Resurgence Of Religious Instruction Conception And Practice In A World Of Change:

Resurgence of Religious Instruction Didier J. Piveteau, J. T. Dillon, 1977 American Catholicism Transformed Joseph P. Chinnici, 2021 Situating the church within the context of post World War II globalization and the Cold War American Catholicism Transformed draws on previously untapped archival sources to provide deep background to developments within the American Catholic Church in relationship to American society at large and Vatican Council II During this time the Catholic community entered a transitional stage in which those on the right and those on the left battled for control of the Church's vision This convergence of international and national forces of renewal and resistance to them will continue to shape the American Catholic community's global identity in the twenty first century Catechesis for the New Evangelization Brian Pedraza, 2020-06-12 Popes Francis Benedict XVI and John Paul II have called the present a time of New Evangelization for the Church and have stressed the importance of catechesis for this mission John Paul II claimed that this renewal of the Church's mission is grounded in the teachings of the Second Vatican Council Nevertheless approaches to catechesis in the conciliar and postconciliar era have varied greatly as evidenced by the shifts in catechetical practice effected by the modern catechetical movement Just as the dominant forms of theology changed from neo scholastic to anthropological approaches so too did catechesis move from catechism based approaches to more anthropological models based upon human experience In light of this context Catechesis for the New Evangelization examines the theological foundations of catechesis in the Church's understanding of divine revelation and its reception by the human person especially as found in the conciliar constitutions Dei Verbum and Gaudium et Spes After drawing norms on divine revelation from these documents it traces the history of the modern catechetical movement in order to compare this history with the conciliar norms highlighting the renewal's strengths and weaknesses These steps prepare the way for the main part of the book an examination of the anthropology of Karol Wojtya a Pope John Paul II Ultimately his anthropology provides an understanding of the person that can unite divine revelation and human experience in a way that takes what is best from the modern catechetical movement while developing the ministry in a way that can be fruitful for the New Evangelization Pedraza's book is not only an incisive look at modern catechetical history and theory It also touches upon some of the most important theological topics of the past century including the neo scholastic crisis the proper interpretation of the Council the relationship of nature and grace and the modern understanding of the imago dei with the research and competency appropriate for scholarly interest and the accessibility needed for educated practitioners in catechesis The Catholic Periodical and Literature Index, 1978 The New Review of Books and Religion, 1979 Horizons, 1980 Functional Images of the Religious Educator Timothy Arthur Lines, 1992 FUNCTIONAL IMAGES OF THE RELIGIOUS EDUCATOR is one of those rare and precious books which helps religious educators explore and clarify their own special identity as religious educators This special identity is revealed in ten basic functional roles which are central to religious education enactment The author shows that while religious educators perform most and possibly all these ten basic functional roles nonetheless one predominates This dominant role plus the way the religious educator harmoniously integrates the other roles into the dominant one is the key to each religious educator s own special identity Subject Catalog Library of Congress,1979 The Church School Journal ,1918 Religious Books and Serials in Print, 1980-1981 ,1980 The Routledge International Handbook of Education, Religion and Values James Arthur,Terence Lovat,2013-08-21 The academic fields of religion and values have become the focus of renewed interest in contemporary thinking about human activity and its motivations The Routledge International Handbook of Education Religion and Values explores and expands upon a range of international research related to this revival The book provides an authoritative overview of global issues in religion and values surveying the state of the academic area in contributions covering a wide range of topics It includes emerging controversial and cutting edge contributions as well as investigations into more established areas International authorities Arthur and Lovat have brought together experts from across the world to examine the complexity of the field of study The handbook is organised around four key topics which focus on both the importance of religion and values as broad fields of human enquiry as well as in their application to education inter agency work and cross cultural endeavours The Conceptual World of Religion and Values Religion and Values in Education Religion and Values in Inter agency Work Religion and Values in Cross cultural Work This comprehensive reference work combines theoretical and empirical research of international significance and will be valuable reading for students researchers and academics in the field of education Christian Education Curriculum for the Digital Generation Jong Soo Park,2015-02-16 This book is about exploring and presenting a model of digital based curriculum for Christian education