A Resource Guide on Racial Profiling Data Collection Systems Deborah Ramirez,2000      Resource Guide on Racial Profiling Data Collection Systems: Promising Practices and Lessons Learned , The U S Department of Justice presents the full text of an article entitled A Resource Guide on Racial Profiling Data Collection Systems Promising Practices and Lessons Learned by Deborah Ramirez Jack McDevitt and Amy Farrell The article discusses the problems related to racial profiling data collection goals and limitations and recommendations for traffic stop data collection systems      Racial Profiling Steven J. Muffler,2006 In recent years racial profiling has drawn the attention of state and federal governments In this book racial profiling is defined as the practice of targeting individuals for police or security interdiction detention or other disparate treatment based primarily on their race ethnicity or national origin in the belief that certain minority groups are more likely to engage in unlawful behaviour Assertions that law enforcement personnel at all levels unfairly target certain racial and ethnic groups particularly but not exclusively for traffic stops and searches have raised concerns about violations of the Constitution The major debate on racial profiling centres on whether the practice should be prohibited entirely and whether data on traffic stops and searches should be collected to determine if the practice is occurring This book gathers presents the major issues available data and analyses important to understanding on the most dangerous and divisive practices of our time      NCJRS Catalog ,1998      FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin ,2002      Racial Profiling Anthony Gennaro Vito,2016-12-08 Racial Profiling Using Propensity Score Matching to Examine Focal Concerns Theory combines theory and propensity score matching to offer readers a better understanding of racial profiling through traffic stop data concerning the race and gender of the driver The book examines the likelihood of a citation search or consent search for similarly situated African American and Caucasian drivers in general similarly situated African American and Caucasian male drivers and similarly situated African American and Caucasian female drivers Whether and why police exercise racial profiling in their decisionmaking is one of the most hotly debated topics in criminal justice In this work Anthony Vito uses Focal Concerns Theory to explain police officer decisionmaking in traffic stop outcomes via propensity score matching revealing the intersectional dynamics of racial profiling and gender bias by the Louisville Police Department The unique approach of looking at the Focal Concerns Theory components of blameworthiness protection of the community and practical constraints and consequences together with propensity score matching provides a theoretical lens for analysis and a model for future studies This book is an original and timely resource for researchers scholars practitioners and other stakeholders focusing on the problem of racial profiling in policing      Terrorist Profiling and Law Enforcement Noel McGuirk,2021-02-10 This book analyses the usefulness of terrorist profiling utilised by law enforcement officers as a pre emptive means to assist them in the detection prevention and deterrence of terrorism and or its preparatory activities It explores two main themes arising from the phenomenon of terrorist profiling the lawfulness of terrorist profiling and the utility of profiling These two themes are explored in three separate parts Firstly the book begins by drawing upon human rights concerns arising from the use of terrorist profiling by law enforcement officers Secondly an analytical framework capable of making determinations on the usefulness of terrorist profiling This framework develops a profiling spectrum that ranges from formal and informal manifestations of terrorist profiling that forms the basis for evaluating its usefulness Finally the book presents an examination of various manifestations of terrorist profiling by separating the analysis of the construction of profiles on the one hand from their application on the other so as to be able to identify and examine profiling s usefulness as a technique to assist law enforcement officers make predictions about likely offender characteristics This book ultimately concludes that terrorist profiling should only be conducted by undertaking a systematic assessment of the construction of profiles separate from the application of profiles whilst simultaneously taking into account fundamental human rights concerns with the practice of terrorist profiling The work will be an essential resource for academics law enforcement officers and lawyers in the disciplines of law criminology human rights criminal justice and policing As the book engages with terrorist profiling it will also be of interest to those engaged in the psychology of terrorism

Racial Profiling Karen S. Glover, 2009-08-16 Karen S Glover investigates the social science practices of racial profiling inquiry examining their key influence in shaping public understandings of race law and law enforcement Commonly manifesting in the traffic stop the association with racial minority status and criminality challenges the fundamental principle of equal justice under the law as described in the U S Constitution Communities of color have long voiced resistance to racialized law and law enforcement yet the body of knowledge about racial profiling rarely engages these voices Applying a critical race framework Glover provides in depth interview data and analysis that demonstrate the broad social and legal realms of citizenship that are inherent to the racial profiling phenomenon To demonstrate the often subtle workings of race and the law in the post Civil Rights era the book includes examination of the 1996 U S Supreme Court s Whren decision a judicial pronouncement that allows pretextual action by law enforcement and thus widens law enforcement powers in decisions concerning when and against whom law is applied

RACIAL PROFILING Darin D. Fredrickson, Raymond P. Siljander, 2002-01-01 This book was written to eliminate confusion regarding what has come to be called racial profiling by clarifying the legitimate law enforcement practice of criminal profiling and by clarifying what constitutes unfair discrimination and persecution This book was written to benefit sociology students law enforcement officers and anyone else in a position to be concerned with or affected by the profiling issue Police administrators judges and legislators must adequately understand the topics and their many ramifications if they are to make decisions that are based on fact rather than stereotype and myth and free from the influence of adverse social and political pressures And attorneys when prosecuting or defending cases wherein profiling and discrimination is an issue must have good insight into the many interrelated dynamics of the topics to properly prepare and argue their case This writing explores difficult social issues that are often poorly understood but issues that need to be understood if solutions are to be meaningful And a poorly conceived solution is especially likely when the issues are both complex and controversial In this book the writers acknowledge that while criminal profiling is a necessary and legitimate law enforcement practice unchecked bias can pollute the practice And while they acknowledge that measures to detect those whose enforcement practices reflect bias can have merit they emphasize that such efforts must be in addition to the hiring of high caliber officers providing quality training providing competent leadership and on a properly staffed and trained Internal Affairs department But the authors also emphasize the unfortunate fact that many efforts intended to prevent bias are to varying degrees ineffectual and create collateral problems Germane to that discussion is illumination of the difficulties of monitoring fair treatment policies and the unintended problems that often accompany consent decrees
