Readers Judgement Stand And Effect:

Playbooks and their Readers in Early Modern England Hannah August, 2022-04-24 This book is the first comprehensive examination of commercial drama as a reading genre in early modern England Taking as its focus pre Restoration printed drama s most common format the single play quarto playbook it interrogates what the form and content of these playbooks can tell us about who their earliest readers were why they might have wanted to read contemporary commercial drama and how they responded to the printed versions of plays that had initially been performed in the playhouses of early modern London Focusing on professional plays printed in quarto between 1584 and 1660 the book juxtaposes the implications of material and paratextual evidence with analysis of historical traces of playreading in extant playbooks and manuscript commonplace books In doing so it presents more detailed and nuanced conclusions than have previously been enabled by studies focused on works by one author or on a single type of evidence Re/reading the past J.R. Martin, Ruth Wodak, 2003-11-17 Re reading the Past is concerned with the discourses of history from the complementary perspectives of Critical Discourse Analysis CDA and Systemic Functional Linguistics SFL The papers in the book stress the discursive construction of the past focussing on the different social narratives which compete for official acknowledgement Issues of collective and cultural memory are addressed reflecting the linguistic turn in the Social Sciences The book covers a range of discourses interpreting texts from popular culture to academic discourse including the construction and evaluation of past events in a variety of places around the world It is especially timely in its focus on the construction of time and value in a post colonial world where history discourses are central to on going processes of reconciliation debates on war crimes and the issues of amnesty and restitution As such the book fills a significant gap in interdisciplinary debates as well as in register and genre analysis and will be of general interest to historians political scientists and discourse analysts as well as students and teachers of ESP English for Specific Purposes and EAP English for Academic Purposes Reading in the Presence of Christ: A Study of Dietrich Bonhoeffer's Bibliology and Exegesis Joel Banman, 2021-02-11 Bonhoeffer s writings include a significant amount of biblical interpretation but his potential contributions in the fields of biblical studies and theological exegesis of Scripture have not been sufficiently explored This study reassesses some of his key exegetical writings in light of his theology of revelation and bibliology unfolding the ways in which his reading of the Bible is determined by his theology of Scripture Through this analysis Joel Banman demonstrates that the uniting factor of Bonhoeffer s biblical interpretation is not methodological but bibliological he reads Scripture as the living word of the present Christ Weibo News Package: a Systemic Functional Perspective on the Text-Reader Relationship Juan He, 2025-01-07 This book offers an academic dialogue between news values construction and readers evaluative response in Weibo news package from the interpersonal perspective The study focuses on the under researched field of news reception i e how the media reader relationship can be influenced by readers feedback By combing multimodal discourse analysis and corpus methods this book aims to address the following three research questions regarding the text reader relationship in Weibo news package 1 what are the gains and losses in the transfer of news values constructed across platforms and news media 2 how are Chinese language and emoji collaborated to realize attitudinal meanings and advance readers positions in news comments 3 how does readers response overlap or mismatch with particular news value in a story across news text reader relations reader reader relations and extra text reader relations The book has social theoretical and pedagogical implications for the changing landscape of Chinese news discourse and audience studies Socially the findings of news and comments analysis show that news value decisions can be negotiated due to readers active engagement via the social media commenting function Theoretically a responsive model of evaluative readings has been built for a better understanding of social media multimodal comments through the lens of reading positions and emoji text interactions The book is of interest to researchers in media and communication studies but can also be used as a reference book for under graduate students in social semiotics linguistics and journalism to learn how to analyze multimodal and interactive news texts on social media by triangulation of theories and methodologies

Reading Acts Theologically Steve Walton, 2022-06-30 Steve Walton has consistently focused his research and scholarship upon the theological perspective of Acts while considering the book's nature and focus its portrait of the early Christian communities and their mission in the culturally varied first century world and its major theological themes Walton now collects several of his key essays into an expansive and coherent perspective bringing together studies published over nearly two decades during his time of study and reflection in the process of writing the Word Biblical Commentary on Acts The collection begins with an exploration of what reading Acts theologically means the divine perspective of Acts and how Luke theologizes through narrative Walton presents analyses covering the nature of the early Church and the main terms used by the communities the believers sharing of possessions early Christian attitudes to the Jewish temple decision making among the earliest Christians and the church's engagement with the Roman empire and its representatives This volume studies theological themes in Acts such as Jesus role as a character in the text while also located in heaven and the cosmology and anthropology communicated by Acts thus providing a new reflection on the early Christian understanding of God Jesus and humanity

Re-Reading Education Policies, 2009-01-01 This book collects studies with a critical education policy orientation and presents itself as a handbook of matters of public concern The term critical does not refer to the adoption of a particular theoretical framework or methodology but rather it refers to a very specific ethos or way of relating to the present and the belief that the future should not be the repetition of the past This implies a concern about what is happening in our societies today and what could or should be happening in the future As a consequence the contributors to the book rely on a general notion of public policy that takes on board processes practices and discourses at a variety of levels in diverse governmental and non governmental contexts and considers the relation of policy to power to politics and to social regulation Following the detailed introduction that aims at picturing the landscape of studies with a critical education policy orientation the book presents re readings of six policy challenges globalization knowledge society lifelong learning equality democracy social inclusion accountability control efficiency and teacher professionalism It seeks to contextualise these in relation to issues of current global concern at the start of the 21st century Despite the diversity of approaches this collection of critical education policy studies shares a concern with what could be called the public and its education and represents a snapshot of education policy research at a particular time

