The Origins and Spread of Domestic Animals in Southwest Asia and Europe Sue Colledge, James Conolly, Keith Dobney, Katie Manning, Stephen Shennan, 2016-06-16 This benchmark volume is a valuable synthesis of our current knowledge about the origins and spread of animal domestication in the Near East and Europe      Teaching World History: A Resource Book Heidi Roupp, 2015-03-04 A resource book for teachers of world history at all levels The text contains individual sections on art gender religion philosophy literature trade and technology Lesson plans reading and multi media recommendations and suggestions for classroom activities are also provided      The Origins And Spread Of Agriculture And Pastoralism In Eurasia David R. Harris, 2024-11-01 As the first book to examine the origins and spread of agriculture and pastoralism in Europe and Asia as a whole this major contribution should be essential reading for archaeologists anthropologists biologists and geographers Adopting a novel approach to the subject the authors examine it first in terms of seven different disciplinary perspectives social ecological genetic linguistic biomolecular epidemiological and geographical Then 20 case studies are presented which are based primarily on archaeological and biological evidence and which relate to three major regions Southwest Asia Europe and Central Asia to the Pacific The book concludes with an overview of Eurasia as a whole The transition from hunting and gathering to agriculture had revolutionary consequences for human society It led to the emergence of urban civilizations and ultimately to humanity's almost complete dependence on relatively few domesticated animals and plants The subject has been much studied but the results have tended to be interpreted largely in terms of local cultural sequences with insufficient comparison made with evidence from other areas In contrast this book provides a continental scale framework with its scope extended to pastoralism because in Eurasia both the raising of livestock and the cultivation of crops were integral components of the agricultural revolution from its inception some 10 000 years ago Comprehensive and authoritative The Origins and Spread of Agriculture and Pastoralism in Eurasia should appeal strongly to the wide readership of students and specialists concerned with the prehistoric antecedents of modern civilization

The Origins and Spread of Domestic Plants in Southwest Asia and Europe Sue Colledge, James Conolly, 2016-06-16 In this major new volume leading scholars demonstrate the importance of archaeobotanical evidence in the understanding of the spread of agriculture in southwest Asia and Europe Whereas previous overviews have focused either on Europe or on southwest Asia this volume considers the transition from a pan regional perspective thus making a significant contribution to our understanding of the processes and dynamics in the transition to food production on both continents It will be relevant to students researchers practitioners and instructors in archaeology archaeobotany agrobotany agricultural history anthropology area studies economic history and cultural development      Catalog of the Avery Memorial Architectural Library of Columbia University: Rodg - Sculpture I Avery Library, 1968      European Prehistory Sarunas Milisauskas, 2012-12-06 Sarunas Milisauskas 1 1 INTRODUCTION The purpose of this book is four fold to introduce English speaking students and scholars to some of the outstanding archaeological research that has been done in Europe in recent years to integrate this research into an anthropological frame of reference to address episodes of culture change such as the transition to farming the origin of complex societies and the origin of urbanism and to provide an overview of European prehistory from the earliest appearance of humans to the rise of the Roman empire In 1978 the Academic Press published my book European Prehistory which typically for that period emphasized cultural evolution culture process technology environment and economy To produce a new version and an up to date prehistory of Europe I have invited contributions from specialists in the Palaeolithic Mesolithic Bronze and Iron Ages Thus while this version of European Prehistory is a new book however it still incorporates some data from the 1978 version particularly in The Present Environment and Neolithic chapters Like its predecessor this edition is structured around selected general topics such as technology trade settlement warfare and ritual

Looms Past and Present Venice Lamb,2005      Library Catalog of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.). Library,1980      The Neolithisation of Iran Hassan Fazeli Nashli,2013-12-11 The period c 10 000 5000 BC witnessed fundamental changes in the human condition with societies across the Fertile Crescent shifting their alignment from millennia old practices of seasonally mobile hunting and foraging to year round sedentism plant cultivation and animal herding The significant role of Iran in the early stages of this transition was recognised more than half a century ago but has not been to the fore of academic consciousness in recent decades In the meantime investigations into Neolithic transformation have proceeded apace in all other regions of the Fertile Crescent and beyond Here 18 studies attempt to redress that balance in re assessing the role of Iran in the early neolithisation of human societies These studies many of them by Iranian scholars consider patterns of change and or continuity across a variety of topographical landscapes investigate Neolithic settlement patterns the use of caves animal exploitation and environmental indicators and present new insights into some well known and some newly investigated sites The results re affirm the formative role of this region in the transition to sedentary farming

Indo-European Origins John V. Day, 2001 A comprehensive survey of the evidence from biological anthropology for Indo European origins based on the author's Ph D thesis prepared under Professor James Mallory The author first considers the various ways that languages can spread and the possible biological implications of these expansions He then embarks on an exhaustive survey of over 2 600 books and articles relating to the physical anthropology of the earliest identified speakers of Indo European languages based on ancient texts artworks and lexicons Covering Europe and Asia from the Neolithic onwards His study surveys dermatoglyphics mummified corpses skeletal remains and genetic material for evidence of ancient population movements An attempt is then made to integrate findings from biological anthropology with data from linguistics archaeology and social anthropology to test the validity of migration theories in relation to the dispersal of the Indo European languages and the possible location of a hypothesized proto Indo European language The bibliography lists over 2 600 books and articles

Darwin's Harvest Timothy J. Motley, Nyree Zerega, Hugh Cross, 2006-01-04 Darwin's Harvest addresses concerns that we are losing the diversity of crop plants that provide food for most of the world With contributions from evolutionary biologists geneticists agronomists molecular biologists and anthropologists this collection discusses how economic development loss of heirloom varieties and wild ancestors and modern agricultural techniques have endangered the genetic diversity needed to keep agricultural crops vital and capable of adaptation Drawing on the most up to date data the contributors review the utilization of molecular techniques to understand crop evolution They explore current research on various crop plants of both temperate and tropical origin including maize sunflower avocado sugarcane and wheat The chapters in Darwin's Harvest also provide solid background for understanding many recent discoveries concerning the origins of crops and the influence of human migration and farming practices on the genetics of our modern foods
