Literature as Exploration Louise M. Rosenblatt, 2014-08-01 Louise Rosenblatt's Literature as Exploration has influenced literary theorists and teachers of literature at all levels This attractive trade paperback edition features a new foreword by Wayne Booth a new preface and retrospective chapter by the author and an updated list of suggested readings In Literature as Exploration Rosenblatt presents her unique theory of literature and focuses on the immense often untapped potential for the study and teaching of literature in a democratic society The author's philosophy of literature is frequently cited as the first presentation of reader response theory but she differs from her successors in emphasizing both the reader and the text Her transactional theory of literature examines the reciprocal nature of the literary experience and explains why meaning is neither in the text nor in the reader Each reading is a particular event involving a particular reader and a particular text under particular circumstances And teachers of literature Rosenblatt argues play a pivotal role in influencing how students perform in response to a text Reader

Moses as a Character in the Fourth Gospel Stan Harstine,2002-10-08 Did first century Mediterranean readers of the Fourth Gospel have comparable literary examples to inform their comprehension of Moses as a character In addressing this question Harstine s study falls into two parts The first is an analysis of the character Moses as utilized in the text of the Fourth Gospel The second is an examination of other Hellenistic narrative texts in which the character of Homer is also considered as another important legendary figure with whom the readers of the Fourth Gospel would have been familiar

The Girl in the Text Ann Smith,2019-07-16 How are girls represented in written and graphic texts and how do these representations inform our understanding of girlhood In this volume contributors examine the girl in the text in order to explore a range of perspectives on girlhood across borders and in relation to their positionality In literary and transactional texts girls are presented as heroes who empower themselves and others with lasting effect as figures of liberating pedagogical practice and educational activism and as catalysts for discussions of the relationship between desire and ethics In these varied chapters a new notion of transnationalism emerges one rooted not only in the process through which borders between nation states become more porous but through which cultural and ethnic imperatives become permeable
