Ungaro,2020-09-29 In this book I have tried to illustrate the importance of language for contemporary neo populist political expressions In the wake of Klemperer s work I discovered that language forms a specific social reality by activating above all

projective mechanisms capable of reinforcing the difference between in group and out group In the contemporary context the neo populist language and its medium contributes to the transformation of the modern representation of facts What neo populist communication successfully practices is the substitution of data analysis through a form of sentiment analysis I consider this phenomenon in two empirical cases Brexit and the electoral success of M5S in Italy Despite the differences between these two forms of neo populism in both cases it emerges how language through its projective mechanisms can identify a social bloc united against an imaginary enemy
