Rethinking Family School Relations A Critique Of Parental Involvement In Schooling:

Rethinking Family-school Relations Maria Eulina P. de Carvalho, 2000 This book addresses the complications and implications of parental involvement as a policy through an exploratory theoretical approach including historical and sociological accounts and personal reflection This approach represents the author's effort to understand the origins meanings and effects of parental involvement as a prerequisite of schooling and particularly as a policy solution for low achievement and even inequity in the American educational system Most of the policy and research discourse on school family relations exalts the partnership ideal taking for granted its desirability and viability the perspective of parents on specific involvement in instruction and the conditions of diverse families in fulfilling their appointed role in the partnership De Carvalho takes a distinct stance She argues that the partnership parental ideal neglects several major factors It proclaims parental involvement as a means to enhance and perhaps equalize school outcomes but disregards how family material and cultural conditions and feelings about schooling differ according to social class thus the partnership parental involvement ideal is more likely to be a projection of the model of upper middle class suburban community schooling than an open invitation for diverse families to recreate schooling Although it appeals to the image of the traditional community school the pressure for more family educational accountability really overlooks history as well as present social conditions Finally family school relations are relations of power but most families are powerless De Carvalho makes the case that two linked effects of this policy are the gravest the imposition of a particular parenting style and intrusion into family life and the escalation of educational inequality Rethinking Family School Relations A Critique of Parental Involvement in Schooling a carefully researched and persuasively argued work is essential reading for all school professionals parents and individuals concerned with public schooling and educational equality

Rethinking Family-school Relations Maria Eulina de Carvalho, 2000-10 This book addresses the complications and implications of parental involvement as a policy through an exploratory theoretical approach including historical and sociological accounts and personal reflection This approach represents the author's effort to understand the origins meanings and effects of parental involvement as a prerequisite of schooling and particularly as a policy solution for low achievement and even inequity in the American educational system Most of the policy and research discourse on school family relations exalts the partnership ideal taking for granted its desirability and viability the perspective of parents on specific involvement in instruction and the conditions of diverse families in fulfilling their appointed role in the partnership De Carvalho takes a distinct stance She argues that the partnership parental ideal neglects several major factors It proclaims parental involvement as a means to enhance and perhaps equalize school outcomes but disregards how family material and cultural conditions and feelings about schooling differ according to social class thus the partnership parental involvement ideal is more likely to be a projection of the model of upper middle class suburban community schooling than an open invitation for diverse families to recreate schooling Although it appeals to the image of the traditional community school the pressure for more family educational accountability really overlooks history as well as present social conditions Finally family school relations are relations of power but most families are powerless De Carvalho makes the case that two linked effects of this policy are the gravest the imposition of a particular parenting style and intrusion into family life and the escalation of educational inequality Rethinking Family School Relations A Critique of Parental Involvement in Schooling a carefully researched and persuasively argued work is essential reading for all school professionals parents and individuals concerned with public schooling and educational equality Parental Involvement

Critical Social Issues in American Education H. Svi Shapiro, 2004-09-22 This text reader brings together powerful readings that critically situate issues of education in the context of the major cultural moral political economic ecological and spiritual crises that confront us as a nation and a global community It provides a focus and a conceptual framework for thinking about education in light of these issues Readers are exposed to the thinking of some of the best and most insightful social and educational commentators Critical Social Issues in American Education Democracy and Meaning in a Globalizing World Third Edition is intended to work on two levels First it helps readers to develop an awareness of how education is connected to the wider social structures of cultural political and economic life Second it encourages not only a critical examination of our present social reality but also a serious discussion of alternatives of what a transformed society and educational process might look like The editors goal is to deliberately engage readers in connecting the work of teachers to an ethically committed politically charged pedagogy The assumption on which they base the text is that educators must see their work as inextricably linked to the broader conflicts stresses and crises of the social world it is not otherwise possible to make sense of what is happening educationally What happens in school or as part of the educational experience reflects expresses and mediates profound questions about the direction and nature of the society we inhabit The text is organized thematically into five sections which address respectively social justice and democracy consumerism culture and public education marginality and difference moral and spiritual perspectives on education and globalization and education Each section is preceded by a brief essay that introduces the readings This Third Edition includes many new readings and addresses issues that have more recently emerged as especially significant such as concerns about the implications of globalization and the post 9 11 world commercialism violence and the ever increasing influence of high stakes testing This compelling text is relevant for a wide range of courses in educational foundations educational policy curriculum studies and multicultural education that address the social context of education cultural and political change and public policy

Multicultural Families, Home Literacies, and Mainstream Schooling Guofang Li, 2009-02-01 Lack of knowledge about immigrant and minority students learning outside school has contributed to the difficulties educators encounter when trying to embrace cultural diversity Many educators do not have the knowledge base about immigrant and minority children s culturally specific ways of learning in nonschool settings Given the changing cultural landscapes in today s schools we have an imperative to develop more situated understandings of immigrant and minority children s literacy learning experiences embedded in the social and cultural fabrics of their everyday lives outside school This volume of research meets this important need in the field It not only focuses on the complexity of literacy learning in diverse home contexts but also examines how literacy is practiced and lived in multiple ways within families of various backgrounds including those of Asian African and African American Hispanic White European and mixed heritages In addition it explores how these various culturally embedded home practices will inform school education and policy making in a larger socio political context The book makes an original and significant contribution to the fields of literacy education and school home and community partnerships Since immigrant and minority families literacy activities and the cultural contexts of their practices at home are not readily accessible to school personnel program developers policy makers or even researchers and educators this book will serve as an important resource for teachers practitioners undergraduate and graduate students teacher educators and university researchers who are in the fields of literacy education family literacy and new literacy studies minority and or immigrant education and second language education

