Reality And Rhetoric:

Reality and Rhetoric Péter Tamás Bauer, 1985 Word, Self, Reality James Edwin Miller, 1972 Reality and Rhetoric
P. T. Bauer, Péter Tamás Bauer, 1984 Reality and Rhetoric is the culmination of P T Bauer's observations and reflections on Third World economies over a period of thirty years. He critically examines the central issues of market versus centrally planned economies, industrial development, official direct and multinational resource transfers to the Third World, immigration policy in the Third World, and economic methodology. In addition, he has written a fascinating account of recent papal doctrine on income inequality and redistribution in the Third World. The major themes that emerge are the importance of non-economic variables, particularly people's aptitudes and mores to economic growth, the unfortunate results of some current methods of economics, the subtle but important effects of the exchange economy on development, and the politicization of economic life in the Third World. As in Bauer's previous writings, this book is marked by elegant prose, apt examples, a broad economic historical perspective, and the masterful use of informal reasoning.

Rhetoric and Reality in Early Christianities Willi Braun, 2006-01-01 One of the most pressing issues for scholars of religion concerns the role of persuasion in early Christianities and other religions in Greco-Roman antiquity. The essays in Rhetoric and Reality in Early Christianities explore questions about persuasion and its relationship to early Christianities. The contributors theorize about persuasion as the effect of verbal performances such as argumentation in accordance with rules of rhetoric or as a result of other types of performance, ritual, behavioural, or imagistic. They discuss the relationship between the verbal performance of rhetoric and other performative modes in generating, sustaining, and transmitting a persuasive form of religiosity. The essays in this book cover a wide chronological range from the first century to late antiquity, and diverse topical examples contribute to the collection's thematic centre: the relations among formalized and technical verbal performances, rhetoric texts, and other forms of persuasive performances, ritual practices, the social agendas that early Christians pursued by means of verbal rhetorical performances, and the larger social context in which Christians and other religious groups competitively jockeyed to attract the minds and bodies of audiences in the Greco-Roman world.

Rhetoric and Reality James A. Berlin, 1987 Intended for teachers of college composition, this history of major and minor developments in the teaching of writing in twentieth-century American colleges employs a taxonomy of theories based on the three epistemological categories: objective, subjective, and transactional, dominating rhetorical theory and practice. The first section of the book provides an overview of the three theories, specifically their assumptions and rhetorics. The main chapters cover the following topics: 1. the nineteenth-century background on the formation of the English department and the subsequent relationship of rhetoric and poetics; 2. the growth of the discipline, 1900-1920, including the formation of the National Council of Teachers of English, the appearance of the major schools of rhetoric, the efficiency movement, graduate education in rhetoric, undergraduate courses, and the Great War; 3. the influence of progressive education, 1920-1940, including the writing program and current traditional rhetoric, liberal culture and expressionistic and social rhetoric 4 the communication emphasis 1940 1960 including the communications course the founding of the Conference on College Composition and Communication literature and composition linguistics and composition and the revival of rhetoric and 5 the renaissance of rhetoric and major rhetorical approaches 1960 1975 including contemporary theories based on the three epistemic categories A final chapter briefly surveys developments through 1987 JG

Representing Reality Bill Nichols, 1992-02-22 a valuable and important book The Year's Work in Critical and Cultural Theory Representing Reality is the first book to offer a conceptual overview of documentary filmmaking practice It addresses numerous social issues and how they are presented to the viewer by means of style rhetoric and narrative technique The volume poses questions about the relationship of the documentary tradition to power the body authority knowledge and our experience of history This study advances the pioneering work of Nichols's earlier book Ideology and the Image Nichols has written a road block of a book which reconfigures the debate on the documentary at a new level of sophistication and complexity which can only be ignored at the risk of ignoring the whole area of documentary film Sight and Sound the most important book on documentary film yet published Canadian Journal of Film Studies

The Making Sense of Politics, Media, and Law Gary Watt, 2023-04-13 From Trump's make America great again to Johnson's build back better performative politicians use The Making Sense to persuade their public audiences. Law makers do it too. A courtroom trial is a truth factory in which facts are not found but forged. The court of popular opinion is another such factory though its processes are often flawed and its products faulty. Where courts of law aim to make civil peace, trial by Twitter makes civil strife. Even in mainstream media, journalists make news for public consumption so that all news is to an extent fake news. In a world of making, how can we separate craft from craftiness? With insights from disciplines including law, politics, rhetoric, media studies, psychology, sociology, marketing, and performance studies, The Making Sense of Politics, Media and Law offers a constructive way to approach controversies from transgender identity to cancel culture. This title is also available as open access on Cambridge Core. New Labour, New Language?

