Rethinking Teacher Education:

Rethinking Teacher Education Anne Edwards, Peter Gilroy, David Hartley, 2005-07-08 Rethinking Teacher Education is a thorough and critical analysis of the ambivalences and uncertainties that face those in teacher education. The authors draw on their different experiences of teacher education to try to make sense of current practices and where they might lead. The book analyzes past and present constructions of teacher education and offers insights into how a re-evaluation might address teachers' positions in relation to knowledge, learners, economic demands and democratic values. The issues addressed include political and economic uncertainty and teacher education, philosophical uncertainty and teacher education, modernist policy solutions, psychology, an agent of modernity in teacher education, sociocultural and other collaborative responses to uncertainty. The book will be of interest to all those involved in teacher education, including sociologists, psychologists and philosophers of education. Rethinking Teacher Education David Hopkins, Ken Reid, 2012 Rethinking Teacher Education for the 21st Century

Rethinking Teacher Education David Hopkins, Ken Reid, 2012 In recent years there has been a new mood in teacher education The emphasis is on professional studies on encouraging trainee teachers to think intelligently about how to tackle problems of the classroom This book surveys the developments which are taking it further in both Britain and North America It goes on to argue the case for consolidating the new approach in a thoughtful structured and comprehensive way It argues that teacher education should be regarded as a discipline in its own right that teacher education should be increasingly school focused and problem centered that it needs to blend theory more effectively with practice It argues that teacher training programmes should prepare teachers for an uncertain future in a changing world This calls for an emphasis on process rather than content in programmes and the preparing of teachers who are self directed

Redesigning Teacher Education Alan R. Tom,1997-09-25 Alan Tom is among the best at relating important issues in teacher education and a critical reading of the literature with his own professional experience This book is ambitious It lives up to the claim of examining political and institutional problems along with conceptual and intellectual ones This is something few teacher educators attempt and is a critical area to open up for sustained analysis Drawing upon events from his career as a teacher educator Alan R Tom candidly analyzes the predominant criticisms of teacher education and rejects the common tendency to infer the teacher education curriculum from such ideas as metaphors for teaching or knowledge He proposes eleven design principles to serve as a reform agenda including creating programs capable of self renewal having faculty model the desired image and skills of teaching and rethinking the sequence of practice and theory Each principle identifies a differing dimension for the conceptual and structural redesign of teacher preparation Four specific change strategies are evaluated as well task force top down piloting and family style The low status of teacher educators and the excessive regulation of teacher education are also examined as is the failure to give adequate attention to the administrative organization for teacher education

Toward a Framework of Resources for Learning to Teach Lauren Gatti,2016-08-19 This book advances a new framework for learning to teach using in depth case studies to show how learning to teach in any type of program can best be understood as a recursive and dynamic process wherein teachers differentially access programmatic relational experiential disciplinary and dispositional resources In the last twenty years debates in the field of teacher preparation have increasingly become paralyzing and divisive as rhetoric around the failure of university teacher preparation intensifies The author addresses the historical and practical factors that animate these debates arguing that novice teachers and teacher educators must understand the central conflicts in the field however the book also advances a way of approaching learning to teach that accounts for but does not get stuck at the level of programmatic designation Using lively in depth case studies the author shows how novice urban English teachers from two different teacher preparation pathways a university based program and an urban teacher residency learn to teach within a policy context of high stakes testing and college readiness
