The Parting of the Ways Stephen Spence, 2004 This book seeks to inject into the general discussion of the Parting of the Ways of Judaism and Christianity the social realities of the separation of a particular Christian community and a particular Jewish community By drawing upon the literary and the historical data available concerning the church in Rome Spence seeks to discover when and how Christians came to see themselves as an identifiably distinct community His findings will surprise those who see the Parting of the Ways as a slow process He argues that although the parting was early it was not without its complications Drawing upon the work of Rodney Stark a sociologist of religion Spence suggests that within the church in Rome there was a struggle between those who saw the church as a Jewish sect and those who saw the church as a Roman cult a struggle already underway when the Apostle Paul wrote Romans This struggle however was not an even one because it was the cultists those for whom the church's primary social location was the pagans of Rome who held the positions of power over the numerically smaller sectarians who sought to maintain the church's primary identity as a Jewish sect acceptable within the synagogues of Rome

Early Christians Adapting to the Roman Empire Niko Huttunen,2020 In Early Christians Adapting to the Roman Empire Mutual Recognition Niko Huttunen challenges the interpretation of early Christian texts as anti-imperial documents He presents examples of the positive relationship between early Christians and the Roman society With the concept of recognition Huttunen describes a situation in which the parties can come to terms with each other without full agreement Huttunen provides examples of non-Christian philosophers recognizing early Christians He claims that recognition was a response to Christians who presented themselves as philosophers Huttunen reads Romans 13 as a part of the ancient tradition of the law of the stronger His pioneering study on early Christian soldiers uncovers the practical dimension of recognizing the empire

Exploring Romans George R. Knight,2010 Romans is one of the few books in the New Testament that was not composed as a pastoral response to specific localized problems Instead this letter was written primarily to challenge and ultimately correct widespread misunderstandings about Christianity held by mid-first-century believers Some of these beliefs are embraced even now Paul's central focus in Romans is the means of obtaining salvation Point by point he systematically builds his case by articulating who needs salvation and why the role of the law God's response to the sin problem resolution of the legal issues presented by sin and the effect each has on the Christian's life This devotional commentary divides the entire text into short passages that are followed by a detailed user-friendly exegetical explanation and practical application to everyday life The lives of such men as Martin Luther and John Wesley whose writings helped shape Western history were changed by the study of Romans It will change your life as well Book jacket Ethnic

Roman Faith and Christian Faith Teresa Morgan,2015-05-29 This study investigates why faith pistis fides was so important to early Christians that the concept and praxis dominated the writings of the New Testament It argues that such a study must be interdisciplinary locating emerging Christianities in the social practices and mentalit s of contemporary Judaism and the early Roman empire This can therefore equally be read as a study of the operation of pistis fides in the world of the early Roman principate taking one but relatively well attested cult as a case study in how micro societies within that world could treat it distinctively Drawing on recent work in sociology and economics the book traces the varying shapes taken by pistis fides in Greek and Roman human and divine human relationships whom or what is represented as easy or difficult to trust or believe in where pistis fides is deferred and reified in practices such as oaths and proofs how pistis fides is related to fear doubt and scepticism and which foundations of pistis fides are treated as more or less secure The book then traces the evolution of representations of human and divine human pistis in the Septuagint before turning to pistis pisteuein in New Testament writings and their role in the development of early Christologies incorporating a new interpretation of pistis Christou and ecclesiologies It argues for the integration of the study of pistis pisteuein with that of New Testament ethics It explores the interiority of Graeco Roman and early Christian pistis fides Finally it discusses eschatological pistis and the shape of the divine human community in the eschatological kingdom
