Jack M. Downs, 2022-09-06 Developing a history of the English novel requires the inclusion of a vast range of cultural economic religious social and aesthetic influences But the role of eighteenth century English rhetorical theory in the emergence of the novel and the critical discourse surrounding that emergence has often been neglected or overlooked The influence of rhetorical theory in the development of the English novel is undeniable however and changes to rhetorical theory in Britain during the eighteenth century led to the development of a critical aesthetic discourse about the novel in Victorian England This study argues that eighteenth century belles lettres rhetorical theory played a key role in developing a horizon of expectation concerning the nature and purpose of the novel that extended well into the nineteenth century There is a connection between the emergence of the English novel eighteenth century rhetorical theory and Victorian novel criticism that has been neglected this study attempts to recover and articulate that connection Women Critics 1660-1820 Folger Collective on Early Women Critics (Scholarly group),1995 the anthology is engaging and informative and should stimulate further research into this fascinating yet neglected area English most interest are newly recovered materials with several works appearing in English translation for the first time The excellent introductions and reference notes along with the samplings of writings will pique the interest of students of both literature and history A good readings text for college students and anyone interested in the development of literature and culture Library Journal This anthology demonstrates women s participation in the construction of criticism as a literary genre The selected writings by forty one of the women who produced criticism between 1660 and 1820 include writers from England France Germany and the United States
