Recent Dynamics Of Mediterranean Vegetation And Landscape:

Recent Dynamics of the Mediterranean Vegetation and Landscape Stefano Mazzoleni, Gaetano di Pasquale, Mark Mulligan, Paolo di Martino, Francisco Rego, 2004-10-22 The Mediterranean region has been shaped by human activity and maintained by traditional practices of land use for centuries This has affected the distribution of plants and the landscape which can be considered as part of the European cultural landscape This book details the rapid changes that have taken place in the vegetation of the Mediterranean in the last half century a period in which major socio economic development greatly affected the cultural and physical landscape

Recent Advances in Remote Sensing and Geoinformation Processing for Land Degradation Assessment Achim Roeder, Joachim Hill, 2009-04-23 Land degradation and desertification are amongst the most severe threats to human welfare and the environment as they affect the livelihoods of some 2 billion people in the worlds drylands and they are directly connected to pressing global environmental problems such as the loss of biological diversity or global climate change Strategies to co

The Archaeology of Mediterranean Landscapes Kevin Walsh, 2014 This volume presents a comprehensive review of palaeoenvironmental evidence and its incorporation with landscape archaeology from across the Mediterranean A fundamental aim of this book is to bridge the intellectual and methodological gaps between those with a background in archaeology and ancient history and those who work in the palaeoenvironmental sciences The aim of this volume is twofold first to provide archaeologists and landscape historians with a comprehensive overview of recent palaeoenvironmental research across the Mediterranean and second to consider ways in which this type of research can be integrated with what might be considered mainstream or cultural archaeology This volume takes a thematic approach assessing the ways in which environmental evidence is employed in different landscape types from coastal zones via rivers and wetlands to islands and mountainous areas This volume also presents analyses of how people have interacted with soils and vegetation and revisits the key questions of human culpability in the creation of so called degraded landscapes in the Mediterranean It covers chronological periods from the Early Neolithic to the end of the Roman period

Mediterranean Mountain Environments Ioannis Vogiatzakis, 2012-07-02 Mediterranean mountains exhibit many similarities in their biotic ecological physical and environmental characteristics There are also many differences in terms of their human colonization pattern historic land uses and current anthropogenic pressures This book provides an introduction to these environments of mountainous areas in the Mediterranean and their changes in time and space in relation to both natural and cultural factors Mediterranean Mountain Environments places its emphasis on physical geography while adopting an integrated approach to the whole subject area The book draws examples from a wide range of environments demonstrating the interaction between human and physical processes responsible for shaping mountain areas Risks and conflicts as well as methods and tools for the conservation and management of both the natural and cultural environment are covered in the light of future challenges for the sustainable development of the Mediterranean mountains

Emphasis on both mainland and island mountain ranges Combines natural and cultural approach in the topic Integrated approach facing future challenges based on the study and understanding of the historical processes that have shaped the Mediterranean mountains Key references at the end of each chapter

Plant Evolution in the Mediterranean John D. Thompson, 2020 Plant evolution in the Mediterranean is an account of plant evolutionary ecology The central theme is differentiation both among and within species in the flora of the Mediterranean basin Provided by publisher

