Mama Learned Us to Work Lu Ann Jones, 2003-10-16 Farm women of the twentieth century South have been portrayed as oppressed worn out and isolated Lu Ann Jones tells quite a different story in Mama Learned Us to Work Building upon evocative oral histories she encourages us to understand these women as consumers producers and agents of economic and cultural change As consumers farm women bargained with peddlers at their backdoors A key business for many farm women was the butter and egg trade small scale dairying and raising chickens Their earnings provided a crucial margin of economic safety for many families during the 1920s and 1930s and offered women some independence from their men folks These innovative women showed that poultry production paid off and laid the foundation for the agribusiness poultry industry that emerged after World War II Jones also examines the relationships between farm women and home demonstration agents and the effect of government sponsored rural reform She discusses the professional culture that developed among white agents as they reconciled new and old ideas about women's roles and shows that black agents despite prejudice linked their clients to valuable government resources and gave new meanings to traditions of self help mutual aid and racial uplift

Tolbert,2023-08 Patented in 1917 Piggly Wiggly was by far the most influential self service store of the early twentieth century Before 1940 it was the only self service chain with a national distribution network but it was neither the first nor the only version Beyond Piggly Wiggly reveals the importance of Piggly Wiggly in the invention of self service and goes beyond the history of a single firm to explore the role of small business entrepreneurs who invented the first self service stores in a grassroots social process During the 1920s and 1930s a minority of enterprising grocers experimented with a wide variety of sometimes wacky design ideas for automating shopping They created specialized stores designed as enclosed retail systems that went far beyond open display techniques to construct unique physical and psychological advantages for automating salesmanship Beyond Piggly Wiggly offers the first perspective on the national scale of experimentation and connects the southern Jim Crow origins of self service to the national history of this mass retailing method Empirical analysis of store arrangements demonstrates how small stores that have previously been overlooked or undervalued as quaint anomalies were integral to the creation of supermarkets Ultimately self service was more than a business decision it was a fundamentally new social practice The Life Experiences of a World War II, Korea, and Vietnam Black American Army Veteran Q. Jarone Batson,2013-01-18 I gave considerable thought as to what the title of my autobiography should be There was never any question that a portion of the title would read The Life Experiences of a World War II Korea and Vietnam _____ American Army Veteran but how would I be described in view of the many race descriptions the U S Census has used for the black citizens since the first census in 1790 Should I be described as a Colored Black Mulatto Quadroon Octoroon African American or Negro American Army Veterans I chose BLACK as being the most descriptive term and as James Brown said I m black and I m proud My life experiences include a few race related incidents that occurred before during and after my military service Each incident could have greatly influenced my overall attitude towards life in general and in an adverse manner but fortunately did not Q Jarone Batson Other Souths Pippa Holloway,2008 Other Souths collects fifteen innovative essays that place issues of race class gender ethnicity and sexuality at the center of the narrative of southern history Using a range of methodologies and approaches contributing historians provide a fresh perspective to key events and move long overlooked episodes into prominence Pippa Holloway edited the
