Roman Activity:

Roman Activity Book Sue Weatherill, Steve Weatherill, 2006 Step back in time with this brilliant activity book It s packed with fascinating historical ideas for things to do and make Page 4 of cover Late Roman Towns in Britain Adam Rogers, 2011-03-28 In this book Adam Rogers examines the late Roman phases of towns in Britain Critically analysing the archaeological notion of decline he focuses on public buildings which played an important role administrative and symbolic within urban complexes Arguing against the interpretation that many of these monumental civic buildings were in decline or abandoned in the later Roman period he demonstrates that they remained purposeful spaces and important centres of urban life Through a detailed assessment of the archaeology of late Roman towns this book argues that the archaeological framework of decline does not permit an adequate and comprehensive understanding of the towns during this period Moving beyond the idea of decline this book emphasises a longer term perspective for understanding the importance of towns in the later Roman period Romans in Britain , Intelligence Activities in Ancient Rome Rose Mary Sheldon, 2004-12-16 Professor Sheldon uses the modern concept of the intelligence cycle to trace intelligence activities in Rome whether they were done by private citizens the government or the military Examining a broad range of activities the book looks at the many types of espionage tradecraft that have left their traces in the ancient sources intelligence and counterintelligence gathering covert action clandestine operations the use of codes and ciphers Dispelling the myth that such activities are a modern invention Professor Sheldon explores how these ancient spy stories have modern echoes as well What is the role of an intelligence service in a free republic When do the security needs of the state outweigh the rights of the citizen If we cannot trust our own security services how safe can we be Although protected by the Praetorian Guard seventy five percent of Roman emperors died by assassination or under attack by pretenders to his throne Who was guarding the guardians For students of Rome and modern social studies too this will provide a fascinating read The Quest for the Lost Roman Legions Tony Clunn, 2022-05-20 The story of an ancient ambush that devastated Rome and the modern day hunt that finally revealed its location and its archaeological treasures In 9 A D the seventeenth eighteenth nineteenth Roman legions and their auxiliary troops under the command of Publius Quinctilius Varus vanished in the boggy wilds of Germania They died singly and by the hundreds over several days in a carefully planned ambush led by Arminius a Roman trained German warrior adopted and subsequently knighted by the Romans but determined to stop Rome s advance east beyond the Rhine River By the time it was over some 25 000 men women and children were dead and the course of European history had been forever altered Quinctilius Varus give me back my legions Emperor Augustus agonized aloud when he learned of the devastating loss As decades passed the location of the Varus defeat one of the Western world s most important battlefields was lost to history It remained so for two millennia Fueled by an unshakable curiosity and burning interest in the story a British Major named J A S Tony Clunn delved into the nooks and crannies of times past By sheer persistence and good luck

he turned the foundation of German national history on its ear Convinced the running battle took place north of Osnabruck Germany Clunn set out to prove his point His discovery of large numbers of Roman coins in the late 1980s followed by a flood of thousands of other artifacts including weapons and human remains ended the mystery once and for all Archaeologists and historians across the world agreed Today a state of the art museum houses and interprets these priceless historical treasures on the very site Varus s legions were lost The Quest for the Lost Roman Legions is a masterful retelling of Clunn s search to discover the Varus battlefield His well paced and vivid writing style makes for a compelling read as he alternates between his incredible modern quest and the ancient tale of the Roman occupation of Germany based upon actual finds from the battlefield that ultimately ended so tragically in the peat bogs of Kalkriese

Breeze,2013-10-10 Hadrian s Wall and the Antonine Wall defined the edge of the Roman Empire in Britain Today the spectacular remains of these great frontier works stand as mute testimony to one of the greatest empires the world has ever seen This new accessible account illustrated with 25 detailed photographs maps and plans describes the building of the walls and reconstructs what life was like on the frontier It places these frontiers into their context both in Britain and Europe examining the development of frontier installations over four centuries Designed for students and teachers of Ancient History or Classical Civilisation at school and in early university years this series provides a valuable collection of guides to the history art literature values and social institutions of the ancient world      Roman rule in Greek and Latin Writing Jesper Majbom Madsen,Roger David Rees,2014-07-03 Roman Rule in Greek and Latin Writing explores the ways in which Greek and Latin writers from the late 1st to the 3rd century CE experienced and portrayed Roman cultural institutions and power The central theme is the relationship between cultures as reflected in Greek and Latin authors responses to Roman power in practice the collection revisits the orthodoxy of two separate intellectual groups differentiated as much by cultural and political agenda as by language The book features specialists in Greek and Roman literary and intellectual culture it gathers papers on a variety of authors across several literary genres and through this spectrum makes possible an informed and detailed comparison of Greek and Latin literary views of Roman power in various manifestations including military religion law and politics      Bronze Age Monuments and Bronze Age, Iron Age, Roman and Anglo-Saxon Landscapes at Cambridge Road, Bedford Andy Chapman,Pat

