animates contemporary debates on transitional justice and reconciliation This book reconsiders the legacies of two institutions that transformed the theory and practice of transitional justice Whereas the Nuremberg Trials exemplified the promise of legalism and international criminal justice South Africa s Truth and Reconciliation Commission promoted restorative justice and truth commissions Leebaw argues that the two frameworks share a common problem both rely on criminal justice strategies to investigate experiences of individual victims and perpetrators which undermines their critical role as responses to systematic atrocities Drawing on the work of influential transitional justice institutions and thinkers such as Judith Shklar Hannah Arendt Jos Zalaquett and Desmond Tutu Leebaw offers a new approach to thinking about the critical role of transitional justice one that emphasizes the importance of political judgment and investigations that examine complicity in and resistance to systematic atrocities

Mirrors of Justice Kamari Maxine Clarke, Mark Goodale, 2010 Mirrors of Justice is a groundbreaking study of the meanings of and possibilities for justice in the contemporary world The book brings together a group of both prominent and emerging scholars to reconsider the relationships between justice international law culture power and history through case studies of a wide range of justice processes The book's eighteen authors examine the ambiguities of justice in Europe Africa Latin America Asia the Middle East and Melanesia through critical empirical and historical chapters The introduction makes an important contribution to our understanding of the multiplicity of justice in the twenty first century by providing an interdisciplinary theoretical framework that synthesizes the book's chapters with leading edge literature on human rights legal pluralism and international law

The Right to Reparation in International Law for Victims of Armed Conflict E. Christine Evans, 2012-06-28 Christine Evans assesses the right to reparation for victims of armed conflict in international law and in national practice

Unspeakable Truths Priscilla B. Hayner, 2010-09-13 In a sweeping review of forty truth commissions Priscilla Hayner delivers a definitive exploration of the global experience in official truth seeking after widespread atrocities When Unspeakable Truths was first published in 2001 it quickly became a classic helping to define the field of truth commissions and the broader arena of transitional justice This second edition is fully updated and expanded covering twenty new commissions formed in the last ten years analyzing new trends and offering detailed charts that assess the impact of truth commissions and provide comparative information not previously available Placing the increasing number of truth commissions within the broader expansion in transitional justice Unspeakable Truths surveys key developments and new thinking in reparations international justice healing from trauma and other areas The book challenges many widely held assumptions based on hundreds of interviews and a sweeping review of the literature This book will help to define how these issues are addressed in the future

The Legacy of Nuremberg David A. Blumenthal, Timothy L. H. McCormack, 2008 In this new collection of essays the editors assess the legacy of the Nuremberg Trial asking whether the Trial really did have a civilising influence or if it constituted little more than institutionalised vengeance Three essays focus particularly on the historical context and involve rich analysis of for example the atmospherics of the Trial itself and the attitudes of German society at the time to the conduct of the Trial The majority of the essays deal with the contemporary legacies of the Nuremberg Trial and attempt to assess the ongoing relevance of the Judgment itself and of the principles encapsulated in it Some essays consider the importance of the principle of individual criminal responsibility under international law and argue that the international community has to some extent failed to fulfil the promise of Nuremberg in the decades since the Trial

Other essays focus on contemporary application of aspects of the substantive law of Nuremberg particularly the international crime of aggression the law of military occupation and the use of the crime of conspiracy as an alternative basis of criminal responsibility The collection also includes essays analysing the nature and operation of a number of international criminal tribunals since Nuremberg including the permanent International Criminal Court The final grouping of essays focus on the impact of the Nuremberg Trial on Australia examining in particular Australia s post World War Two war crimes trials of Japanese defendants Australia s extensive national case law on Article 1 F of the Refugee Convention and Australia s national implementing legislation for the Rome Statute
