Keay, 2001-09-26 Wordsworth s romantic critique of industrial life and society was backward looking His Golden Age ideal of pastoral life and rural relationships falls within the scope of English populism as found among the middle ranks of small independent producers and their idealogues Furthermore his rural education and upbringing in the remote North of England explain his long term shift from radical and whig reformer to tory placeman in the years 1789 to 1832 as well as his relative demise as a poet The Feminine Sublime Barbara Claire Freeman, 1995 The Feminine Sublime provides the first comprehensive feminist critique of the theory of the sublime Barbara Claire Freeman argues that traditional theorizations of the sublime depend on unexamined assumptions about femininity and sexual difference and that the sublime could not exist without misogynistic constructions of the feminine Taking this as her starting point Freeman suggests that the other sublime that comes into view from this new perspective not only offers a crucial way to approach representations of excess in women's fiction but allows us to envision other modes of writing the sublime Freeman reconsiders Longinus Burke Kant Weiskel Hertz and Derrida and at the same time engages a wide range of women's fiction including novels by Chopin Morrison Rhys Shelley and Wharton Locating her project in the coincident rise of the novel and concept of the sublime in eighteenth century European culture Freeman allies the articulation of sublime experience with questions of agency passion and alterity in modern and contemporary women's fiction She argues that the theoretical discourses that have seemed merely to explain the sublime also function to evaluate domesticate and ultimately exclude an otherness that almost without exception is gendered as feminine Just as important she explores the ways in which fiction by American and British women mainly of the twentieth century responds to and redefines what the tradition has called the sublime
