

A wooden gavel with a dark, polished head and a lighter, textured handle rests diagonally across a white document. The document is titled 'RESTITUTION' in large, bold, black serif capital letters. A silver paperclip is attached to the top left corner of the document. The document is placed on a light brown, textured surface, possibly a folder or a piece of paper, which is itself on a dark wooden surface with a visible grain. The lighting is soft, creating subtle shadows and highlights on the gavel and the paper.

Unjust Enrichment and Public Law Rebecca Williams, 2010-06-30 This book examines claims involving unjust enrichment and public bodies in France England and the EU Part 1 explores the law as it now stands in England and Wales as a result of cases such as Woolwich EBS v IRC those resulting from the decision of the European Court of Justice ECJ in Metallgesellschaft and Hoechst v IRC and those involving Local Authority swaps transactions So far these cases have been viewed from either a public or a private law perspective whereas in fact both branches of the law are relevant and the author argues that the courts ought not to lose sight of the public law issues when a claim is brought under the private law of unjust enrichment or vice versa In order to achieve this a hybrid approach is outlined which would allow the law access to both the public and private law aspects of such cases Since there has been much discussion particularly in the context of public body cases of the relationship between the common law and civilian approaches to unjust enrichment or enrichment without cause Part 2 considers the French approach in order to ascertain what lessons it holds for England and Wales And finally as the Metallgesellschaft case itself makes clear no understanding of such cases can be complete without an examination of the relevant EU law Thus Part 3 investigates the principle of unjust enrichment in the European Union and the division of labour between the European and the domestic courts in the ECJ's so called remedies jurisprudence In particular it examines the extent to which the two relevant issues public law and unjust enrichment are defined in EU law and to what extent this remains a task for the domestic courts Cited with approval in the Court of Appeal by Beatson LJ in Hemming and others v The Lord Mayor and Citizens of Westminster 2013 EWCA Civ 5912 Cited with approval in the Supreme Court by Lord Walker in Test Claimants in the Franked Investment Income Group Litigation Appellants v Commissioners of Inland Revenue and another 2012 UKSC 19

Breach of Trust Peter Birks, Arianna Pretto-Sakmann, 2002-07-05 Recent leading cases have demonstrated the urgent need to modernize the learning on breach of trust which has lagged behind the flourishing scholarship on the creation of trusts Since breach of trust or fiduciary duty occupies the centre of the legal stage it comes as a surprise that although one or two novelists have chosen Breach of Trust as the title to their book no lawyer has so far thought it necessary to produce a specialized work on the subject To fill the gap this book written by a team of leading trust lawyers from a number of common law jurisdictions investigates all the principal aspects of the subject The nature of the trustee's duties and of the liability for breach is closely examined and all available defences and excuses are reviewed Two substantial chapters consider the consequences of assisting a breach or receiving trust property from a trustee acting in breach The

Restitutionary Rights to Share in Damages Simone Degeling, 2003-06-12

Rights and obligations can arise amongst other things in tort or in unjust enrichment. Simone Degeling deals with the phenomenon whereby a stranger to litigation is entitled to participate in the fruits of that litigation. Two prominent examples of this phenomenon are the carer entitled to share in the fund of damages recovered by a victim of tort and the indemnity insurer entitled to participate in the fruits of the insured's claim against the wrongdoer. Degeling demonstrates that both are rights raised to reverse unjust enrichment. Careful examination of these two categories reveals the existence of a novel policy motivated unjust factor called the policy against accumulation. Degeling argues that this is an unjust factor of broad application applying to configurations other than that of the carer and the indemnity insurer. This will interest restitution and tort lawyers both academic and practitioner as well as academic institutions and court libraries.

Private Law and Property Claims Peter Jaffey, 2023-10-19

Private Law and Property Claims sets out a distinctive analysis of some general issues in private law including the nature of categories such as contract, tort and property duties and liabilities as the basis of claims in private law and the relationship between primary rights and remedies. In the light of this analysis it offers a new approach to property in private law including claims that arise to protect and recover property. It goes on to discuss the law of trusts, fiduciary relationships and tracing, the remedial role of the trust, the nature of equity as a legal category and the relationship between property and claims in tort to protect property. It also exposes the misconceptions underlying the modern approach to restitution and unjust enrichment and the problems this is causing in private law.

