Uzbekistan in 1924 and the Stalinist Terror of the late 1930s a nationalist cinema emerged in Uzbekistan giving rise to the first wave of national film production and an Uzbek cinematographic elite In Cinema Nation and Empire in Uzbekistan Cloe Drieu uses Uzbek films as a lens to explore the creation of the Soviet State in Central Asia starting from the collapse of the Russian Empire up through the eve of WWII Drieu argues that cinema provides a perfect angle for viewing the complex history of domination nationalism and empire here used to denote the centralization of power within the Soviet sphere By exploring all of film's dimensions as a socio political phenomenon including film production film reception and filmic discourse Drieu reveals how nation and empire were built up as institutional realities and as imaginary constructs Based on archival research in the Uzbek and Russian State Archives and on in depth analyses of 14 feature length films Drieu's work examines the lively debates within the totalitarian and so called revisionist schools that invigorated Soviet historiography positioning itself within contemporary discussions about the processes of state and nation building and the emergence of nationalism more generally Revised and expanded from the original French Cinema Nation and Empire in Uzbekistan helps us to understand how Central Asia formerly part of the Russian Empire was decolonized but later in the run up to the Stalinist period and repression of the late 1930s suffered a new style of domination State and the People
