P. MacKenzie, 2017-08-04 During World War II Allied casualty rates in the air were high Of the roughly 125 000 who served as aircrew with Bomber Command 59 423 were killed or missing and presumed killed a fatality rate of 45.5% With odds like that it would be no surprise if there were as few atheists in cockpits as there were in foxholes and indeed many airmen faced their dangerous missions with beliefs and rituals ranging from the traditional to the outlandish Military historian S. P. MacKenzie considers this phenomenon in Flying against Fate a pioneering study of the important role that superstition played in combat flier morale among the Allies in World War II Mining a wealth of documents as well as a trove of published and unpublished memoirs and diaries MacKenzie examines the myriad forms combat fliers' superstitions assumed from jinxes to premonitions Most commonly airmen carried amulets or talismans lucky boots or a stuffed toy a coin whose year numbers added up to thirteen counterintuitively a boomerang Some performed rituals or avoided other acts e.g. having a photo taken before a flight Whatever seemed to work was worth sticking with and a heightened risk often meant an upsurge in superstitious thought and behavior MacKenzie delves into behavior analysis studies to help explain the psychology behind much of the behavior he documents not slighting the large cohort of crew members and commanders who demurred He also looks into the ways in which superstitious behavior was tolerated or even encouraged by those in command who saw it as a means of buttressing morale The first in depth exploration of just how varied and deeply felt superstitious beliefs were to tens of thousands of combat fliers Flying against Fate expands our understanding of a major aspect of the psychology of war in the air and of World War II Gateway Wing ,1998 The Dublin university magazine University magazine,1855 Eye of the Storm Amy Cherrix,2017-04-25 With stunning photos detailed maps and infographics Amy Cherrix takes readers on a trip into the eye of the storm of hurricane danger zones as she chronicles a team of daring NASA scientists looking to discover the future of the hurricane forecast Ten million Americans live in hurricane danger zones but how do we know if or when to evacuate We must predict both when a storm will strike and how strong it will be A daring NASA earth science mission may have finally found a way to crack this hurricane code Dr Scott Braun is the principal investigator for the Hurricane and Severe Storm Sentinel mission HS3 which flies repurposed military drone over hurricanes so that scientists can gather data But the stakes are high and time is running out In the first Scientists in the Field book entirely about weather meet the NASA team on the cutting edge of meteorological field science A Norwegian Boy's Adventures from the Top of the World to Down Under Anton Harris,2016-01-19 A Norwegian Boy s Adventures from the Top of the World to Down Under By Anton Harris This is a saga of tenacity starting in Nazi occupied Norway The author learned to trade with the enemy for food At war s end and still only seven years old he commenced an odyssey in a flat bottomed boat that took him through Sweden and Denmark to Germany He finally arrived in Holland where he was educated He learned to speak three languages before he was ten At sixteen the author obtained a scholarship to the Dutch Merchant Marines and sailed the world for the next three years In 1957 still only 19 the author immigrated to Australia and started to learn English He commenced his climb up the corporate ladder A highlight of his successful commercial career was the time he spent with Colonel Harland Sanders the legendary founder of KFC during his several visits to Australia The author s life has always been filled with adventures some serious but almost as many that were humorous Hurricane Katrina--What Really Happened?! Nathaniel Jones,2006-07 As a fictional work this novel is used by the author to describe what could have or may have happened in the events of Hurricane Katrina Daniel the main character is left behind in New Orleans with this three brothers and mother who all live in a poor section of the city Like many in the Big Easy his family does not evacuate In the novel Daniel appears to be smarter than the rest of his family During the night before Katrina makes landfall Daniel has dreams In these dreams certain things are revealed to the main character that really frightens him He believes that the dreams are unreal but then he finds logic in them These dreams tell Daniel about his home state and the truth about what really happened in New Orleans and Louisiana Moreover throughout