The Goals of Private Law Andrew Robertson, Hang Wu Tang, 2009-11-16

This collection contributes to a fundamentally important set of debates about the nature of private law. The essays consider whether private law should be seen as having goals and if so whether those goals are particular to private as opposed to public law. They consider the legitimacy of the pursuit of community welfare goals in private law and the place of instrumentalist thinking in private law scholarship. They explore the relationship between the pursuit of policy goals and the other influences that shape private law such as the formal values of certainty, consistency and coherence and the need to do justice to the parties to particular disputes. The collection analyses the role that particular policy goals do and should play in particular private law doctrines and contributes to debate about the relationship between community welfare goals and considerations of interpersonal morality arising from the interactions between individuals. The contributors are drawn from across the common law world and offer a diverse range of perspectives on the controversies under consideration.

Epistemology and Method in Law

Geoffrey Samuel, 2016-12-05 This book seeks to question the widely held assumption in Europe that to have knowledge of law is simply to have knowledge of rules There is a knowledge dimension beyond the symbolic which reaches right into the way facts are perceived constructed and deconstructed In support of this thesis the book examines generally the question of what it is to have knowledge of law and this examination embraces not just the conceptual foundations methods taxonomy and theories used by jurists It also examines the epistemological schemes used by social scientists in general in order to show that such schemes are closely related to the schemes of intelligibility used by lawyers and judges UK Public Law and European Law Gordon Anthony, 2002-05-11 Academic attention has in recent years increasingly focused upon the Europeanization of national legal orders The interaction of domestic and supranational standards while often presented as problematic enables national courts to use European law as a reference point against which to develop domestic principle and practice The effects of such borrowing can be far reaching Courts may assume an enhanced institutional role relative to other branches of the State and individuals may benefit from the introduction of new remedies and principles of judicial review This book examines the dynamics of the process whereby UK courts borrow principle and practice from European law It argues that recent internal developments in UK law notably the passage of the Human Rights Act present new possibilities for legal integration Although UK courts have already demonstrated a willingness to use European law creatively the book suggests that integration has been unduly constrained by the previously unincorporated status of the ECHR and by the courts justification for the reception of EU law Focusing in particular on the principles of administrative law applied by courts in judicial review proceedings the book highlights how the emergence of new principles of review has been frustrated by the courts inability to view EU law and the ECHR as part of an interlocking whole The book s central argument therefore is that the Human Rights Act coupled with the more general programme of constitutional reform introduced by New Labour now offers the courts the opportunity to reassess the nature of the interactive relationship that domestic law has with European law UK Public Law and European Law The Dynamics of Legal Integration will be of interest to public lawyers European lawyers and political scientists alike It offers a comprehensive overview of existing jurisprudence dealing with the reception of European law into the domestic order More significantly it places that jurisprudence within the wider context of legal and political change ongoing within and without the United Kingdom The Law of Trusts James E. Penner, 2014 The Core Text Series takes the reader straight to the heart of the subject providing a reliable and invaluable guide for students of law at all levels Written by leading academics and renowned for their clarity these concise texts explain the intellectual challenges of each area of the law The Law of Trusts is an accessible text that skillfully engages with both controversial and complex issues James Penner provides perceptive analysis and original and thought provoking commentary to give students an excellent grounding in what is considered to be a difficult subject Proceedings of the International Conference on Law, Economic & Good Governance (IC-LAW 2023) Abdul Kadir Jaelani, Irwansyah Irwansyah, Fokke Fernhout, Agus enrichment to Anglo Australian case law this study gives a welcome cogent explanation of a complex question Gain-Based Damages James Edelman, 2002-04-19 On July 27 2000 the House of Lords delivered a decision where for the first time in English law it explicitly recognised that damages for civil wrongs can be assessed by reference to a defendant wrongdoer's gain rather than a claimant's loss The circumstances in which such gain based damages might be available were left for development incrementally This book considers the nature of gain based damages and explains when they have historically been available and why and provides a framework for appreciating the operation of such damages awards The first part of the book justifies the existence of these damages which focus upon a defendant wrongdoer's gain made as a result of a civil wrong explaining the nature and need for such a remedy and the scope of civil wrongs The core thesis of the book is that two different forms of such gain based damages exist the first is concerned with restitution of a defendant's gains wrongfully transferred from a claimant the second is concerned only with stripping profits from the defendant's hands Once these two gain based damages awards are separated they can be shown to be based upon different rationales and the basis for their availability can be easily understood The second part of the book considers and applies this approach demonstrating its operation throughout the cases of civil wrongs The operation of the two forms of gain based damages is demonstrated in cases in the area of tort chapter 4 contract chapter 5 equitable wrongs chapter 6 and intellectual property wrongs chapter 7 It is shown that these gain based damages awards have long been available in these areas and their operation has conformed to clear principle The difficulty that has obscured the principle is the nomenclature which has hidden the true gain based nature of many of these damages awards
