Critical Issues in Anti-racist Research Methodologies George Jerry Sefa Dei, Gurpreet Singh Johal, 2005 Anti racism studies have blossomed over the years with scholarship and political work reinforcing each other to cement anti racist change But how do we understand anti racist research How is anti racist research methodology different from other methods of research investigation What are the principles of anti racism research This edited collection attempts to provide some answers by bringing together works that examine the perils and desires of anti racist research with a particular focus on the notion of difference and a serious consideration of the race gender class and sexuality intersections implications of educational research

The Blackwell Guide to Research Methods in Bilingualism and Multilingualism Li Wei, Melissa G. Moyer, 2017-11-27 As globalization has increased awareness of the extent of language contact and linguistic diversity questions concerning bilingualism and multilingualism have taken on an increasing importance from both practical and scholarly points of view Written by leading experts and practitioners in the field The Blackwell Guide to Research Methods in Bilingualism and Multilingualism Highlights the interdisciplinary nature of research on bilingualism and multilingualism and offers a practical guide to the procedures and tools for collecting and analyzing data. Specifically addresses methodological issues discussing research topics, core concepts and approaches and the methods and techniques available. Links theory to method and to data and answers a real need for a know how volume on bilingualism and multilingualism that deals with its methodology in a systematic and coherent way. Teaching and Researching Language in African Classrooms Casmir M. Rubagumya, 1994. A comparative and interdisciplinary study of language issues in education in five African countries: Botswana, Burundi, Tanzania, Zaire, and Zimbabwe. This book focuses on how the social, economic, and political context affects classroom practice.

Research Methods in Linguistics Lia Litosseliti, 2017-08-24. An in-depth introduction to all research methods in linguistics; this is the ideal textbook for undergraduate and postgraduate students. Research Methods are important skills for students of linguistics to learn prior to undertaking research projects at either undergraduate or postgraduate level. Students need to learn how to develop research methods appropriate for their chosen study and how to record, transcribe, code, and analyse the data collected. This comprehensive introduction to research methods in linguistics guides the student through these areas, offering advice at a theoretical and practical level. The book covers formal, computational, quantitative, and qualitative research methods in detail, and each chapter is written by an academic renowned in the field. Topics covered include using corpora, questionnaire design, computer-assisted content analysis, interview methods, observation, fieldwork in linguistics, and statistical analysis. Providing an in-depth introduction to all research methods in linguistics, this is the ideal textbook for undergraduate and postgraduate students encountering linguistic data for the first time. Research Methods in Linguistics is a new series from Continuum providing a series of introductions to the quantitative and qualitative research methods needed by undergraduate and postgraduate students. The centre of the series is Research Methods in Linguistics, edited by Lia Litosseliti, which provides a comprehensive overview of all the research methods needed by linguistics students. Each book in the series takes one of the research methods described in the general introduction and expands upon this in a book-length study.

Controversies in Applied Linguistics Barbara Seidlhofer, 2003. There are several issues in English teaching on which applied linguists take very different positions, e.g. linguistic imperialism, the validity of critical discourse analysis, the pedagogic relevance of corpus descriptions of language, the theoretical bases of second language acquisition research, the nature of applied linguistics itself. This book presents exchanges between scholars arguing different positions and directs attention to the key points at issue.

