in Tone and Vision Donald Stone (jr.),1966      Voice and Vision in Ronsard's Les Sonnets Pour Helene Jean M. Fallon,1993

The one hundred forty six poems which comprise Les Sonnets pour Helene represent Pierre de Ronsard's final cycle of sonnets This study explores the 1584 edition the last published during Ronsard's lifetime and focuses on the harmony and unity of the work as a whole It enhances our comprehension of the sonnets by examining systems of dualities the most prominent of which are the voices and discourses of two personas a lover and a poet This fresh approach to a sonnet sequence provides insights into the composition and themes of the cycle by interpreting the entire sequence as a text about poetry rather than love      The Sexual Culture of the French Renaissance Katherine Crawford,2010-04-22 An examination of

Authorship, and the Book in the First Century of Print Kate van Orden, 2013-10-19 What does it mean to author a piece of music What transforms the performance scripts written down by musicians into authored books In this fascinating cultural history of Western music s adaptation to print Kate van Orden looks at how musical authorship first developed through the medium of printing When music printing began in the sixteenth century publication did not always involve the composer printers used the names of famous composers to market books that might include little or none of their music Publishing sacred music could be career building for a composer while some types of popular song proved too light to support a reputation in print no matter how quickly they sold Van Orden addresses the complexities that arose for music and musicians in the burgeoning cultures of print concluding that authoring books of polyphony gained only uneven cultural traction across a century in which composers were still first and foremost performers Distant Voices Still Heard Hazel Smith, 2000-01-01

The aim of this book is to introduce the modern student to readings of French Renaissance literature drawing on the perspectives of contemporary literary theories The volume is organized by paired readings of five major sixteenth century French writers with interpretations covering among others structuralism semiotics feminism and psychoanalysis Linking these interpretations is a constant interest in problems such as the role of the reader the nature of the text and the question of gender The Introduction contextualizes the encounter between literary theory and Renaissance texts by using the contributions as pivotal points in the development of critical thinking about this period in early modern literature All foreign language quotations are translated into English and the book is intended to be of practical interest to a wide range of readers from modern linguists to those studying critical theory comparative literature or cultural history Grafting Helen Matthew Gumpert, 2012-11 History is a love story a tale of desire and jealousy abandonment and fidelity abduction and theft rupture and reconciliation This contention is central to Grafting Helen Matthew Gumpert's original and dazzling meditation on Helen of Troy as a crucial anchor for much of Western thought and literature Grafting Helen looks at classicism the privileged rhetorical language for describing cultural origins in the West as a protracted form of cultural embezzlement No coin in the realm has been more valuable more circulated more coveted or more counterfeited than the one that bears the face of Helen of Troy Gumpert uncovers Helen as the emblem for the past as something to be stolen appropriated imitated extorted and coveted once again Tracing the figure of Helen from its classical origins through the Middle Ages the French Renaissance and the modern era Gumpert suggests that the relation of current Western culture to the past is not like the act of coveting it is the act of coveting he argues for it relies on the same strategies the same defenses the same denials and the same delusions