The Physical Geography of the Mediterranean Jamie C. Woodward, 2009-05-07 This volume explores the climates landscapes ecosystems and hazards that comprise the Mediterranean world It traces the development of the Mediterranean landscape over very long timescales and examines modern processes and key environmental issues in a wide range of settings The Mediterranean is the only region on Earth where three continents meet and this interaction has produced a very distinctive Physical Geography This book examines the landscapes and processes at the margins of these continents and the distinctive marine environment between them Catastrophic earthquakes explosive volcanic eruptions and devastating storms and floods are intimately bound up within the history and mythology of the Mediterranean world This is a key region for the study of natural hazards because it offers unrivalled access to long records of hazard occurrence and impact through documentary archaeological and geological archives The Mediterranean is also a biodiversity hotspot it has been a meeting place for plants animals and humans from three continents throughout much of its history The Quaternary records of these interactions are more varied and better preserved than in any other part of the world These records have provided important new insights into the tempo of climate landscape and ecosystem change in the Mediterranean region and beyond The region is unique because of the very early and widespread impact of humans in landscape and ecosystem change and the richness of the archaeological and geological archives that chronicle this impact This book examines this history and these interactions and places current environmental issues in long term context Contributors Ramadan Husain Abu Zied Harriet Allen Jacques Blondel Maria Carmen Llasat James Casford Marc Castellnou Andrew Goudie Andrew Harding Angela Hayes Tom Holt Babette Hoogakker Philip Hughes Jos Lelieveld John Lewin Francisco Lloret Francisco Lopez Bermudez Mark Macklin Jean Margat Anne Mather Francis M. Landscapes in the Eastern Mediterranean between the Future and the Past Ioannis N. Vogiatzakis, Theano S. Terkenli, Maria Gabriella Trovato, Nizar Abu-Jaber, 2020-05-15 Landscapes have long been viewed as multifunctional integrating ecological economic sociocultural historical and aesthetic dimensions Landscape science and public awareness in Europe have been progressing in leaps and bounds The challenges involved in landscape related issues and fields however are multiple and refer to landscape stewardship and protection as well as to the development of comprehensive theoretical and methodological approaches in tandem with public sensitization and participatory governance and in coordination with appropriate top down planning and policy instruments Landscape scale approaches are fundamental to the understanding of past and present cultural evolution and are now considered to be an appropriate spatial framework for the analysis of sustainability Methods and tools of landscape analysis and intervention have also gone a long way since their early development in Europe and the United States Although significant progress has been made there remain many issues which are understudied or not investigated at all at least in a Mediterranean context This Special Issue addresses the application of landscape theory and practice in the Eastern Mediterranean and mainly but not exclusively reports on the outcomes of an international conference held in Jordan in December 2015 with the title Landscapes of Eastern Mediterranean Challenges Opportunities Prospects and Accomplishments The focus of this Special Issue landscapes of the Eastern Mediterranean region thus constitutes a timely area of research interest not only because these landscapes have so far been understudied but also as a rich site of strikingly variegated long standing multicultural human environmental interactions These interactions resting on and taking shape through millennia of continuity in tradition have been striving to adapt to technological advances while currently juggling with manifold and multilayered socioeconomic and climate environmental crises

Applied Landscape Ecology Francisco Castro Rego, Stephen C. Bunting, Eva Kristina Strand, Paulo Godinho-Ferreira, 2019-02-04 An insightful guide to the concepts and practices of modern landscape ecology Elements of geography conservation biology soil science and other disciplines factor into landscape ecology s rich analyses of the ecological and environmental forces at play across different terrains With its unique organism oriented approach to the subject Applied Landscape Ecology considers the effects of ecological processes upon particular species and places its findings within the context of larger scale concerns Students researchers and practitioners alike will find this a rewarding and instructive read that offers practical and detailed information on the latest methods and technologies used in the field today This essential resource Takes an interdisciplinary approach to landscape ecology Examines the subject within the contexts of specific organisms Covers cutting edge technologies and methods Represents a collaboration between an international team of landscape ecology experts Comes with 25 exercises that are freely available from the book companion site Whether new to the practice or an established ecologist anyone with an interest in this exciting and developing field should have a copy of Applied Landscape Ecology at their disposal

Geography in Britain after World War II Max Martin, Vinita Damodaran, Rohan D'Souza, 2019-12-13 Contemporary anxieties about climate change have fueled a growing interest in how landscapes are formed and transformed across spans of time from decades to millennia While the discipline of geography has had much to say about how such environmental transformations occur few studies have focused on the lives of geographers themselves their ideologies and how they understand their field This edited collection illuminates the social and biographical contexts of geographers in postwar Britain who were influenced by and studied under the pioneering geomorphologist A T Grove These contributors uncover the relationships and networks that shaped their research on diverse

terrains from Africa to the Mediterranean highlighting their shared concerns which have profound implications not only for the study of geography and geomorphology but also for questions of environmental history ecological conservation and human security Agroforestry in Europe Antonio Rigueiro-Rodríguez,Jim McAdam,María Rosa