Sociolinguistic Research Robert Lawson, Dave Sayers, 2017-07-14. Shortlisted for the LSA Leonard Bloomfield Book Award 2017. Sociolinguistic Research: Application and Impact provides a unique overview of international research projects showcasing their positive outcomes and offering critical insights and constructive critiques into the meaning of impact in contemporary research. The book includes original findings from cutting-edge research from scholars such as Mary Bucholtz, Walt Wolfram, and Peter Patrick, covering organisational contexts including education, government, justice, heritage, and the workplace, activities including after-school programmes, workplace training courses social media campaigns and video productions application of research to professional practice including teaching primary school to university adjudication police interviewing and governmental policymaking contributors personal reflections on the research process and its outcomes including constructive critiques of institutional definitions of impact With chapters spanning research across five continents Sociolinguistic Research Application and Impact is essential reading for sociolinguistic researchers students embarking on sociolinguistic research and anyone interested in the practical application of research on language and society     Insights from Practices in Community-Based Research Shannon T. Bischoff, Carmen Jany, 2018-03-19 Free Access in January 2019 There has been an increasing interest in the emerging subfield within linguistics and anthropology often referred to as community based research Himmelmann 1998 Rice 2010 Crippen and Robinson 2013 among others This volume brings together perspectives from academics community members and those that find themselves in both academia and the community The volume begins with a working definition of the notions of community based research as a practice and illustrates how such notions shifted without abandoning the outlined tenets within the working definition as the chapters developed to include notions of community based research as a tool and ideology as well as an orientation Each of the 17 chapters represents a case study with the first five including discussions of broader issues and theoretical perspectives while exploring community based research as an emerging subfield within linguistics The case studies comprise work from the Americas Australia India Europe and Africa The goal of the volume is to build on the emerging literature and practices in the field to arrive at a better understanding of how community based research is theorized and practiced in a variety of environments communities and cultures     Interviews in Applied Linguistics David Block, 2023-12-21 This book is a personal reflection on research interviews Written as an autobiography it invites the reader to accompany the author on his personal journey of over three decades of research carried out on a range of topics in a range of contexts It mixes academic genres moving back and forth between life story telling and more standard academic writing This book has been written with several aims in mind First it aims to present the author's perspective on research interviews acquired over time to researchers of all kinds from novice to experienced Second while it contains valuable information about the practice of interviewing it is written in such a way that it avoids the kind of dry and overly structured presentation style that one finds in textbook like publications on the topic Third and finally this book aims to complement previous publications on interviews e.g. Cicourel Briggs Mishler Kvale which have approached the topic from a reflexive sociolinguistic linguistic anthropological perspective that frames interviews not as information mining expeditions but as communicative events and conversations This unique reflection on research interviews will be of interest to advanced students and researchers in applied linguistics and sociolinguistics and will also be relevant to researchers working in social sciences and humanities disciplines     Methods in Pragmatics Andreas H. Jucker, Klaus P. Schneider, Wolfram Bublitz, 2018-06-25 Methods in Pragmatics provides a systematic overview of the different types of data the different methods of data collection and data analysis used in pragmatic research. It offers authoritative and comprehensive surveys of the entire breadth of methods and methodologies. Part 1 covers introspectional philosophical and cognitive pragmatics. Part 2 is devoted to experimental pragmatics including discourse completion and dialogue construction tasks, role plays and other production and comprehension tasks. Part 3 reviews observational pragmatics including ethnographic and discourse analytic methods and part 4 finally is devoted to corpus pragmatics including accounts of corpus compilation, annotation and data retrieval specific to pragmatic research. Each contribution provides a state of the art account of the precise workings of one particular method, its applications in the relevant research literature as well as a critical assessment of its strengths and weaknesses and the type of pragmatic research questions for which it is most suitable.

Language, Culture and Identity

- Signs of Life Vera da Silva Sinha, Ana Moreno-Núñez, Zhen Tian, 2020-04-30. The dynamics of language, culture and identity are a major focus for many linguists and cognitive and cultural researchers. This book explores the inextricable connection that language has with cultural identity and cultural practices with a particular emphasis on how they contribute to shaping personal identity. The volume brings together selected peer reviewed papers from the 7th International Conference on Language, Culture and Mind with other specially commissioned chapters. Like the conference, this book aims to enhance mutual understanding among researchers from diverse disciplinary and theoretical perspectives, offering a wealth of insights to a wide range of readers on recent culturally oriented cognitive studies of language.

Research and Inequality

Beth Humphries, Carole Truman, 2020-10-07. It has been noted by researchers from a variety of backgrounds that the dominant social research paradigms have frequently failed to represent the viewpoints of many marginalized groups. The authors of this collection confront this imbalance by looking at how issues such as ethnicity, sexual orientation and identity, disability, gender and ethnicity and health and old age can be addressed in research conducted among groups who may often be the objects of research but who seldom have control over what is said about them. Containing sections written by contributors from a variety of backgrounds, cultures and nationalities, the chapters explore ways in which issues of social diversity and division within the research process might be addressed. While considering whether this might be done through an emancipatory research paradigm, the book also examines the philosophical tenets and methodological implications of such an approach.

The Linguistics of Newswriting Daniel Perrin, 2013-09-25. The Linguistics of Newswriting focuses on text production in journalistic media as both a socially relevant field of language use and as a strategic field of applied linguistics. The book discusses and paves the way for scientific projects in the emerging field of linguistics of newswriting. From empirical micro and theoretical macro perspectives, strategies and practices of research development and knowledge transformation are discussed. Thus, the book is addressed to researchers, teachers and coaches interested in the linguistics of professional writing in general and news writing in particular. Together with the training materials provided on the internet www.newswriting.net, the book will also be useful to anyone who wants to become a more discerning consumer (Perry 2005) or a more reflective