American Education Joel Spring, 2015-08-14 Joel Spring's American Education introduces readers to the historical political social and legal foundations of education and to the profession of teaching in the United States In his signature straightforward and concise approach to describing complex issues Spring illuminates events and topics and that are often overlooked or whitewashed giving students the opportunity to engage in critical thinking about education In this edition he looks closely at the global context of education in the U S Featuring current information and challenging perspectives with scholarship that is often cited as a primary source students will come away from this clear authoritative text informed on the latest topics issues and data and with a strong knowledge of the forces shaping of the American educational system Changes in the 17th Edition include new and updated material and statistics on economic theories related to skills education and employability the conflict between a skills approach and cultural diversity political differences regarding education among the Republican Democratic Libertarian and Green parties social mobility and equality of opportunity as related to schooling global migration and student diversity in US schools charter schools and home schooling

Math Education for America? Mark Wolfmeyer, 2013-12-04 Math Education for America analyzes math education policy through the social network of individuals and private and public organizations that influence it in the United States The effort to standardize a national mathematics curriculum for public schools in the U S culminated in 2010 when over 40 states adopted the Common Core State Standards for Mathematics Rather than looking at the text of specific policy documents this book complements existing critical reviews of the national math education curriculum by employing a unique social network analysis Breaking new ground in detailing and theorizing the politics of math education Wolfmeyer argues that the private interests of this network are closely tied to a web of interrelated developments human capital education policy debates over traditional and reform pedagogy the assumed content knowledge deficit of math teachers and the proliferation of profit driven educational businesses By establishing the interconnectedness of these interests with the national math education curriculum he shows how the purported goals of math education reform are aligned with the prevailing political agendas of this social network rather than the national interest      Knowledge & Power in the Global Economy David

Gabbard, 2017-07-05 Advancing a three fold political agenda this volume illuminates how the meanings assigned to a whole vocabulary of words and phrases frequently used to discuss the role and reform of U S public schools reflect an essentially economic view of the world contends that education or educational reform conducted under an economized worldview will only intensify the effects of the colonial relations of political and economic domination that it breeds at home and abroad and offers a set of alternative concepts and meanings for reformulating the role of U S public schools and for considering the implications of such a reformulation more generally for the underlying premises of all human relationships and activities Toward these ends the authors in Part I critically examine many of the most commonly used terms within the rhetoric of educational reform since the early 1980s and before Part II links today s economized worldview to curricular and instructional issues These essays are especially important for comprehending how the organization of school curriculum privileges those disciplines deemed most central to market expansion math and science and how the political centrality of the economic sphere influences the nature of the knowledge presented in specific content areas Given that language constrains as well as advances human thought the twin tasks of de economizing education and decolonizing society will require a vocabulary that transcends the familiar terminologies addressed in Parts I and II The entries in Part III cultivate the beginnings of such a vocabulary as the authors elucidate innovative concepts which they view as central to the creation of truly alternative educational visions and practices      U.S. Latinos and Education Policy Pedro R. Portes, Spencer

Salas, Patricia Baquedano-López, Paula J. Mellom, 2014-03-14 With the American dream progressively elusive for and exclusive of Latinos there is an urgent need for empirically and conceptually based macro level policy solutions for Latino education Going beyond just exposing educational inequalities this volume provides intelligent and pragmatic research based policy directions and tools for change for U S Latino Education and other multicultural contexts U S Latinos and Education Policy is organized round three themes education as both product and process of social and historical events and practices the experiences of young immigrants in schools in both U S and international settings and policy approaches to address their needs and situated perspectives on learning among immigrant students across school home and community With contributions from leading scholars including Luis Moll Eugene E Garcia Richard P Dur n Sonia Nieto Angela Valenzuela Alejandro Portes and Barbara Flores this volume enhances existing discussions by showcasing how researchers working both within and in collaboration with Latino communities have employed multiple analytic frameworks illustrating how current scholarship and culturally oriented theory can serve equity oriented practice and focusing attention on ethnicity in context and in relation to the interaction of developmental and cultural factors The theoretical and methodological perspectives integrate praxis research from multiple disciplines and apply this research directly to policy      Wheels in the Head Joel

Spring,2012-08-21 In this popular text Joel Spring provocatively analyzes the ideas of traditional and non traditional philosophies from Confucianism to human rights regarding the contribution of education to the creation of a democratic society The goal is to explore how governments use education to control and manage their populations and to examine forms of education that claim to free people from authoritarian control A critically original work it is widely used as a text for courses on philosophical social political and historical foundations of education and critical issues in education Reflecting its global relevance a Chinese translation was published by the University of Peking Press in 2005 New in the third edition Expanded analysis of the use of education by authoritarian states Revisions to more clearly relate educational ideas to the theme of wheels in the head a phrase coined by philosopher Max Stirner to describe the use of schools by modern governments to control their citizens New sections on liberation education and on human rights education Improving

Urban Schools: Leadership And Collaboration Ainscow, Mel,West, Mel,2006-03-01 Drawing on research evidence Improving Urban Schools addresses the question of how primary and secondary urban schools can be improved in a more inclusive way The authors argue that urban schools and their communities have within them expertise that tends to be overlooked and latent creativity that should be mobilised to move thinking and progress forward They show that new approaches to leadership various forms of collaborative school to school partnerships and major changes in national policy development are needed to make use of this untapped energy The SAGE Handbook of African American Education Linda C.
