The series published between 1950 and 1977 brings together a wealth of previously uncoordinated material on the ethnic groupings and social conditions of African peoples. Fage, Roland Oliver, 1975 Environment and Economics in Nigeria Toyin Falola, Adam

Paddock, 2012-05-23 This volume gathers contributors across a wide range of disciplines to explore the relationship between the environment, economics, and development in Nigeria from the twentieth century to the present, examining issues such as violence, health, and contemporary concerns about sustainability and conservation. It sheds light not just on the environmental history of Nigeria, a crucial paradigmatic case in its own right, but also offers insights into these issues as they manifest themselves throughout the developing world. Exploring World History through Geography Julie Crea Dunbar, 2022-09-29 Not your run-of-the-mill world history tome, this book takes readers on a fascinating journey through time to examine world history through the closely related discipline of geography. From the early civilizations of ancient Mesopotamia to our present-day globalized society, readers will learn how humans interacted and still interact with the environment around them, as well as the environment's role in not only shaping the society's world view but enabling the building of socially stratified and successful civilizations. Additionally, the book examines how civilizations interacted with others from developing cross-boundary trade to initiating wars of expansion. Finally, readers will also understand the impact of the study and application of geography, such as the creation and use of maps and the study of cultures and Earth's processes. Readers will come away with a new understanding of the relevance of geography to not only human history but contemporary events as well as their day-to-day lives. By presenting this history from a slightly different geographic point of view, this book will inspire fresh curiosity in the world, both past and present.
