A World of Ideas Lee A. Jacobus, 1986 The most successful reader of its kind A World of Ideas is ideal for composition instructors who want to introduce their students to some of the world's most important thinkers and their ideas for example Niccolo Machiavelli on government Sigmund Freud on the mind and Virginia Woolf on feminism Because students perceive writers such as these as serious and important they take the writing course more seriously they learn to read more attentively think more critically and write more effectively But more important this may be a student's only opportunity to encounter these thinkers No other composition reader offers a comparable collection of important readings along with the supportive apparatus students need to understand analyze and respond to them

A Word of Ideas Lee A. Jacobus, 1989-11-01

Language Awareness Paul A. Eschholz, Alfred F. Rosa, Virginia P. Clark, 2000 Engaging students with the power of language in everyday life Ideal for the composition classroom the thematic focus on language in Language Awareness allows students to study compelling topics such as Prejudice Stereotypes and Language Chapter 8 and The Language of Persuasion Politics and Advertising Chapter 12 while fostering an appreciation of the richness and vitality of the English language Chosen particularly for their insight and appeal to students the 70 readings by well known writers and language experts encourage students to think carefully about the many dimensions of language culture and communication and to use their own language more responsibly and effectively in speech and in writing 4 full chapters on writing Language Awareness offers more writing coverage than any other reader of its kind and this edition includes four new chapters Along with three student papers these 70 pages on the essentials of college writing introduce students to the writing process and cover the types of writing most often assigned to first year college students writing from experience writing from reading and writing from research with MLA style documentation Documents for analysis and writing after every essay and every chapter Called Language in Action the documents that appear after every single essay include advertisements screen shots of Web pages cartoons corporate documents poems magazine quizzes humorous excerpts and other real life uses of public language These documents are surrounded by editorial apparatus that invites students to practice the critical thinking they've just seen modeled in the essays Every chapter now ends with one of two kinds of casebook Cases in Point are groups of essays tightly focused around a controversial theme in language study such as who decides what grammar is correct Language in Use are sets of documents for comparison

Language Awareness Paul Eschholz, Alfred Rosa, Virginia Clark, 2019-08-15 Language Awareness helps students understand that writing makes things happen in the world This collection teaches students how language operates and how it evolves over time and this understanding in turn helps students use language more effectively in their own writing The supportive apparatus includes unique Language in Action activities which connect the everyday and the academic by examining current language related debates that deepen students understanding of each reading This beloved reader has stood the test of time and has been revised with feedback from instructors across the country The new edition features a blend of classic and contemporary readings that examine a wide range of topics through the lens of language New readings include a range of perspectives around current topics like fake news gender neutral pronouns and the MeToo movement

Language Matters Toni-Lee Capossela, 1996 Language Matters readings for College Writers brings together many voices discussing language readings vary widely in terms of length difficulty and point of view Some are classics and some are cutting edge The authors whose work appears in these pages explore the way language and society interact something everyone is already equipped to talk about Each chapter brings together a variety of readings on an important aspect of language Assignments are arranged in ascending order of difficulty within each section In Language Matters Readings for College Writers the student will be better at understanding language and as a result the world in which he or she lives

Language Awareness Paul Eschholz, Alfred F. Rosa, Virginia P. Clark, 2009

Approaching Great Ideas Lee A. Jacobus, 2016-01-08 Approaching Great Ideas Critical Readings for College Writers shows students how to approach understand and engage with the big ideas that have shaped the world Important essays from classic authors such as Aristotle Plato Charlotte Perkins Gilman Charles Darwin Andrew Carnegie and Friedrich Nietzsche are presented alongside shorter contemporary readings on the same themes from authors such as Cornel West Elizabeth Warren bell hooks Fareed Zakaria Jennifer Ackerman and Kwame Anthony Appiah showing students how the ideas of the world's greatest minds are still alive and relevant today The text also includes two chapters on critical reading and writing and ample support for analyzing the readings giving students the tools they need to dig into the world's greatest ideas from back cover

Composing Knowledge Rolf Norgaard, 2006-12-20 Higher education has its own rules rules about who is heard what counts as knowledge what works as persuasion They are conventions that must be learned and taught So it is no wonder that for new students college can be a confusing place Composing Knowledge asks students to examine their assumptions about learning It provides them with a training ground for the sometimes disquieting experience of higher education giving them the tools with which to understand their experience For instructors it offers provocative academic readings they themselves find engaging allowing them to connect their scholarly interests to student experience The readings explore the role of language in learning the conventions of the classroom the nature of persuasion the importance of collaboration the force of gender the impact of technology and the power of the image When students contend with these issues they see the ways that scholars view them and enter the academic conversations that shape their college years and their future professional and civic lives A World of Ideas Lee A. Jacobus,1986 Intertexts

Marguerite Helmers,2003-01-30 What do we mean when we talk about reading What does it mean to teach reading What place does reading have in the college writing classroom Intertexts Reading Pedagogy in College Writing Classrooms theoretically and practically situates the teaching of reading as a common pedagogical practice in the college writing classroom As a whole the book argues for rethinking the separation of reading and writing within the first year writing classroom for an expanded notion of reading that is based on finding and creating meaning from a variety of symbolic forms not just print based texts but also other forms such as Web sites and visual images The chapter authors represent a range of cultural personal and rhetorical perspectives including cultural studies classical rhetoric visual rhetoric electronic literacy reader response theory creative writing and critical theories of literature and literary criticism This volume an important contribution to composition studies is essential reading for researchers instructors writing program administrators and students involved in college writing instruction and literature Reading for College Writers Laurence Behrens,Leonard J. Rosen,1987 Read, Write, Connect Kathleen Green,Amy Lawlor,2014-02-14 Read Write Connect provides integrated instruction in reading and writing paragraphs and essays complete coverage of research and grammar and a thematic reader full of high interest selections students will want to both read and write about The text begins with a walk through of the reading and writing processes and then moves on to a series of reading and writing workshop chapters providing in depth coverage of key topics like finding main ideas and drafting and organizing an essay Throughout the text demonstrates that academic processes are recursive for example drafting is not a phase or stage a writer finishes or completes drafting continues as the writer revises based on reading and reflection The structure of the text reflects this recursivity as students move from the early chapters to later chapters they reinforce and expand upon earlier learning digging deeper into the material and their own ideas and building confidence along the way College Writing Skills with Readings John