Norman Fairclough, 2002-01-04. This is a book about the politics of New Labour that focuses on language. Fairclough gets behind the rhetoric to uncover the real meaning. He examines a wide range of political speeches and texts from Tony Blair's speech following the death of Diana to the 1997 Labour Party Manifesto and Bill Clinton's book Between Hope and History. New Labour, New Language blows open the whole debate on the nature of the political discourse of New Labour and the Third Way. Written in a clear, non-technical style and including a glossary, New Labour, New Language will appeal to anyone interested in language and politics. Methods of Rhetorical Criticism Bernard L. The SAGE Handbook of Qualitative Business and Management Research Methods Catherine Cassell, Ann L. Cunliffe, Gina Grandy, 2021-08-04. The SAGE Handbook of Qualitative Business and Management Research Methods provides a state-of-the-art overview of qualitative research methods in the business and management field. The Handbook celebrates the diversity of the field by drawing from a wide range of traditions and by bringing together a number of leading international researchers engaged in studying a variety of topics through multiple qualitative methods. The chapters address the philosophical underpinnings of particular approaches to research, contemporary illustrations, references, and practical guidelines for their use. The two volumes therefore provide a useful resource for PhD students and early career researchers interested in developing and expanding their knowledge and practice of qualitative research. In covering established and emerging methods, it also provides an invaluable source of information for faculty teaching qualitative research methods. The contents of the Handbook are arranged into two volumes covering seven key themes. Volume One: History and Tradition. Part One: Influential Traditions underpinning qualitative research: positivism, interpretivism, pragmatism, constructionism, critical poststructuralism, hermeneutics, postcolonialism, critical realism, mixed methods, grounded theory, feminist and indigenous approaches. Part Two: Research Designs: ethnography, field research, action research, case studies, process and practice methodologies. Part Three: The Researcher: positionality, reflexivity, ethics, gender and intersectionality, writing from the body and achieving critical distance. Part Four: Challenges: research design, access and departure, choosing participants, research across boundaries, writing for different audiences, ethics in international research, digital ethics, and Catholic Horror and Rhetorical Dialectics Gavin F. Hurley, 2024-06-15 Identifying an important subgenre of horror literature this book argues that Catholic horror fiction works distinctively to inspire the philosophical theological and spiritual imaginations of readers from all backgrounds and faith traditions Hurley analyzes four novels that are foundational to the genre of Catholic horror J K Huysmans's L'Ève 1891 Robert Hugh Benson's The Light Invisible 1903 and A Mirror of Shalott 1907 and William Peter Blatty's The Exorcist 1971 Putting these texts in conversation with the classical liberal arts the book shows how Catholic horror fiction coheres in a commitment to dialectical thinking that aims both to resolve and to accommodate contrasting world views Given its use of this methodology Catholic horror literature is uniquely positioned to draw readers into a contemplative mindset In presenting ghost stories tales of possession and narratives about evil Catholic horror invites audiences to confront and reflect on profound existential questions questions about the line between life and death the nature of being and the meaning of reality

The Rhetoric of Videogames as Embodied Practice Steve Holmes, 2017-09-11 The Rhetoric of Videogames as Embodied Practice offers a critical reassessment of embodiment and materiality in rhetorical considerations of videogames Holmes argues that rhetorical and philosophical conceptions of habit offer a critical resource for describing the interplay between thinking writing and rhetoric and embodiment The book demonstrates how Aristotle's understanding of character ethos habit hexis and nature phusis can productively connect rhetoric to what Holmes calls procedural habits the ways in which rhetoric emerges from its interactions with the dynamic accumulation of conscious and nonconscious embodied experiences that consequently give rise to meaning procedural subjectivity control and communicative agency both in digital game design discourse and the activity of play
