Inter-organizational Information Systems in the Internet Age Sean B. Eom, 2005-01-01. Since the U.S. Department of Defense initiated the development of networked computers in 1969, Internet technologies have rapidly advanced and revolutionized the way we communicate and conduct business. The second wave of the technological revolution came with intranet technology in the mid 1990s. With the intranet, organizations have strengthened the powers and speed of data gathering and sharing, communication, collaboration, and decision making within a firewall-protected organizational boundary. The third wave of this technological evolution, extranets, began in the second half of the 1990s. Many believe that it is the key technology enabler that is triggering a revolution in the structure and operations of many organizations in the new Internet-driven global economy. In addition to maturing Internet technologies, several technology drivers as well as business drivers further pushed the emergence of new types of organizations: virtual corporations, virtual organizations, extended enterprises, and trans-enterprise systems.

Internet and Intranet Security Rolf Oppliger, 2001. This pioneering guide to Internet and intranet security is the first to cover all of the relevant technologies in one comprehensive reference and enhances the ability to create and deploy secure architectures. It gives users the knowledge needed for improved productivity, whether setting up commerce on-line, assembling a firewall, or selecting access controls and cryptographic protocols to secure TCP/IP-based networks.

How the Internet Works Preston Gralla, 1998. The mystery is revealed at last in detailed color diagrams and explanations graphically depicting the technologies that make the Internet work and how they fit together. You'll be able to understand and even one-up your computer geek friends after reading chapters on the Internet's underlying architecture, communication on the Internet, how the Web works, multimedia, and security and parental controls. For anyone interested in the Internet.