Film Theory Philip Simpson, Andrew Utterson, Karen J. Shepherdson, 2004 This major new collection identifies the critical and theoretical concepts which have been most significant in the study of film and presents a historical and intellectual context for the material examined

Uncommon Readers Christopher J. Knight, 2003-01-01 Impressive in scope and erudition Christopher Knight's Uncommon Readers focuses on three critics whose voices mixing eloquence with pugnacity stand out as among the most notable independent critics working during the last half century The critics are Denis Donoghue Frank Kermode and George Steiner and their independence a striking characteristic in a time of corporate criticism is reflective of both their backgrounds Donoghue's Catholic upbringing in Protestant ruled Northern Ireland Kermode's Marxist beginnings and Steiner's Jewish upbringing in pre Holocaust Europe and their temperaments Each represents a party of one a fact that has on the one hand made them the object of the occasional vituperative dismissal and on the other contributed to their influence and remarkable longevity Since the 1950s Steiner Donoghue and Kermode have each maintained a highly public profile regularly contributing to such influential publications as Encounter New Yorker New York Review of Books Times Literary Supplement and the London Review of Books This aspect of their work receives particular attention in Uncommon Readers for it illustrates a renewed interest in the role of the public critic especially in relation to the genre of the literary review essay and signals a sustained conversation with an educated public namely the common reader Knight makes the argument for the review essay as a serious and still viable genre and he examines the three critics in light of this assumption He expounds upon the critics separate interests Kermode's identification with discussions of canonicity Steiner's with cultural politics and Donoghue's with the persistent claims of the imagination while also revealing the ways in which their work often reflects theological interests Lastly he attempts to adjudicate some of the conflicts that have arisen between these critics and other literary theorists especially the post structuralists and to discuss the question of whether it is still possible for critics to work independently

Original and deliberative Uncommon Readers presents a renewed defense of the tradition of the common reader

Toward a Postcolonial Reading of the Epistle of James Ingeborg Mongstad-Kvammen, 2013-06-15 Toward a Postcolonial Reading of the Epistle of James offers an interpretation of Jas 2:1-13 putting the text in the midst of the Roman imperial system of rank This study shows that the conflict of the text has more to do with differences of rank than poverty and wealth The main problem is that the Christian assemblies are acting

according to Roman cultural etiquette instead of their Jewish Christian heritage when a Roman equestrian and a beggar visit the assembly The members of the assemblies are accused of having become too Roman From a postcolonial perspective this is a typical case of hybrid identities Additional key concepts from postcolonialism such as diaspora othering naming of oppressors and binarisms such as coloniser colonised centre margin honour shame and power powerless are highlighted throughout the study

Engagements with Close Reading Annette Federico,2015-10-08 What should we do with a literary work Is it best to become immersed in a novel or poem or is our job to objectively dissect it Should we consult literature as a source of knowledge or wisdom or keenly interrogate its designs upon us Do we excavate the text as an historical artifact or surrender to its aesthetic qualities Balancing foundational topics with new developments Engagements with Close Reading offers an accessible introduction to how prominent critics have approached the task of literary reading This book will help students learn different methods for close reading perform a close analysis of an unfamiliar text articulate meaningful responses Beginning with the New Critics and recent argument for a return to formalism the book tracks the reactions of reader response critics and phenomenologists and concludes with ethical criticism s claim for the value of literary reading to our moral lives Rich in literary examples most reprinted in full each chapter models practical ways for students to debate the pros and cons of objective and subjective criticism In the final chapter five distinguished critics shed light on the pleasures and difficulties of close reading in their engagements with poetry and fiction In the wake of cultural studies and historicism Engagements with Close Reading encourages us to bring our eyes back to the words on the page inviting students and instructors to puzzle out the motives high stakes limitations and rewards of the literary encounter under the pressure of this beleaguered and persistent methodology

Machado De Assis's Philosopher or Dog? Suriani da Silva,2017-07-05 The great Brazilian writer Joaquim Maria Machado de Assis 1839 1908 published five of his nine novels as feuilletons in daily newspapers or fortnightly women s magazines How were the structure and themes of those novels entangled with this serial publication form In da Silva s important new study textual scholarship critical theory and the history of the book are combined in order to trace this relationship The most important case study is an extended consideration of Philosopher or Dog 1891 the novel after which he abandoned the feuilleton Through a comparison of the serial and book versions of Philosopher or Dog and a thorough study of the periodical in which it appeared the international women s magazine The Season da Silva analyses the changes which the genre novel was undergoing at the end of the nineteenth century the decline of the serial and the standardisation of female press Ana Claudia Suriani da Silva is Tutor of Portuguese at the University of Birmingham and Honorary Research Fellow at Birkbeck College University of London
