Restructuring Telecommunications P. Curwen, 1997-10-27 The first of January 1998 was the deadline for market liberalisation within the European Union which together with the passing of the USA Telecommunications Act has served to open up major markets in the Telecommunications Industry This book examines the changes that have been occurring in the industry in recent years seeking to impose a coherent structure upon a rapidly changing environment It includes case studies of the UK Germany and the USA

The Privatisation of European Telecommunications Johan From, Kjell A. Eliassen, 2017-11-28 This international volume presents a comprehensive comparative study of the transformation of the European telecommunications industry from 1990 to the present The book focuses on the old incumbent operators and their dramatic change from state agencies to listed companies It analyzes the liberalization process as well as the corporatization and privatization of these companies The contributors assess the conditions for the transformations taking place the driving forces for change the effects to management the efforts of the EU during these processes and ultimately the role of the private owner Political science publications have all but excluded analysis of the newly privatized companies their contribution to the liberalization process both before and after privatization and the interplay between the national political and company levels The book redresses this shortcoming and also features a double empirical focus in that the main national incumbents in Europe are analyzed and compared to Telenor the Norwegian former incumbent

The International Telecommunications Regime: Domestic Preferences and Regime Change Juan Ratto-Nielsen, 2009-12-26 This study examines the evolution of the international regime in telecommunications with the main objective of furthering our understanding of the process of regime transformation The dominant theories of international relations realism and institutional liberalism specify how states with shared interests use institutions to realize joint gains and to minimize the possibility of defection But these theories have little to say about when states will attempt to change the objectives that lead them to create the international institution in the first place The main goal of this book is to investigate and test the assumption that domestic politics by themselves can explain the dynamics of regime creation evolution and change as it happened within the International Telecommunications Union ITU
