Literary Culture and the Pacific Vanessa Smith,1998-01-08 This 1998 book examines a range of nineteenth century European accounts from the Pacific depicting Polynesian responses to imported metropolitan culture in particular its technologies of writing and print Texts designed to present self affirming images of native wonderment at European culture in fact betray the emergence of more complex modes of appropriation and interrogation by the Pacific peoples Vanessa Smith argues that the Pacific islanders called into question the material basis and symbolic capacities of writing even as they were first being framed in written representations Examining accounts by beachcombers and missionaries she suggests that complex modes of self authorization informed the transmission of new cultural practices to the Pacific peoples This shift of attention towards reception and appropriation provides the context for a detailed discussion of Robert Louis Stevenson s late Pacific writings
