Reading And Writing In The Middle Grades A Whole Language View Analysis And Action Series:

Reading and Writing in the Middle Grades Gary L. Manning, Maryann Murphy Manning, Roberta Long, 1990 The basic assumption of this book is that reading and writing in school should be natural and enjoyable for children and its ideas are based on the Piagetian theory that knowledge is constructed by each individual and the psycholinguistic view that learning takes place best when viewed as holistic and when instructional materials for children are authentic and purposeful The book describes the constructive nature of children's thinking reading and writing and the natural development of these processes Chapter 1 discusses a model of literacy learning and the role of teachers in creating sound literacy programs for their pupils Chapters 2 and 3 present instructional ideas that support the literacy development of middle grade students Chapter two centers on developing readers some of the topics covered include reading aloud literature sets reading conferences book talks strategy lessons and reading journals and logs Chapter 3 focuses on developing writers and discusses various aspects of the writing workshop writing outside the workshop and assessment of writing only those ideas which are consistent with a whole language view of literacy development have been included Chapter 4 comments on specific questions about the whole language approach to reading and writing Appendixes list publishers of students writing selected favorite books selected poetry collections and some discourse forms for content writing A 19 item annotated bibliography and 27 references are attached MG
