Welcoming Young Children into the Museum Sarah Erdman, Nhi Nguyen, Margaret Middleton, 2021-11-29 Welcoming Young Children into the Museum provides all of the information practitioners need to consider when making the decision to engage with this audience and their carers Meeting the reader where they are this guide enables professionals to work toward outcomes that fit with their needs Working methodically from the initial stages of bringing staff on board through to implementation and evaluation readers are carefully steered through each phase Big picture needs like adherence to mission are considered alongside logistical components like cleaning schedules to ensure that museums cater to young children in a way that is beneficial to both the visitors and the institution Drawing on current neurological research and best practices in early childhood education and development this guide presents case studies from a variety of different institutions around the world that demonstrate that creating interesting developmentally appropriate opportunities for young children is about much more than just simplifying what is already on offer Erdman Nguyen and Middleton demonstrate that the age and needs of the visitors must be taken into careful consideration as well as the assets and potential obstacles of the institution Welcoming Young Children into the Museum will be essential reading for professionals working in museums large and small regardless of type It will be useful to those who are considering setting up new programmes for early years audiences and those with existing programmes who would like to improve their offering

Register of All Officers and Agents, Civil, Military, and Naval, in the Service of the United States United States Department of State,1822     The Eclectic Medical Journal ,1917     Identity, Social Class and Learning in the 'Bottom' Reading Group Jess Anderson,2025-02-28 The common practice of ability grouped reading in UK schools often termed guided reading influences children s sense of identity feelings and progress as readers Drawing on a rich ethnographic study of three primary classrooms this book reopens a critical inquiry into ability grouped reading that has been quiet since the 1990s when guided reading in literacy education became established practice in the UK and the US Through the lens of children s agency in accommodating resisting and at times transforming such reading pedagogy the book shows how readers are shaped by ability grouped reading and by the more egalitarian reading pedagogies introduced in the study Children s individual and collective experiences are brought to life through extended narratives that attend as closely to gesture posture visage silences and prosody of speech as to spoken words The book ends with a provocation how literacy pedagogy might change if reflexive noticing and dismantling of hierarchies become the compass of pedagogical change This demands attention to structural inequalities around race gender and class and a turn towards deep listening to children As well as being a valuable read for scholars of the sociology of childhood and education it should appeal to anyone concerned with making education more equitable including teachers school leaders parents carers and policymakers
