Jones, 2009-03-21 The American West used to be a story of gunfights glory wagon trails and linear progress Historians such as Frederick Jackson Turner and Hollywood movies such as Stagecoach 1939 and Shane 1953 cast the trans Mississippi region as a frontier of epic proportions where savagery met civilization and boys became men During the late 1980s this old way of seeing the West came under heavy fire Scholars such as Patricia Nelson Limerick and Richard White forged a fresh story of the region a new vision of the West based around the conquest of peoples and landscapes This book explores the bipolar world of Turner s Old West and Limerick s New West and reveals the values and ambiguities associated with both historical traditions Sections on Lewis and Clark the frontier and the cowboy sit alongside work on Indian genocide and women s trail diaries Images of the region as seen through the arcade Western Hollywood film and Disney theme parks confirm the West as a symbolic and contested landscape Tapping into popular fascination with the Cowboy Hollywood movies the Indian Wars and Custer s Last Stand the authors show the reader how to deconstruct the imagery and reality

Bleeding Borders Kristen Tegtmeier Oertel, 2009-04-01 In Bleeding Borders Kristen Tegtmeier Oertel offers a fresh multifaceted interpretation of the quintessential sectional conflict in pre Civil War Kansas Instead of focusing on the white male politicians and settlers who vied for control of the Kansas territorial legislature Oertel explores the crucial roles Native Americans African Americans and white women played in the literal and rhetorical battle between proslavery and antislavery settlers in the region She brings attention to the local debates and the diverse peoples who participated in them during that contentious period Oertel begins by detailing the settlement of eastern Kansas by emigrant Indian tribes and explores their interaction with the growing number of white settlers in the region She analyzes the attempts by southerners to plant slavery in Kansas and the ultimately successful resistance of slaves and abolitionists Oertel then considers how crude frontier living conditions Indian conflict political upheaval and sectional violence reshaped traditional Victorian gender roles in Kansas and explores women's participation in the political and physical conflicts between proslavery and antislavery settlers Oertel goes on to examine northern and southern definitions of true manhood and how competing ideas of masculinity infused political and sectional tensions She concludes with an analysis of miscegenation not only how racial mixing between Indians slaves and whites influenced events in territorial Kansas but more importantly how the fear of miscegenation fueled both proslavery and antislavery arguments about the need for civil war As Oertel demonstrates the players in Bleeding Kansas used weapons other than their Sharps rifles and Bowie knives to wage war over the extension of slavery they attacked each other's cultural values and struggled to assert their own political wills They jealously guarded ideals of manhood womanhood and whiteness even as the presence of Indians and blacks and the debate over slavery raised serious questions about the efficacy of these principles Oertel argues that ultimately many Native Americans blacks and women shaped the political and cultural terrain in ways that ensured the destruction of slavery but they along with their white male counterparts failed to defeat the resilient power of white supremacy Moving beyond a conventional political history of Bleeding Kansas Bleeding Borders breaks new ground by revealing how the struggles of this highly diverse region contributed to the national move toward disunion and how the ideologies that governed race and gender relations were challenged as North South and West converged on the border between slavery and freedom

A Little Matter of Genocide Ward Churchill, 1997 Ward Churchill has achieved an unparalleled reputation as a scholar activist and analyst of indigenous issues in North America Here he explores the history of holocaust and denial in this hemisphere beginning with the arrival of Columbus and continuing on into the present He frames the matter by examining both revisionist denial of the nazi perpetrated Holocaust and the opposing claim of its exclusive uniqueness using the full scope of what happened in Europe as a backdrop against which to demonstrate that genocide is precisely what has been and still is carried out against the American Indians Churchill lays bare the means by which many of these realities have remained hidden how public understanding of this most monstrous of crimes has been subverted not only by its perpetrators and their beneficiaries but by the institutions and individuals who perceive advantages in the confusion In particular he outlines the reasons underlying the United States s 40 year refusal to ratify the Genocide Convention as well as the implications of the attempt to exempt itself from compliance when it finally offered its endorsement In conclusion Churchill proposes a more adequate and coherent definition of the crime as a basis for identifying punishing and preventing genocidal practices wherever and whenever they occur Ward Churchill enrolled Keetoowah Cherokee is Professor of American Indian Studies with the Department of Ethnic Studies at the University of Colorado Boulder A member of the American Indian Movement since 1972 he has been a leader of the Colorado chapter for the past fifteen years Among his previous books have been Fantasies of a Master Race Struggle for the Land Since Predator Came and From a Native Son

Blood and the Covenant Pierre Parisien, 2010-11

Blood and the Covenant tells the story of a mindset the conception of a personal covenant between God and man and the insidious consequences of this mindset