Chapman,2017-06-30 Presents the results of open area excavations on 14 45ha of land at Cambridge Road Bedford carried out in 2004 5 in advance of development      Clash of Cultures? Roger White,Mike Hodder,2018-02-21 The general perception of the west midlands region in the Roman period is that it was a backwater compared to the militarized frontier zone of the north or the south of Britain where Roman culture took root early in cities like Colchester London and St Albans and lingered late at cities like Cirencester and Bath with their rich late Roman villa culture The west midlands region captures the transition between these two areas of the military north and civilized south Where it differed and why are important questions in understanding the regional diversity of Roman Britain They are addressed by this volume which details the archaeology of the Roman period for each of the modern counties of the region written by local experts who are or have been responsible for the management and exploration of their respective counties These are placed alongside more thematic takes on elements of Roman culture including the Roman Army pottery coins and religion Lastly an overview is taken of the important transitional period of the fifth and sixth centuries Each paper provides both a developed review of the existing state of knowledge and understanding of the key characteristics of the subject area and details a set of research objectives for the future immediate and long term that will contribute to our evolving understanding of Roman Britain This is the third volume in a series The Making of the West Midlands that explores the archaeology of the English west midlands region from the Lower Palaeolithic onwards Ol' Man River Morgan De Dapper, 2009 This volume contains the selected proceedings of a multidisciplinary conference Ghent 2006 which stimulated looking at landscape evolution from the times of early human involvement in nature to much more recent historical developments The Wessex Hillforts Project Andrew Payne, Mark Corney, Barry Cunliffe, 2014-06-15 The earthwork forts that crown many hills in Southern England are among the largest and most dramatic of the prehistoric features that still survive in our modern rural landscape The Wessex Hillforts Survey collected wide ranging data on hillfort interiors in a three year partnership between the former Ancient Monuments Laboratory of English Heritage and Oxford University These defended enclosures occupied from the end of the Bronze Age to the last few centuries before the Roman conquest have long attracted archaeological interest and their function remains central to study of the Iron Age The communal effort and high degree of social organisation indicated by hillforts feeds debate about whether they were strongholds of Celtic chiefs communal centres of population or temporary gathering places occupied seasonally or in times of unrest Yet few have been extensively examined archaeologically Using non invasive methods the survey enabled more elaborate distinctions to be made between different classes of hillforts than has hitherto been possible The new data reveals not only the complexity of the archaeological record preserved inside hillforts but also great variation in complexity among sites Survey of the surrounding countryside revealed hillforts to be far from isolated features in the later prehistoric landscape Many have other less visible forms of enclosed settlement in close proximity Others occupy significant meeting points of earlier linear ditch systems and some appear to overlie or be located adjacent to blocks of earlier prehistoric field systems Transforming Townscapes Neil Christie, 2017-12-02 This monograph details the results of a major archaeological project based on and around the historic town of Wallingford in south Oxfordshire Founded in the late Saxon period as a key defensive and administrative focus next to the Thames the settlement also contained a substantial royal castle established shortly after the Norman Conquest The volume traces the pre town archaeology of Wallingford and then analyses the town's physical and social evolution assessing defences churches housing markets material culture coinage communications and hinterland Core questions running through the volume relate to the roles of the River Thames and of royal power in shaping Wallingford's fortunes and identity and in explaining the town's severe and early decline Archaeological Excavations at Holme Hall Quarry, South Yorkshire Francis M. Morris, 2025-01-23 This volume documents the results from large scale archaeological investigations at Holme Hall Quarry on the Magnesian Limestone ridge South Yorkshire The main occupation of the site occurred during the Roman period when two rural farmsteads were constructed and a field system with associated droveways and enclosures imposed across the landscape From Coast to Fen: Archaeology in a Dynamic Landscape Claire Christie, Joshua T. Hogue, 2025-07-18 Excavations across East Lincolnshire reveal prehistoric Iron Age Roman and post medieval settlements saltmaking and industrial activity shaped by changing landscapes The area between Anderby Creek and Bicker Fen Lincolnshire to the west of the Lincolnshire Wolds represents a dynamic landscape both in terms of its natural and human aspects This volume presents the results of an extensive programme of archaeological excavation undertaken by Headland Archaeology UK Ltd and Allen Archaeology Ltd from 2018 to 2019 where a total of 15 sites were excavated The excavations uncovered a panoply of remains spanning the prehistoric through to modern periods providing important insights into changing patterns of occupation and the way this diverse landscape was utilised As evidenced through the archaeological works the area saw limited activity during the early prehistoric period in part reflecting the prevailing environmental conditions in which most of the area was inundated Among the earliest recorded finds was an enigmatic middle Bronze Age timber structure as well as a copper alloy axe During the Roman period there is evidence for an expansion in activity across the Scheme with formerly inundated areas becoming accessible Activity within the northern half of the Scheme was focused upon salt production Two of these sites were dated to the late Roman period contrary to the prevailing notion that the salt industry in this region had declined by the mid 2nd century AD Within the southern half of the Scheme were several Roman farmsteads some featuring timber buildings Notable among these was an unusual post built moated structure From these sites a range of artefactual and environmental data was collected providing important insights into the nature of agricultural regimes Evidence of medieval and post medieval activity was also uncovered providing important insights into the development of rural settlement against a backdrop of landscape and environmental changes Evidence of late to post medieval clay extraction and brick manufacture was also identified

