Rethinking Materiality The Engagement Of Mind With The Material World:

Rethinking Materiality Elizabeth DeMarrais,Chris Gosden,Colin Renfrew,2004 What is the relationship between mind and ideas on the one hand and the material things of the world on the other In recent years researchers have rejected the old debate about the primacy of the mind or material and have sought to establish more nuanced understandings of the ways humans interact with their material worlds In this volume alternative approaches are presented deriving from a wide variety of theoretical perspectives Contributors debate the significance of key thresholds in the human past including sedentism domestication and the emergence of social inequality and their impact on changing patterns of human cognition symbolic expression and technological innovation In its global coverage and its broad theoretical scope this landmark volume offers an innovative and comprehensive assessment of current thinking and future directions Handbook of Archaeological Theories R. Alexander Bentley,Herbert D. G. Maschner,Christopher Chippindale,2008 This handbook a companion to the authoritative Handbook of Archaeological Methods gathers original authoritative articles from leading archaeologists on all aspects of the latest thinking about archaeological theory It is the definitive resource for understanding how to think about archaeology Archaeological Semiotics Robert W. Preucel,2010-04-26 This interdisciplinary book examines archaeology s engagement with semiotics from its early structuralist beginnings to its more recent Peircian encounters It represents the first sustained engagement with Peircian semiotics in archaeology as well as the first discussion of how pragmatic anthropology articulates with anthropological archaeology Its central thesis is that archaeology is a distinctive kind of semiotic enterprise one devoted to giving meaning to the past in the present through the study of materiality It compliments standard studies of linguistics and reformulates contemporary theories of material culture Providing an introduction to Saussure and a review of his legacy across structural symbolic and cognitive anthropology Preucel goes on to present the Peircian alternative and highlights its influence on pragmatic anthropology Of special interest are the discussions of the interrelations of structuralism and processual archaeology poststructuralism and postprocessual archaeologies and cognitive science and cognitive archaeology The author offers two original case studies demonstrating how material culture pragmatically mediates social relations one focusing on the aftermath of the Pueblo Revolt from 1680 1694 and the other on the New England utopian community of Brook Farm from 1842 1846 Throughout his analysis Preucel emphasizes the close links between archaeology and other social sciences But he also contends that archaeology by virtue of the powerful ideological character of the past can open up new spaces for discourse and dialogue about meaning and in the process make a valuable contribution to contemporary semiotics Archaeological Theory Today Ian Hodder,2014-02-27 Now in a revised and updated second edition this volume provides an authoritative account of the current status of archaeological theory as presented by some of its major exponents and innovators over recent decades It summarizes the latest developments in the field and looks to its future exploring some of the cutting edge ideas at the forefront of the discipline The volume captures the diversity of contemporary archaeological theory Some authors argue for an approach close to the natural sciences others for an engagement with cultural debate about representation of the past Some minimize the relevance of culture to societal change while others see it as central some focus on the contingent and the local others on long term evolution While few practitioners in theoretical archaeology would today argue for a unified disciplinary approach the authors in this volume increasingly see links and convergences between their perspectives The volume also reflects archaeology's new openness to external influences as well as the desire to contribute to wider debates The contributors examine ways in which archaeological evidence contributes to theories of evolutionary psychology as well as to the social sciences in general where theories of social relationships agency landscape and identity are informed by the long term perspective of archaeology The new edition of Archaeological Theory Today will continue to be essential reading for students and scholars in archaeology and in the social sciences more generally A Guide to Classics and Cognitive Studies Anna A. Novokhatko, 2024-12-02

Readers of this book receive an overview of the main perspectives and research of recent decades in the fruitful collaboration between Classics and Cognitive studies It is intended as a stocktaking of various branches of Classics such as literary criticism and poetics linguistics ancient history and archaeology Four major research areas or clusters have been chosen for the presentation of the chapters Chapter one discusses recent studies of cognitive materiality and material agency in relation to the human mind chapter two the so called spatial turn and cognition and the perception of space in place in relation to antiquity chapter three imagination and vision and cognitive approaches to seeing while chapter four considers experience and experientiality and the sensory turn as applied to ancient sources Finally the fifth chapter is a special case and a different medium it consists of three interviews with three well known pioneers of the study of emotions in antiquity David Konstan Angelos Chaniotis and Douglas Cairns who in various direct and indirect ways have greatly influenced the interplay and dialogue between classical studies and cognitive approaches in recent decades This book takes stock of a rapidly developing and highly controversial field that is currently in full bloom Human-Animal Relations in Bronze Age Crete