Mosquera-Losada,2008-11-09 Agroforestry has come of age during the past three decades The age old practice of growing trees and crops and sometimes animals in interacting combinations that has been ignored in the single commodity oriented agricultural and forestry development paradigms has been brought into the realm of modern land use Today agroforestry is well on its way to becoming a specialized science at a level similar to those of crop science and forestry science To most land use experts however agroforestry has a tropical connotation They consider agroforestry as something that can and can only be identified with the tropics That is a wrong perception While it is true that the tropics compared to the temperate regions have a wider array of agroforestry systems and hold greater promise for potential agroforestry interventions it is also true that agroforestry has several opportunities in the temperate regions too Indeed the role of agroforestry is now recognized in Europe as exemplified by this book North America and elsewhere in the temperate zone Current interest in ecosystem management in industrialized countries strongly suggests that there is a need to embrace and apply agroforestry principles to help mitigate the environmental problems caused or exacerbated by commercial agricultural and forestry production enterprises Plants and People in the African Past Anna Maria Mercuri,A. Catherine D'Andrea,Rita Fornaciari,Alexa

Höhn,2018-07-31 There is an essential connection between humans and plants cultures and environments and this is especially evident looking at the long history of the African continent This book comprising current research in archaeobotany on Africa elucidates human adaptation and innovation with respect to the exploitation of plant resources In the long term perspective climatic changes of the environment as well as human impact have posed constant challenges to the interaction between peoples and the plants growing in different countries and latitudes This book provides an insight into overview of the manifold routes people have taken in various parts Africa in order to make a decent living from the provisions of their environment by bringing together the analyses of macroscopic and microscopic plant remains with ethnographic botanical geographical and linguistic research The numerous chapters cover almost all the continent countries and were prepared by most of the scholars who study African archaeobotany i e the complex and composite history of plant uses and environmental transformations during the Holocene Grasslands in Europe Peter Veen,Richard Jefferson,Jacques de

Smidt,Jan van der Straaten,2014-04-14 Grasslands are an important element of European nature About half of Europe s endemic species depend on grasslands whether in mountains lowlands river plains or coastal areas Many grasslands originate in traditional agricultural landscapes Modern intensification however brings many of these ecosystems under threat Grasslands in Europe is a tribute to these important ecosystems It was written by an international team of grassland experts who describe twenty four case studies from countries in all of Europe ranging from the grasslands of Gotland and land

Sweden to the Spanish Dehesa and from the hay meadows of the British Pennine Dales to the steppes of Turkish Anatolia Together these case studies provide a fascinating glimpse into the various European grasslands their value for nature culture and agriculture and the threats they are facing today The accessible text as well as the rich illustrations will appeal to a wide audience Grasslands in Europe contains a large number of stunning full colour photographs of grassland landscapes species and cultural history It also contains many maps and infographics Thematic chapters provide essential background information on topics such as grassland fauna the history of agriculture grassland communities and the connection between grasslands and climate The book also analyses the opportunities and risks of EU policy to conserve these grasslands It offers a farmer centred outlook to manage and to maintain the European grasslands of high nature value Forests in Sustainable Mountain Development Martin F. Price, Nathalie Butt, 2000 Written by leading international authors this book presents a comprehensive review of forests in mountain regions and their sustainable development Based on a report prepared by the IUFRO Task Force in Sustainable Mountain Development for the IUFRO Congress to be held in August 2000 The book addresses current issues and initiatives and defines research needs Key global issues and addressed is in general articles while specific regional topics are described and highlighted within each chapter in shorter case studies Case studies are drawn from all continents examples including Mexico Central Europe Cameroon Tanzania Chile Korea New Zealand and many others Contributions have been included from nearly 100 world experts making this volume the definitive state of the art review of its subject Mediterranean Island Landscapes Ioannis N. Vogiatzakis, Gloria Pungetti, A.M.

