Customs Bulletin, 1991-07 The Living Clock John D. Palmer, 2002 This book is an introduction to a basic property of life one mostly unknown to science and the public until the latter half of the last century. Humans, plants, and animals have within their bodies a kind of clock that synchronizes much of what they do throughout their lives to the time of day and the seasons and in the case of the sea-dwelling organisms the tides. This timepiece performs its service autonomously; it rules silently within us without us giving a thought to it. Three chapters are devoted to the human clock: its disruptive action in transmeridional travel and shift work; its oversight in most every aspect of our physiology and how doctors being aware of its action can save lives. Other major subjects describe the role in piloting birds in homing and migration; guiding the seasonal reproduction of plants and animals and its influence on shore dwellers. The book closes with a description of the clockworks escapement.

Romancing the Zombie Ashley Szanter, Jessica K. Richards, 2017-10-20 The zombie popular culture's undead darling shows no signs of stopping. But as it develops to suit changing audience tastes its characteristics transform. This collection of new essays examines the latest incarnation: the romantic zombie, a re-humanized monster we want to help heal and connect with rather than destroy. The authors discuss our increasingly sympathetic view of the reanimated dead as more than physical bodies devoid of life and personality. Their essays cover a range of topics including audience obsession with Apocalyptic love, the problem of a kinder, gentler undead, the millennial reinvention of the sexy zombie, and uncanny valley romance.

Historical Whodunits Hy Conrad, 2005 One of the writers for the highly acclaimed television show Monk presents a series of 14 unique "solve it yourself" mini-mysteries, all with a historical setting. At the end of each intriguing tale, armchair sleuths begin their own detective work with the aid of key questions and some crucial clues, including an interview with a witness, lab analysis of the evidence, or an examination of the crime scene. The historical settings range from ancient Rome to 1940s Hollywood, and the subjects include Jamaican pirates, death in Venice, a masked ball, Jack the Ripper,