Andrew Shapland, 2022-05-12 Archaeologists have long admired the naturalistic animal art of Minoan Crete often explaining it in terms of religion or a love of the natural world In this book Andrew Shapland provides a new way of understanding animal depictions from Bronze Age Crete as the outcome of human animal relations Drawing on approaches from anthropology and Human Animal Studies he explores the stylistic development of animal depictions in different media including frescoes ceramics stone vessels seals and wall paintings and explains them in terms of animal practices such as bull leaping hunting fishing and collecting Integrating zooarchaeological finds Shapland highlights the significance of objects and their associated human animal relations in the history of the palaces sanctuaries and tombs of Bronze Age Crete His volume demonstrates how looking at animals opens up new perspectives on familiar sites such as Knossos and some of the most famous objects of this time and place Animals and Sacred Bodies in Early Medieval Ireland John Soderberg, 2022-01-04

Clonmacnoise was among the busiest most economically complex and intensely sacred places in early medieval Ireland In Animals and Sacred Bodies in Early Medieval Ireland Religion and Urbanism at Clonmacnoise John Soderberg argues that animals are the key to understanding Clonmacnoise s development as a thriving settlement and a sacred space At this sanctuary city on the River Shannon animal bodies were an essential source of food and raw materials They were also depicted extensively on religious objects Drawing from new theories about the intersections between religion and economics John Soderberg explores how transformations emerging from animal encounters made Clonmacnoise a sacred settlement and created the sacred bodies of early medieval Ireland

Animal Matter Nawa Sugiyama,2024 Animal Matter uses primary excavation zooarchaeological and isotope data from the study of nearly 200 jaguars pumas wolves rattlesnakes and golden eagles that were sacrificed or offered to the Moon Pyramid of Teotihuacan 1 550 AD to take readers on a journey through the complex entanglements of ritual performances that were part of the process of sovereignty for this ancient city

The Artificial Ape Timothy Taylor,2010-07-20 A breakthrough theory that tools and technology are the real drivers of human evolution Although humans are one of the great apes along with chimpanzees gorillas and orangutans we are remarkably different from them Unlike our cousins who subsist on raw food spend their days and nights outdoors and wear a thick coat of hair humans are entirely dependent on artificial things such as clothing shelter and the use of tools and would die in nature without them Yet despite our status as the weakest ape we are the masters of this planet Given these inherent deficits how did humans come out on top In this fascinating new account of our origins leading archaeologist Timothy Taylor proposes a new way of thinking about human evolution through our relationship with objects Drawing on the latest fossil evidence Taylor argues that at each step of our species development humans made choices that caused us to assume greater control of our evolution Our appropriation of objects allowed us to walk upright lose our body hair and grow significantly larger brains As we push the frontiers of scientific technology creating prosthetics intelligent implants and artificially modified genes we continue a process that started in the prehistoric past when we first began to extend our powers through objects Weaving together lively discussions of major discoveries of human skeletons and artifacts with a reexamination of Darwin s theory of evolution Taylor takes us on an exciting and challenging journey that begins to answer the fundamental question about our existence what makes humans unique and what does that mean for our future

Ancient Maya Political Dynamics Antonia E. Foias,2025-05-15 An exploration using research from the Maya site Motul de San Jose in Guatemala of how political structures and dynamics have been examined by political anthropologists and archaeologists over the last century

Eurasia at the Dawn of History Manuel Fernández-Götz,Dirk Krausse,2017-01-16 Our current world is characterized by life in cities the existence of social inequalities and increasing individualization When and how did these phenomena arise What was the social and economic background for the development of hierarchies and the first cities The authors of this volume analyze the processes of centralization cultural interaction and social differentiation that led to the development of the first urban centres and early state formations of ancient Eurasia from the Atlantic coasts to China The chronological framework spans a period from the Neolithic to the Late Iron Age with a special focus on the early first millennium BC By adopting an interdisciplinary approach structured around the concepts of identity and materiality this book addresses the appearance of a range of key phenomena that continue to shape our world

On Practice and Institution Michael Lounsbury, Deborah A. Anderson, Paul Spee, 2021-01-12 The concepts of practice and institution are of longstanding importance across the social sciences that have been too disconnected Bringing together novel theoretical statements and empirical studies that bridge these social worlds these two volumes provide a major touchstone for scholars interested in the study of practice and institution

