Hitler and America Klaus P. Fischer, 2011-05-26 In February 1942 barely two months after he had declared war on the United States Adolf Hitler praised America s great industrial achievements and admitted that Germany would need some time to catch up The Americans he said had shown the way in developing the most efficient methods of production especially in iron and coal which formed the basis of modern industrial civilization He also touted America s superiority in the field of transportation particularly the automobile He loved automobiles and saw in Henry Ford a great hero of the industrial age Hitler s personal train was even code named Amerika In Hitler and America historian Klaus P Fischer seeks to understand more deeply how Hitler viewed America the nation that was central to Germany s defeat He reveals Hitler s split minded image of America America and Amerika Hitler would loudly call the United States a feeble country while at the same time referring to it as an industrial colossus worthy of imitation Or he would belittle America in the vilest terms while at the same time looking at the latest photos from the United States watching American films and amusing himself with Mickey Mouse cartoons America was a place that Hitler admired for the can do spirit of the American people which he attributed to their Nordic blood and envied for its enormous territorial size abundant resources and political power Amerika however was to Hitler a mongrel nation grown too rich too soon and governed by a capitalist elite with strong ties to the Jews Across the Atlantic President Franklin Delano Roosevelt had his own far more realistically grounded views of Hitler Fischer contrasts these with the misconceptions and misunderstandings that caused Hitler in the end to see only Amerika not America and led to his defeat
