Resistance and Renewal Anthony T. Padovano, 2013-05 Writing is the most effective way of dialoguing with the human family across boundaries of space and time These essays are efforts to enter the dialogue This is my third collection of essays Reform and Renewal and Hope is a Dialogue preceded this publication I have taken the liberty in this book to reprint in the Milestones section the five essays which many consider the most successful of my writing career As in those previous books the essays enter the field of controversy much more readily than the other two dozen books I have written The longer volumes tend to be contemplative rather than conversational In any case writing is a record of how some of us lived and thought It becomes often a search for a truth we sometimes miss and occasionally encounter I offer these essays conscious that they are at best a partial picture of a larger truth we do not see readily in its comprehensiveness Writing is not so much a celebration of what it is like to arrive but a report from somewhere on the journey that we are at least on the road It is an act of hope that the path is right and the direction correct It is an act of confidence that one's energy will hold out and that in the moments of exhaustion others will bring the message home and correct its ill formed syllables

Schooling and the Struggle for Public Life Henry A. Giroux, 2015-12-03 This book examines the relationship between democracy and schooling and argues that schools are one of the few spheres left where youth can learn the knowledge and skills necessary to become engaged critical citizens Not only is the legacy of democracy addressed through the work of John Dewey and others but the democratic possibilities of schooling are analyzed through a range of issues extending from the politics of teacher authority to the importance of student voices These issues have only become more vital in an era of neoliberalism and smaller government as Giroux discusses at length in this new updated edition
