innovative approach to the Hispano Roman Christian poet Prudentius and his poetry It is a breakthrough in Prudentian scholarship which unifies the differing disciplines of history archaeology literature and art history in arguing that Prudentius and his envisaged Spanish audience cannot be fully understood in isolation from their environment in late fourth and early fifth century Spain Paula Hershkowitz focuses on Prudentius Peristephanon his collection of verses celebrating the deaths of martyrs and places these poems within the context of Prudentius world uniquely employing material visual and textual remains as evidence for its religious social and cultural affiliations It also draws on this material evidence to contextualise Prudentius awareness of the significance of the visual as a means of promoting beliefs against the background of this crucial formative period in religious history when many of his Spanish audience were not yet fully committed to the Christian faith

The Roman Self in Late Antiquity Marc Mastrangelo, 2008-01-21 The Roman Self in Late Antiquity for the first time situates Prudentius within a broad intellectual political and literary context of fourth century Rome As Marc Mastrangelo convincingly demonstrates the late fourth century poet drew on both pagan and Christian intellectual traditions especially Platonism Vergilian epic poetics and biblical exegesis to define a new vision of the self for the newly Christian Roman Empire Mastrangelo proposes an original theory of Prudentius s allegorical poetry and establishes Prudentius as a successor to Vergil Employing recent approaches to typology and biblical exegesis as well as the most current theories of allusion and intertextuality in Latin poetry he interprets the meaning and influence of Prudentius s work and positions the poet as a vital author for the transmission of the classical tradition to the early modern period This provocative study challenges the view that poetry in the fourth century played a subordinate role to patristic prose in forging Christian Roman identity It seeks to restore poetry to its rightful place as a crucial source for interpreting the rich cultural and intellectual life of the era
