Creating and Sustaining Effective K-12 School Partnerships Ahmad R.

Washington, Ramon B. Goings, Malik S. Henfield, 2020-03-01 Although teachers school counselors and administrators are all situated within educational settings tasked with supporting students educational development rarely do these professionals have sufficient opportunities to learn from and collaborate with one another before entering these schools Unfortunately many of these professionals are unaware of the primary and secondary responsibilities their peers and colleagues assume What's worse this lack of insight potentially compromises the extent to which educational leaders can forge effective partnerships that benefit students from the most alienated disenfranchised and marginalized communities e.g. Black children in under resourced schools While the educational discourse has included recommendations for maximizing interactions between these educational professionals the collective voices of teachers school counselors and administrators in regards to these issues has not been adequately examined Thus this book is a compilation of manuscripts and studies that explore partnerships and strategies educators and educational leaders use to produce positive socio educational outcomes for Black students in various contexts Creating and Sustaining Effective K 12 School Partnerships Firsthand Accounts of Promising Practices is unique because it illuminates examples of effective school community partnerships that foster positive student outcomes Creating and Sustaining Effective K 12 School Partnerships Firsthand Accounts of Promising Practices is intended as a practical text for committed educational leaders at different professional points e.g. practicing teachers pre service school counselors and teachers who are eager to transform the current educational trajectory of Black children through interventions that show promise The National Education Goals Report, 1994 Equity-Based Career economic and personal success Reach Higher Initiative Better Make Room 2019 Educational attainment e.g. a high school diploma college degree or postsecondary training provides career opportunities for advancement into leadership positions and benefits such as health insurance and retirement Heckman 2000 Additionally an individual with a college degree can make over one million dollars more over a lifetime in salary than someone with a high school diploma Carnevale Cheah

Hanson 2015 Acquiring a college degree can lead to employment opportunities and is considered an asset in the U S economy Washington 2010 However certain populations encounter barriers to attaining an education particularly a postsecondary education leading to a disparity in receiving the aforementioned benefits Some of these populations include African American students LGBTQ students and students with disabilities There is a dearth of information and research on providing guidance on implementation research and best practices in equity based career development college readiness and successful postsecondary transitions for minoritized at risk or vulnerable populations The editors of this volume invited authors with research and practice expertise around various student populations in preparing them for college and career readiness as well as postsecondary transitions This book is the first of its kind to discuss career development and postsecondary transitions from an access and equity perspective Further this text serves as a call to action to ensure the United States most vulnerable populations has an opportunity to successfully transition into multiple postsecondary options after high school

The Next Generation of Testing Hong Jiao, Robert W. Lissitz, 2015-11-01 The Race To The Top RTTP federal education policy fostered a new generation of state tests This policy advocated adopting common core standards which set a higher level of learning targets for students in the US K 12 education These standards are intended to assess higher order thinking skills and prepare students ready for college and career In the meantime they are aligned with those for international assessments which keep US students abreast of their international peers Furthermore the new generation of state tests requires the use of technology enhanced items to align student assessments with student learning environment Computer technology is indispensable to accomplish this goal Computer based tests related to common core standards are different from previous state computer based tests in two important aspects one is that the current version requires accurate assessment of students along all ability levels and the other is that it promotes the use of an efficient test delivery system essentially the use of computerized adaptive assessment in K 12 state testing programs In addition to providing summative information about student learning the new common core tests add formative assessment component in the whole assessment system to provide timely feedback to students and teachers during the process of student learning and teacher instruction As with its predecessor the new assessment policy also holds teachers and schools accountable for student learning With the requirements by the new federal education policy states formed two consortia Partnership for Assessment of Readiness for College and Careers PARCC and Smarter Balanced Assessment Consortium SBAC to develop assessments in alignment with the new common core standards This book is based on the presentations made at the Thirteenth Annual Maryland Assessment Research Center s Conference on The Next Generation of Testing Common Core Standards Smarter Balanced PARCC and the Nationwide Testing Movement Experts from the consortia and nationwide overviewed the intention history and the current status of this nationwide testing movement Item development test design and transition from old state tests to the new consortia tests are discussed Test scoring and reporting are specially highlighted in the book The challenges related to standard setting for the new test especially in the CAT environment and linking performance standards from state tests with consortium tests were explored The issues of utilizing the consortium test results to evaluate students college and career readiness is another topic addressed in the book The last chapters address the critical issue of validity in the new generation of state testing programs Overall this book presents the latest status of the development of the two consortium assessment systems It addresses the most challenging issues related to the next generation of state testing programs including development of innovative items assessing higher order thinking skills scoring of such items standard setting and linkage with the old state specific standards and validity issues This edited book provides a very good source of information related to the consortium tests based on the common core standards

Retention, Persistence, and Writing Programs Todd Ruecker, Dawn Shepherd, Heidi Estrem, Beth Brunk-Chavez, 2017-04-01 From scholars working in a variety of institutional and geographic contexts and with a wide range of student populations Retention Persistence and Writing Programs offers perspectives on how writing programs can support or hinder students transitions to college The contributors present individual and program case studies student surveys a wealth of institutional retention data and critical policy analysis Rates of student retention in higher education are a widely acknowledged problem although approximately 66 percent of high school graduates begin college of those who attend public four year institutions only about 80 percent return the following year with 58 percent graduating within six years At public two year institutions only 60 percent of students return and fewer than a third graduate within three years Less commonly known is the crucial effect of writing courses on these statistics First year writing is a course that virtually all students have to take thus writing programs are well positioned to contribute to larger institutional conversations regarding retention and persistence and should offer themselves as much needed sites for advocacy research and curricular innovation Retention Persistence and Writing Programs is a timely resource for writing program administrators as well as for new writing teachers advisors administrators and state boards of education
