The Literary Culture of Early Modern Scotland Sebastiaan Verweij, 2016-03-24 This study presents a history of the literary culture of early modern Scotland 1560-1625 based on extensive study of the literary manuscript It argues for the importance of three key places of production of such manuscripts the royal court burghs and towns and regional houses stately homes but also minor lairdly and non-aristocratic households This attention to place facilitates a discussion of respectively courtly urban or civic and regional literary cultures Sebastiaan Verweij's methodology stems from bibliographical scholarship and the study of the History of the Book and more specifically from a school of manuscript research that has invigorated early modern English literary criticism over the last few decades The Literary Culture of Early Modern Scotland will also intersect with a programme of reassessment of early modern Scottish culture that is currently underway in Scottish studies Traditional narratives of literary history have often regarded the Reformation of 1560 as heralding a terminal cultural decline and the Union of Crowns of 1603 with the departure of king and court was thought to have brought the briefest of renaissances in the 1580s and 1590s to an early end This book purposefully straddles the Union in order to make possible the rediscovery of Scotland's refined and sophisticated renaissance culture

Anthologies of British Poetry, 2021-11-22 From Tottel s Miscellany 1557 to the last twentieth century Oxford Book of English Verse 1999 anthologies have been a prime institution for the preservation and mediation of poetry The importance of anthologies for creating and re creating the canon of English poetry for introducing new programmes of poetry as a record of changing poetic fashions audience tastes and reading practices or as a profitable literary commodity has often been asserted Despite its impact however the poetry anthology in itself has attracted surprisingly little critical interest in Britain or elsewhere in the English speaking world This volume is the first publication to explore the largely unmapped field of poetry anthologies in Britain Essays written from a wide range of perspectives in literary and cultural studies and the point of view of poets editors publishers and cultural institutions aim to do justice to the typological functional and historical variety with which this form of publication has manifested itself from early modern print culture to the postmodern age of the world wide web Medievalism in England II Leslie J. responses and refashioning by English writers Covering the full range of English literature from the early Middle Ages to the present day OHCREL both synthesizes existing scholarship and presents cutting edge new research employing an international team of expert contributors for each of the five volumes OHCREL endeavours to interrogate rather than inertly reiterate conventional assumptions about literary periods the processes of canon formation and the relations between literary and non literary discourse It conceives of reception as a complex process of dialogic exchange and rather than offering large cultural generalizations it engages in close critical analysis of literary texts It explores in detail the ways in which English writers engagement with classical literature casts as much light on the classical originals as it does on the English writers own cultural context This first volume and fourth to appear in the series covers the years c 800 1558 and surveys the reception and transformation of classical literary culture in England from the Anglo Saxon period up to the Henrician era Chapters on the classics in the medieval curriculum the trivium and quadrivium medieval libraries and medieval mythography provide context for medieval reception The reception of specific classical authors and traditions is represented in chapters on Virgil Ovid Lucan Statius the matter of Troy Boethius moral philosophy historiography biblical epics English learning in the twelfth century and the role of antiquity in medieval alliterative poetry The medieval section includes coverage of Chaucer Gower and Lydgate while the part of the volume dedicated to the later period explores early English humanism humanist education and libraries in the Henrician era and includes chapters that focus on the classicism of Skelton Douglas Wyatt and Surrey
