Reducing the Odds National Research Council, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Institute of Medicine, Committee on Perinatal Transmission of HIV, 1999-01-13 Thousands of HIV positive women give birth every year Further because many pregnant women are not tested for HIV and therefore do not receive treatment the number of children born with HIV is still unacceptably high What can we do to eliminate this tragic and costly inheritance In response to a congressional request this book evaluates the extent to which state efforts have been effective in reducing the perinatal transmission of HIV The committee recommends that testing HIV be a routine part of prenatal care and that health care providers notify women that HIV testing is part of the usual array of prenatal tests and that they have an opportunity to refuse the HIV test This approach could help both reduce the number of pediatric AIDS cases and improve treatment for mothers with AIDS Reducing the Odds will be of special interest to federal state and local health policymakers prenatal care providers maternal and child health specialists public health practitioners and advocates for HIV AIDS patients January Reducing the Odds National Research Council, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Institute of Medicine, Committee on Perinatal Transmission of HIV, 1999-02-13 Thousands of HIV positive women give birth every year Further because many pregnant women are not tested for HIV and therefore do not receive treatment the number of children born with HIV is still unacceptably high What can we do to eliminate this tragic and costly inheritance In response to a congressional request this book evaluates the extent to which state efforts have been effective in reducing the perinatal transmission of HIV The committee recommends that testing HIV be a routine part of prenatal care and that health care providers notify women that HIV testing is part of the usual array of prenatal tests and that they have an opportunity to refuse the HIV test This approach could help both reduce the number of pediatric AIDS cases and improve treatment for mothers with AIDS Reducing the Odds will be of special interest to federal state and local health policymakers prenatal care providers maternal and child health specialists public health practitioners and advocates for HIV AIDS patients January Ensuring Early Diagnosis and Access to Treatment for HIV/AIDS United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs. Subcommittee on Federal Financial Management, Government Information, and International Security, 2006 Public Financing and Delivery of HIV/AIDS Care Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Promotion and Disease Prevention, Committee on the Public Financing and Delivery of HIV Care, 2005-11-04 Each year it is estimated that approximately 40 000 people in the U S are newly infected with HIV In the late 1990s the number of deaths from AIDS dropped 43% as a result of highly active antiretroviral therapy Unfortunately the complex system currently in place for financing and delivering publicly financed HIV care undermines the significant advances that have been made in the development of new technologies to treat it Many HIV patients experience delays in access to other services that would support adhering to treatment As a result each year opportunities are missed that could reduce the mortality morbidity and disability suffered by individuals with HIV infections Public Financing and Delivery of HIV AIDS Care examines the current standard of care for HIV patients and assesses the extent the system currently used for financing and delivering care allows individuals with HIV to actually receive it The book recommends an expanded federal program for the treatment of individuals with HIV administered at the state level This program would provide timely access and consistent benefits with a strong focus on comprehensive and continuous care and access to antiretroviral therapy It could help improve the quality of life of HIV AIDS patients as well as reduce the number of deaths among those infected Mandell, Douglas, and Bennett's Principles and Practice of Infectious Diseases E-Book John E.
