Common Science? Jean Barr,Lynda Birke,1998-07-22 The roots of the exclusion and alienation of women and minorities from scientific knowledge may well lie in how science itself is taught While academic feminist critiques of science and science education are important the authors believe that more attention has to be paid to what non academics think and feel about science Here is a starting point for developing a feminist pedagogy around science in the larger community Public

Religion and the Urban Environment Richard Bohannon,2012-04-26 Nature and the city have most often functioned as opposites within Western culture a dichotomy that has been reinforced and sometimes challenged by religious images Bohannon argues here that cities and natural environments however are both connected and continually affected by one another He shows how such connections become overt during natural disasters which disrupt the narratives people use to make sense of the world including especially religious narratives and make them more visible This book offers both a theoretical exploration of the intersection of the city nature and religion as well as a sociological analysis of the 1997 flood in Grand Forks ND USA This case study shows how religious factors have influenced how the relationship between nature and the city is perceived and in particular have helped to justify the urban control of nature The narratives found in Grand Forks also reveal a broader understanding of the nature of Western cities highlighting the potent and ethically rich intersections between religion cities and nature Political Economy of Eco-sustainable Alternatives Richard Westra,2025-08-22

Westra recounts how the unceremonious collapse of Soviet style socialism coupled with mounting awareness of unfolding environmental destruction and irreversible climate change opened the door to a new wide ranging social change literature In this exciting book he begins by tracing out the case for the Anthropocene He then provides an unparalleled inclusive critical exploration of the plurality of progressive designs on offer These include the Green New Deal nowtopias of cooperative solidarity and commoning economies ecofeminism Degrowth society as well as ecosocialism and democratic socialism Westra firstly explains why the Green New Deal program to sustainably develop capitalism is unworkable given the boundedness of resources necessary to generalize the advanced economy way of life it seeks to maintain Secondly while he concurs with much that the new social change literature offers his concern is with the way it abandons a major caution that had been leveled at so called utopian socialists in the past To be sure the problem does not reside with bursts of creative future directed thinking in themselves Rather where difficulties arise is over the paucity of attention devoted to questions of economic coordination and principles of economic viability Westra explains how only by combining several economic principles each operating at a determinate scale and devoted to specific elements of human social and material reproduction will the promise of an equitable eco sustainable human future be realized This unique volume will be of interest to academic specialists and students of political economy economics environmental sustainability sociology and political science

Progressive policymakers and social activists will also find its arguments refreshing and compelling Modern
