Institutions on the edge? Michael Keating, 2020-07-25 Australia faces major challenges to its forms of governance Changing expectations from its citizens global pressures on the economy and technological innovation are impacting on government operations Yet most of its institutions were designed a hundred years ago Cabinet government was inherited Parliament was already established in its forms and procedures The federal structure the High Court and the federal public service were created as a consequence The party structure has been effectively frozen since the 1920s and a tradition of handing some responsibilities to arms length organisations was well established So how have these institutions changed over the last hundred years and how well will they adapt to the demands of the modern world Do they have the capacity to adapt appropriately and enable governments to achieve their preferred outcomes In this book experienced academics and practitioners explore these questions They examine each of the institutions in terms of their ability to meet new challenges and provide some hope that Australia's institutions even if at times slow to move and dominated by internal interests have a capacity to adapt and govern effectively The book shows our political institutions in a new light as dynamic often flexible organisms it provides important new insights into the way we are governed and how our system of governance might develop in the future

Community-based Water Law and Water Resource Management Reform in Developing Countries Barbara C. P. Koppen, Mark Giordano, John Butterworth, 2007 The lack of sufficient access to clean water is a common problem faced by communities efforts to alleviate poverty and gender inequality and improve economic growth in developing countries While reforms have been implemented to manage water resources these have taken little notice of how people use and manage their water and have had limited effect at the ground level On the other hand regulations developed within communities are livelihood oriented and provide incentives for collective action but they can also be hierarchal enforcing power and gender inequalities This book shows how bringing together the strengths of community based laws rooted in user participation and the formalized legal systems of the public sector water management regimes will be more able to reach their goals

Report of the Royal Commission on the Poor Laws and Relief of Distress Great Britain. Royal Commission on Poor Laws and Relief of Distress, 1910

The Violence of Law Jens Meierhenrich, 2024-04-30 Lawfare describes the systematic use and abuse of legal procedure for political ends This provocative book examines this insufficiently understood form of warfare in post genocide Rwanda where it contributed to the making of dictatorship Jens Meierhenrich provides a redescription of Rwanda's daring experiment in transitional justice known as inkiko gacaca By dissecting the temporally and structurally embedded mechanisms and processes by which change agents in post genocide Rwanda manoeuvred to create modified legal arrangements of things past Meierhenrich reveals an unexpected jurisprudence of violence Combining nomothetic and ideographic reasoning he shows that the deformation of the gacaca courts and thus the rise of lawfare in post genocide Rwanda was not preordained but the outcome of a violently structured contingency The Violence of Law tells a disturbing tale and will appeal to scholars advanced students and practitioners of international and comparative law African studies and human rights