Regional Dynamics Burgundian Landscapes in Historical Perspective Carole Crumley, 2013-10-24 Regional Dynamics Burgundian Landscapes in Historical Perspective challenges traditional practices and approaches to regional studies by anthropologists and economic geographers This book attempts to incorporate various fields such as natural sciences social sciences and humanities for a more comprehensive framework in regional studies A region that has historical record of depth i e Burgundy France is chosen for this book The book begins with a chapter on theories that critique the past approaches to regional studies and introduces relevant concepts covered in the book such as landscape sociohistorical structures heterarchy etc The following chapters focus on the physical structures of the region the archaeological excavations settlement and land use during the Iron Age and Gallo Roman times multiscalar research design and Roman period beginning from its conquest until the Middle Ages A summary of important themes is given in the last chapter This book caters to many students and professionals in various fields like anthropology geography archeology history economics and ecology

Romano-British Settlement and Cemeteries at Mucking Sam Lucy, Christopher Evans, 2016-11-30 Excavations at Mucking Essex between 1965 and 1978 revealed extensive evidence for a multiphase rural Romano British settlement perhaps an estate center and five associated cemetery areas 170 burials with different burial areas reserved for different groups within the settlement The settlement demonstrated clear continuity from the preceding

Iron Age occupation with unbroken sequences of artefacts and enclosures through the first century AD followed by rapid and extensive remodeling which included the laying out a Central Enclosure and an organized water supply with wells accompanied by the start of large scale pottery production After the mid second century AD the Central Enclosure was largely abandoned and settlement shifted its focus more to the Southern Enclosure system with a gradual decline though the 3rd and 4th centuries although continued burial pottery and artefactual deposition indicate that a form of settlement continued possibly with some low level pottery production Some of the latest Roman pottery was strongly associated with the earliest Anglo Saxon style pottery suggesting the existence of a terminal Roman settlement phase that essentially involved an Anglo Saxon community Given recent revisions of the chronology for the early Anglo Saxon period this casts an intriguing light on the transition with radical implications for understandings of this period Each of the cemetery areas was in use for a considerable length of time Taken as a whole Mucking was very much a component place complex it was its respective parts that fostered its many cemeteries whose diverse rites reflect the variability and roles of the settlement s evidently varied inhabitants     London, City of the Romans Ralph Merrifield,1983-01-01