Author Pierre Parisien examines the history of covenantal belief and looks critically at two of its most troubling aspects appropriation the Promised Land and moral dispensation the belief that if you are doing it for God

then it is not a sin but a virtuous act Parisien traces the historical consequences of the contract with God from the campaigns of Joshua in Canaan to the present manifestations of ideological Zionism He argues that the course of history has been in great part a consequence of the original Covenant and he charts the regrettable lineage of atrocities committed under the auspices of covenant fulfillment including the conquest of Canaan to the hegemony of Rome the rape of Northern India by the Muslim Sultans the Crusades European colonialism which considered the entire planet as the Promised Land Manifest Destiny and ideological Zionism Wars crimes against humanity and genocide have too often been the aftermath of the Covenant Will this woeful progression ever come to an end Term Paper Resource Guide to American Indian History like Weapons is a collection of acclaimed American Indian Movement activist intellectual Ward Churchill's essays in indigenism selected from material written during the decade 1995-2005. It includes a range of formats from sharply framed book reviews and equally pointed polemics and op eds to more formal essays designed to reach both scholarly and popular audiences. The selection also represents the broad range of topics addressed in Churchill's scholarship including the fallacies of archeological and anthropological orthodoxy such as the insistence of cannibalologists that American Indians were traditionally man-eaters. Hollywood's cinematic degradations of native people, questions of American Indian identity, the historical and ongoing genocide of North America's native peoples and the systematic distortion of the political and legal history of U.S. Indian relations. Less typical of Churchill's oeuvre are the essays commemorating Cherokee anthropologist Robert K. Thomas and Yankton Sioux legal scholar and theologian Vine Deloria Jr. More unusual still is his profoundly personal effort to come to grips with the life and death of his late wife Leah Renae Kelly, thereby illuminating in very human terms the grim and lasting effects of Canada's residential schools upon the country's indigenous peoples. A foreword by Seneca historian Barbara Alice Mann describes the sustained efforts by police and intelligence agencies as well as university administrators and other academic adversaries to discredit or otherwise neutralize both the man and his work. Also included are both the initial stream of consciousness version of Churchill's famous or notorious little Eichmann's opinion piece analyzing the causes of the attacks on 9/11 as well as the counterpart essay in which his argument was fully developed.

The Civil War and the limits of destruction Mark E. Neely, 2009-06-30. The Civil War is often portrayed as the most brutal war in America's history, a premonition of twentieth-century slaughter and carnage. In challenging this view, Mark E. Neely Jr. considers the war's destructiveness in a comparative context, revealing the sense of limits that guided the conduct of American soldiers and statesmen. Neely begins by contrasting Civil War behavior with U.S. soldiers' experiences in the Mexican War of 1846. He examines Price's Raid in Missouri for evidence of deterioration in the restraints imposed by the customs of war and in a brilliant analysis of Philip Sheridan's Shenandoah Valley campaign, he shows that the actions of U.S. cavalrymen were selective and controlled. The Mexican war of the 1860s, between French imperial forces and republicans, provided a new yardstick for brutality. Emperor Maximilian's infamous Black Decree threatened captured enemies with execution. Civil War battles, however, paled in comparison with the unrestrained warfare waged against the Plains Indians. Racial beliefs, Neely shows, were a major determinant of wartime behavior. Destructive rhetoric was rampant in the congressional debate over the resolution to avenge the treatment of Union captives at Andersonville by deliberately starving and freezing to death Confederate prisoners of war. Nevertheless, to gauge the events of the war by the ferocity of its language of political hatred is a mistake, Neely argues. The modern overemphasis on violence in Civil War literature has led many scholars to go too far in drawing close analogies with the twentieth-century's total war and the grim guerrilla struggles of Vietnam. From a Native Son Ward Churchill, 1996. Ward Churchill has emerged over the past decade as one of the Rosenbaum,2019-03-06 Evaluating the Jewish Holocaust is by no means a simple matter and one of the most controversial questions for academics is whether there have been any historical parallels for it Have Armenians Gypsies American Indians or others undergone a comparable genocide In this fiercely controversial volume distinguished scholars offer new discussions of this question Presenting a wide range of strongly held views they provide no easy consensus Some critics contend that if the Holocaust is seen as fundamentally different in kind from other genocides or mass deaths the suffering of other persecuted groups will be diminished Others argue that denying the uniqueness of the Holocaust will trivialize it Alan S Rosenbaum s introductions provide a much needed context for readers to come to terms with this multi dimensional dispute to help them understand why it has recently intensified and to enable them to appreciate what universal lessons might be gleaned from studying the Holocaust This volume makes an important contribution to our comprehension of one of the defining events of modern history It should be essential reading for scholars students and general readers interested in the Holocaust and its relationship to other instances of politically inspired mass murder Genocide Graham Charles Kinloch,Raj P.
