Plundered Skulls and Stolen Spirits Chip Colwell, 2017-03-08 A leading anthropologist explores the fraught project of repatriating Native American sacred objects in this moving and thoughtful work Publishers Weekly Who own the objects that connect us to history And who has the right to decide particularly when the objects are sacred or in the case of skeletal remains human As senior curator of anthropology at the Denver Museum of Nature Science Chip Colwell has navigated questions like these firsthand In Plundered Skulls and Stolen Spirits he examines how to weigh the religious freedom of Native Americans against the academic freedom of scientists and whether the emptying of museum shelves elevates human rights or destroys a common heritage Today hundreds of tribes use the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act to recover their looted heritage from museums across the country Colwell shares a personal account of this process following the trail of four objects as they were created collected and ultimately returned to their sources a sculpture that is a living god the scalp of a massacre victim a ceremonial blanket and a skeleton from a tribe considered by some to be extinct These stories reveal a dramatic process that involves not merely obeying the law but negotiating the blurry lines between identity and morality spirituality and politics Repatriation Colwell argues is a difficult but vitally important way for museums and tribes to heal the wounds of the past while creating a respectful approach to caring for these rich artifacts of history

A Russian American Photographer in Tlingit Country Sergei Kan, 2014-06-17 This book is a rich record of life in small town southeastern Alaska in the late 1800s and early 1900s It is the first book to showcase the photographs of Vincent Soboleff an amateur Russian American photographer whose community included Tlingit Indians from a nearby village as well as Russian Americans so called Creoles who worked in a local fertilizer factory Using a Kodak camera Soboleff the son of a Russian Orthodox priest documented the life of this multiethnic parish at work and at play until 1920 Despite their significance few of Soboleff's photographs have been published since their discovery in 1950 Anthropologist Sergei Kan rectifies that oversight in A Russian American Photographer in Tlingit Country which brings together more than 100 of Soboleff's striking black and white images Combining Soboleff's photographs with ethnographic fieldwork and archival research Kan brings to life the communities of Killisnoo where Soboleff grew up and Angoon the Tlingit village The photographs gathered here depict Russian Creoles Euro Americans the operation of the Killisnoo factory and the daily life of its workers But Soboleff's work is especially valuable as a record of Tlingit life As a member of this multiethnic community he was able to take unusually personal photographs of people and daily life Soboleff's photographs offer candid and intimate glimpses into Tlingit people's then new economic pursuits such as commercial fishing selling berries and making Indian curios to sell to tourists Other images show white Creole and Native factory workers rubbing shoulders while keeping a certain distance during leisure time Kan offers readers historians and photography lovers a beautiful visual resource on Tlingit and Russian American life that shows how the two cultures intertwined in southeastern Alaska at the turn of the past century The Tlingit Indians George Thornton Emmons, Frederica De Laguna, 1991 This comprehensive study of the Tlingit Indians of southern Alaska and the coast of British Columbia is an edited version of manuscripts by the ethnographer G T Emmons compiled in the 1880s and 1890s Extensive bibliography and illustrations Anthropology Newsletter ,1987 Collecting Native America, 1870-1960 Shepard Krech III, 2014-08-19 Between the 1870s and 1950s collectors vigorously pursued the artifacts of Native American groups Setting out to preserve what they thought was a vanishing culture they amassed ethnographic and archaeological collections amounting to well over one million objects and founded museums throughout North America that were meant to educate the public about American Indian skills practices and beliefs In Collecting Native America contributors examine the motivations intentions and actions of eleven collectors who devoted substantial parts of their lives and fortunes to acquiring American Indian objects and founding museums They describe obsessive hobbyists such as George Heye who beginning with the purchase of a lice ridden shirt built a collection that still unsurpassed in richness diversity and size today forms the core of the Smithsonian s National Museum of the American Indian Sheldon Jackson a Presbyterian missionary in Alaska collected and displayed artifacts as a means of converting Native peoples to Christianity Clara Endicott Sears used sometimes invented displays and ceremonies at her Indian Museum near Boston to emphasize Native American spirituality The contributors chart the collectors diverse attitudes towards Native peoples showing how their limited contact with American Indian groups resulted in museums that revealed more about assumptions of the wider society than about the cultures being described

Cultural Connections Morris J. Vogel, 1991 Illustrates the history civilization and social conditions of the United States via artifacts paintings and other objects from the collections of cultural institutions in Philadelphia and environs

Unsettling Native Art Histories on the Northwest Coast Kathryn Bunn-Marcuse, Aldona Jonaitis, 2020-07-20 Inseparable from its communities Northwest Coast art functions aesthetically and performatively beyond the scope of non Indigenous scholarship from demonstrating kinship connections to manifesting spiritual power Contributors to this volume foreground Indigenous understandings in recognition of this rich context and its historical erasure within the discipline of art history By centering voices that uphold Indigenous priorities integrating the expertise of Indigenous knowledge holders about their artistic heritage and questioning current institutional practices these new essays unsettle Northwest Coast art studies Key themes include discussions of cultural heritage protections and Native sovereignty re centering women and their critical role in transmitting cultural knowledge reflecting on decolonization work in museums and examining how artworks function as living documents The volume exemplifies respectful and relational engagement with Indigenous art and advocates for more