Mannion, 2008-02-26 Mediterranean islands exhibit many similarities in their biotic ecological physical and environmental characteristics There are also many differences in terms of their human colonization and current anthropogenic pressures This book addresses in three sections these characteristics and examines the major environmental changes that the islands experienced during the Quaternary period The first section provides details on natural and cultural factors which have shaped island landscapes It describes the environmental and cultural changes of the Holocene and their effects on biota as well as on the current human pressures that are now threats to the sustainability of the island communities The second section focuses on the landscapes of the largest islands namely Sicily Sardinia Corsica Cyprus Crete Malta and the Balearics Each island chapter includes a special topic reflecting a particular characteristic of the island Part three presents strategies for action towards sustainability in Mediterranean islands and concludes with a comparison between the largest islands Despite several published books on Mediterranean ecosystems landscapes there is no existing book dealing with Mediterranean islands in a collective manner Students researchers and university lecturers in environmental science geography biology and ecology will find this work invaluable as a cross disciplinary text while planners and politicians will welcome the succinct summaries as background material to planning decisions Wood Structure in Plant Biology and Ecology Pieter Baas, 2013-12-09 At present the study of functional and ecological wood anatomy enjoys a vigorous renaissance and plays a pivotal role in plant and ecosystem biology plant evolution and global change research This book contains a selection of papers presented at the successful meetings of the International Association of Wood Anatomists and the Cost Action STReESS Studying Tree Responses to extreme Events a Synthesis held in Naples in April 2013 Four review papers address 1 the hydraulic architecture of the earliest land plants 2 the general phenomenon of axial conduit tapering in trees 3 the hydraulic and biomechanical optimization in one of the most important plantation grown tree species Norway Spruce and 4 cellular and subcellular changes in the cambium in response to environmental factors Three papers review or introduce new tools to observe the 3 D structure and functioning of wood and novel tools for quantitative image analysis in tree ring series Finally five papers report original research on environmental effects on wood structure including studies on plastic responses in European beech effects of fire or late summer rains on Mediterranean Aleppo Pine and the potential for using arctic shrubs or tropical deciduous trees in dendrochronological and climatological studies Reprinted from IAWA

Landscapes Mauro Agnoletti, 2006-10-23 Landscape today is no longer just a cultural aspect intended as an elitist phenomenon but emerges as an essential element in the definition and the application of a modern approach in sustainable development Historical locally adapted distinctive and ingenious combinations of management practices have contributed and continue to contribute tremendously to the biodiversity of the world resulting not only in outstanding aesthetic beauty but in the sustained provision of multiple goods and services food and livelihood security and quality of life The development of policies to preserve and manage landscape resources has to face both the degradation of cultural landscape due to socio economic development and the need to develop appropriate methods and approaches This book presents different methodologies developed to analyse manage and plan landscape resources It reports recent research findings and case studies from Europe and North America suggesting also the revision of some orientations and views of the current policies concerning forestry rural development and nature conservation often contributing to degrade cultural landscapes

Agroforestry for sustainable agriculture Professor María Rosa Mosquera-Losada, Dr Ravi Prabhu, 2019-05-31 Comprehensive review of the effectiveness of particular agroforestry practices from riparian forest buffers and filter strips windbreaks and contour buffers to alley cropping silvopasture and forest farming Summarises current research on ecosystem services delivered by agroforestry from promoting biodiversity and soil health to water quality and management Assesses Global Application of Prescribed Fire John R. Weir, J Derek Scasta, 2022-02-01 Global Application of Prescribed Fire provides a first hand perspective of the various methods and ways people around the world view and use prescribed fire. It covers the logistics constraints and social dynamics surrounding the intentional use and application of fire by humans and demonstrates how, why, when and where prescribed fire is used in different regions. Written by international experts, the book has four key objectives: explore new techniques, ideas and thoughts on how to apply prescribed fire from a global perspective; provide regional case studies covering issues that may constrain or enhance prescribed fire projects; stimulate cross-cultural conversations about how fires function in ecosystems and relate prescribed fire to wildfire regimes with implications for protecting life and property as well as sustaining local fire cultures and unique fire-dependent flora and fauna. Global Application of Prescribed Fire enhances our understanding and knowledge about the application of prescribed fire. This comprehensive book will provide fire practitioners, researchers, agencies and policymakers with key ecological and managerial insight of how prescribed fires are conducted around the globe.

Tools for Landscape-Scale Geobotany and Conservation Franco Pedrotti, Elgene Owen Box, 2021-07-10 This book contains the papers presented at the conferences of the International Association of Vegetation Science: Pirenópolis 2016 on Applied Mapping for Conservation and Management from Plant and of Palermo 2017 on Vegetation Patterns in relation to multi-scale levels of ecological complexity from associations to geoseries. The reports refer to general themes: semiological bases of mapping; dynamic catenal mapping; nature conservation; plant biodiversity; biogeography and geosynphytosociology and their application to vegetation in different parts of the world: Andes of Bolivia, California, Kaga Coast in Japan, Southeastern USA, Morocco, Europe, Carpathians mountains, Swiss Alps, Sicily, Southern Portugal, Spain and French Atlantic coastal. One of the benefits of the book is that it offers the possibility of comparing the different methodologies used in very different types of vegetation in the world: Boreal, Mediterranean, Tropical, Neotropical etc. The book is intended for researchers, Ph.D. students and university professors.