Museum Objects Sandra H. Dudley, 2012 Museum Objects provides a set of readings that together create a distinctive emphasis and perspective on the objects which lie at the heart of interpretive practice in museums material culture studies and everyday life This reader brings together classic and up to date texts on the nature and definition of the object itself the senses and embodied experience of objects No other volume brings together such perspectives in this way and no other volume includes such a focus on the museum context Museum Objects incorporates both theorised and more practical readings from a range of international academic and contextual perspectives The overall result is a definitive set of readings that offers a comprehensive understanding of objects and their place within the museum context

Death Rituals and Social Order in the Ancient World Colin Renfrew, Michael J. Boyd, Iain Morley, 2016 This volume with essays by leading archaeologists and prehistorians considers how prehistoric humans attempted to recognise understand and conceptualise death

Engaging Transculturality Laila Abu-Er-Rub, Christiane Brosius, Sebastian Meurer, Diamantis Panagiotopoulos, Susan Richter, 2019-03-07 Engaging Transculturality is an extensive and comprehensive survey of the rapidly developing field of transcultural studies In this volume the reflections of a large and interdisciplinary array of scholars have been brought together to provide an extensive source of regional and trans regional competencies and a systematic and critical discussion of the field s central methodological concepts and terms Based on a wide range of case studies the book is divided into twenty seven chapters across which cultural social and political issues relating to transculturality from Antiquity to today and within both Asian and European regions are explored Key terms related to the field of transculturality are also discussed within each chapter and the rich variety of approaches provided by the contributing authors offer the reader an expansive look into the field of transculturality Offering a wealth of expertise and equipped with a selection of illustrations this book will be of interest to scholars and students from a variety of fields within the Humanities and Social Sciences

Minds on Stage Felix Budelmann, Ineke Sluiter, 2023-04-26 Greek tragedy parades tests stimulates and upends human cognition Characters plot deception try to fathom elusive gods and fail to recognise loved ones Spectators observe the characters cognitive limitations and contemplate their own grapple with moral quandaries and emotional breakdown overlay mythical past and topical present and all the while imagine that a man with a mask is Helen of

Troy With broad coverage of both plays and cognitive capabilities Minds on Stage pursues a dual aim to expand our understanding of Greek tragedy and to use Greek tragedy as a focal point for exploring cognitive thinking about literature After an introduction that considers questions of methodology the volume is divided into three parts Part One examines the dynamics of mind reading by characters and audience with articles on Aeschylus Sophocles and Euripides The chapters in Part Two study aspects of the characters cognitive sense making from individual styles of attributing causes and different manners of remembering to the use of objects as tools for thinking Finally Part Three turns to the cognitive dimension of spectating The articles treat the spectators generic expectations and different modes of engagement with the fictional worlds of the plays the joint nature of their attention to the drama the nexus between aesthetic illusion and the ethics of deception as well as the situated nature of cognition that helps both audiences and characters make sense of morally complex situations

Future Thinking in Roman Culture Maggie L. Popkin, Diana Y. Ng, 2021-12-30 Future Thinking in Roman Culture is the first volume dedicated to the exploration of prospective memory and future thinking in the Roman world integrating cutting edge research in cognitive sciences and theory with approaches to historiography epigraphy and material culture This volume opens a new avenue of investigation for Roman memory studies in presenting multiple case studies of memory and commemoration as future thinking phenomena It breaks new ground by bringing classical studies into direct dialogue with recent research on cognitive processes of future thinking The thematically linked but methodologically diverse contributions all by leading scholars who have published significant work in memory studies of antiquity both cultural and cognitive make the volume well suited for classical studies scholars and students seeking to explore cognitive science and philosophy of mind in ancient contexts with special appeal to those sharing the growing interest in investigating Roman conceptions of futurity and time The chapters all deliberately coalesce around the central theme of prospection and future thinking and their impact on our understanding of Roman ritual and religion politics and individual motivation and intention This volume will be an invaluable resource to undergraduate and postgraduate students of classics art history archaeology history and religious studies as well as scholars and students of memory studies historical and cultural cognitive studies psychology and philosophy

Entangled Ian Hodder, 2012-05-08 A powerful and innovative argument that explores the complexity of the human relationship with material things demonstrating how humans and societies are entrapped into the maintenance and sustaining of material worlds Argues that the interrelationship of humans and things is a defining characteristic of human history and culture Offers a nuanced argument that values the physical processes of things without succumbing to materialism Discusses historical and modern examples using evolutionary theory to show how long standing entanglements are irreversible and increase in scale and complexity over time Integrates aspects of a diverse array of contemporary theories in archaeology and related natural and biological sciences Provides a critical review of many of the key contemporary perspectives from materiality material culture studies and phenomenology to evolutionary theory
