Navigating the Rippling Land of Grief: Reflections on the Journey Mary Heron Dyer, 2025-10-30 On January 6 1999 the Feast of the Epiphany of the Magi and the official end of the Christmas season instead of celebrating I learned that my twenty year old daughter Meg had just been diagnosed with terminal cancer For me who has a great deal of experience working with hospice patients and bereavement ministries this news hit much closer to home A writer I decided to keep a personal journal to help me stay focused on navigating this now deeply personal journey As the days progressed and the family came together to support Meg in her final months when words failed I drew rough sketches to picture the journey Trained as a counselor I found both solace and inspiration coming from the pictures as each emerged with a reflection question to be pondered on this often heartbreaking and truly uncharted road Meg s road was obviously unique but the questions posed through the drawings could and would be experienced by anyone Thus the book expanded to not just another biography of a single event but as a beacon to others who have had to walk their own personal journeys May this book be a blessing and beacon to others as they try to navigate the rippling land of grief Caring for Joy: Narrative, Theology, and Practice Mary Clark Moschella, 2016-09-07 In Caring for Joy Narrative Theology and Practice Mary Clark Moschella offers a new account of the value of joy in caregiving vocations demonstrating how the work of caring for persons communities and the world need not be a dreary endeavor overwhelmed by crises or undermined by despair Moschella presents glimpses of joy in action in the narratives of five notable figures Heidi Neumark Henri Nouwen Gregory Boyle Pauli Murray and Paul Farmer gleaned their wisdom for the construction of a theology of joy that embodies compassion connection justice and freedom Care must be deep enough to hold human suffering and spacious enough to take in the divine goodness beauty and love This book expands the pastoral theological imagination and narrates joy full approaches to transformational care This work is a scholarly engaging and compassionate call to reconsider the significance of joyful living and joyful lives in radical pastoral theology Heather Walton University of Glasgow President of the International Academy of Practical Theology July 2016 Based on biographies interviews and life stories Mary Clark Moschella presents joy as a counter cultural emotion as a spiritual path and as a fruit of the Spirit In her research joy and reason are not ultimately opposed Jeanne Stevenson Moessner Professor of Pastoral Care Perkins School of Theology Southern Methodist University July 2016 This highly readable and compelling theology of joy will inspire you to explore how joy might energize your vocation especially caregiving vocations that use narrative approaches to spiritual care and pastoral counseling I plan on using this book as a textbook in my theodicy grief death and dying and vocational courses Carrie Doehring Professor of Pastoral Care and Counseling Iliff School of Theology Denver August 2016 Mary Moschella has given us a rare text one that is theologically rich intellectually sophisticated drenched in pastoral wisdom and beautifully written She gives us a pastoral theology attuned to the realities of diversity and sensitive to the complex challenges facing those who lives constantly interface with suffering There is simply nothing else like this book in pastoral care Willie James Jennings Professor of Systematic Theology and Africana Studies Yale University August 2016 Helping Those Experiencing Loss Robert J. The Ministry of Lament Gene Fowler, 2022-05-17 Through his own hard won wisdom as a pastor who is thoroughly acquainted with grief Gene Fowler shows how these biblical and contemporary understandings of lament provide invaluable guidance for the pastor who knowing that the grieving of irrevocable losses is an ever present reality in the life of the congregation seeks realistic and reliable guidance in how to care for the bereaved and how to enable the congregation to become a genuine community of fellow mourners Donald Capps Princeton Theological Seminary Gene Fowler skillfully maneuvers the winding road of bereavement with the psalms of lament as accompaniment With attention to the terrain of individuality as well as the congregational setting Fowler traverses new territory in a twenty first century approach to caring for grieving people Unlike an interstate with its clear ramps markers and exits the valley of the shadow of death is uneven with hidden crevices detours and dimly lit passages Challenging the traditional understanding of grief as a series of universal stages unfolding according to a preconceived timetable Fowler draws from psychotherapists and theologians to ground a new relationship between spirituality and grief Jeanne Stevenson Moessner Perkins School of Theology SMU While making a compelling case for how notions of care have been hijacked truncated and curtailed Gene Fowler expands the ability of caregivers and congregations to provide the long term acts of faithful healing that deep loss requires The book is given particular clarity through examples of movies books stories and Psalms that help healers see anew their task to compassionately and creatively encourage the bereaved as they rewrite the story of their lives Andrew L McDonald Senior Pastor Westminster Church Lincoln Nebraska