suitable for the digital ways of learning communicating and thinking Park discusses the limitations of analog based curricula most of current curricula and necessities for digital oriented ones Then he provides a new model of curriculum curriculum as software Curriculum as software is a curricular framework for embracing digital culture like open flat network service centered management interactive communication and offline online hybrid learning space It consists of four spiral stages analysis design simulation and service In the process of designing units 4R Movement a new learning theory is utilized to encourage today s young people to construct their own knowledge after critically analyzing various resources of information 4R embeded courses are implemented in the four movements reflection reinterpretation re formation and re creation Changing Conceptions, Changing Practices Angela Glotfelter,Caitlin Martin,Mandy Olejnik,Ann Updike,Elizabeth Wardle,2022-12-28 Changing Conceptions Changing Practices demonstrates that it is possible for groups of faculty members to change teaching and learning in radical ways across their programs despite the current emphasis on efficiency and accountability Relating the experiences of faculty from disciplines as diverse as art history economics psychology and philosophy this book offers a theory and research based heuristic for helping faculty transform their courses and programs as well as practical examples of the heuristic in action The authors draw on the threshold concepts framework research in writing studies and theories of learning leadership and change to deftly explore why faculty are often stymied in their efforts to design meaningful curricula for deep learning and how carefully scaffolded professional development for faculty teams can help make such change possible This book is a powerful demonstration of how faculty members can be empowered when professional development leaders draw on a range of scholarship that is not typically connected In today s climate courses programs and institutions are often assessed by and rewarded for proxy metrics that have little to do with learning with grave consequences for students The stakes have never been higher particularly for public higher education Faculty members need opportunities to work together using their own expertise and to enact meaningful learning opportunities for students Professional developers have an important role to play in such change efforts WAC scholars and practitioners leaders of professional development and centers for teaching excellence program administrators and curriculum committees from all disciplines and faculty innovators from many fields will find not only hope but also a blueprint for action in Changing Conceptions Changing Practices Contributors Juan Carlos Albarr n Jos Amador Annie Dell Aria Kate de Medeiros Keith Fennen Jordan A Fenton Carrie E Hall Elena Jackson Albarr n Erik N Jensen Vrinda Kalia Janice Kinghorn Jennifer Kinney Sheri Leafgren Elaine Maimon Elaine Miller Gaile Pohlhaus Jr Jennifer J Quinn Barbara J Rose Scott Sander Brian D Schultz Ling Shao L James Smart Pepper Stetler

Arguing Islam after the Revival of Arab Politics Nathan J. Brown, 2016-10-20 For much of its modern history a combination of deep nervousness and profound lack of interest seemed to inhibit or even prevent regular political conversations in the Arab World Public spaces were devoid of political discussions public squares in major cities showed no signs of assemblies for political purposes If one picked up a newspaper one was more likely to read about the comings and goings of officials rather than any sort of comprehensive political coverage In the wake of the Arab Spring newer media and older forms such as the daily newspaper have gradually made it easier for Middle East countries to participate in public debates from a variety of ideological perspectives The state retreat from social welfare commitments have opened opportunities for a host of new informal groups and organizations to operate in areas previously dominated by officially controlled bodies These trends have obviously been noticed by social scientists but scholars who focus on the large scale political changes tend to edge into a celebratory tone the changes are seen as potentially democratizing Arguing Islam after the Revival of Arab Politics presents an understanding the revived forms of Arab politics as they really are and does not speculate about the democratic future these changes could signal In particular this book examines various sites of Arab public life to explore how politics operates Four kinds of public spheres are brought into focus small group discussions that straddle the public private divide such as diwaniyyas in Kuwait or piety groups in Egypt public spaces of assembly such as public squares and mosques media both new and old and parliaments an institution etymologically founded in philosophizing and pontificating rather than legislating Further the author gives due attention to the ways in which these spheres interact to explore how these gradations affirmations and subversions of hierarchy status and power make up the current political landscape of the Middle East The resulting work is one that is able to bridge disciplinary boundaries offering understandings of the new political sphere Designed to speak beyond a scholarly audience this volume will contribute to broader public understandings of Islam in practice and of Arab politics as those who participate in it experience it Journal of Education and School World ,1887
