Vinodh, 2020-12-29 Amongst the multitude of tombs in the City of the Dead in Cairo there lies buried a lone Indian a scholar writer debonair statesman and a leader of the freedom movement Who is he How did he get there For a man who used both the lectern and the pen to devastating effect during the Indian Independence movement led by the likes of Gandhi and Nehru little is known of Syud Hossain Born to an aristocratic family in Calcutta he forayed into journalism early in life and became the editor of Motilal Nehru's nationalist newspaper The Independent After a brief elopement with Motilal's daughter Sarup aka Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit Hossain under immense pressure from Nehru and

Gandhi annulled the marriage and stayed away from the country. Thus began several years of exile. Eventually he landed in the United States. Flitting from one place to another, making homes of hotel rooms, he imparted Gandhi's message across the country. He fought for India's cause from afar, garnering support in the United States and decrying British oppression. Syud Hossain inspired and irked in equal measure with every speech he delivered and every editorial he penned; he sent a shiver down the spine of the colonial ruler. In addition, Hossain took on the fight for Indian immigrant rights in the United States, one that successfully culminated in President Truman signing the Luce Cellar Bill into an Act in 1946. Hossain returned to India to witness the triumph of her independence as well as the tragedy of Gandhi's assassination. Thereafter, appointed India's first ambassador to Egypt, he died while in service and was laid to rest in Cairo. A Forgotten Ambassador in Cairo offers an illuminating narrative of Hossain's life interspersed with historical details that landscapes a vivid political picture of that era. Through primary sources that include Hossain's private papers, British Intelligence files, and contemporary correspondence and newspapers, N. S. Vinodh brilliantly brings to life a man who has been relegated far too long to the shadows of time.

Cairo Andrew Beattie, 2005. Cairo is the largest metropolis in Africa since the Middle Ages; it was in Ibn Battutah's words the mother of cities. With a present-day population of around eighteen million, this sprawling metropolis is home to one thousand new migrants every day, drawn to the seething intensity of a modern cosmopolitan capital that blends together the cultures of the Middle East and Europe. The fabled city on the banks of the River Nile, once home to pharaohs and emperors, now forms a focal point of the Islamic faith and of the Arab world. Andrew Beattie explores the turbulent past and vibrant present of this city, where the enduring legacies of the ancient Egyptians, the early Coptic Church, British colonial rule, and the modernist zeal of the post-independence era have all left their mark. Promised Lands Jonathan Parry, 2024-12-10. A major history of the British Empire's early involvement in the Middle East, Napoleon's invasion of Egypt in 1798 showed how vulnerable India was to attack by France and Russia. It forced the British Empire to try to secure the two routes that a European might use to reach the subcontinent: through Egypt and the Red Sea, and through Baghdad and the Persian Gulf. Promised Lands is a panoramic history of this vibrant and explosive age, charting the development of Britain's political interest in the Middle East from the Napoleonic Wars to the Crimean War in the 1850s. Jonathan Parry examines the various strategies employed by British and Indian officials, describing how they sought influence with local Arabs, Mamluks, Kurds, Christians, and Jews. He tells a story of commercial and naval power, boosted by the arrival of steamships in the 1830s, and discusses how classical and biblical history fed into British visions of what these lands might become. The region was subject to the Ottoman Empire, yet the sultan's grip on it appeared weak. Should Ottoman claims to sovereignty be recognised and exploited, or ignored and opposed? Could the Sultan's government be made to support British objectives, or would it always favour France or Russia? Promised Lands shows how what started as a geopolitical contest became a drama about diplomatic competition, religion, race, and the unforeseen consequences of history. Stelae from Egypt and Nubia in the Fitzwilliam

Museum, Cambridge Geoffrey Thorndike Martin, Sarah Clackson, Fitzwilliam Museum, 2005 The volume will interest specialists as well as a wider public concerned with Egyptology BOOK JACKET Cairo's Street Stories Lesley

Lababidi, 2008-05-01 In 1872 Ismail Pasha the khedive of Egypt was the first to adopt the European custom of positioning heroic statues on public display as a symbolic message of the continuing authority of the ruling Muhammad Ali dynasty to which he belonged but it was not until the early twentieth century and the determination of sculptor Mahmoud Mukhtar that such public art gained general acceptance and today statues stand ride or sit in the streets squares and gardens of Cairo Each sculpture adds a piece to the jigsaw of history spanning personalities and events that shaped the city and wider Egypt from 1805 to 1970 and here Cairo based author Lesley Lababidi provides a unique perspective on Egyptian history through looking at more than thirty statues and monumental sculptures and the stories behind them Between statues she explores Cairo's growth and its multidimensional identity as manifested in the development and changing use of city space over the centuries and examines the relationship of Cairo's modern denizens with the landscapes districts palaces archaeological sites cafés bridges and gardens of their great and maddening city the Mother of the World Illustrated throughout with color photographs and archival pictures Cairo's Street Stories presents a unique and lively view of the history that fashioned the city's streets and open spaces and of the many and often unexpected uses to which its inventive inhabitants put them

From Mission to Modernity Paul Sedra, 2011-03-30 In this pioneering account of Egyptian educational history Paul Sedra describes how the Egyptian state under Muhammad Ali Pasha sought to forge a new relationship with children during the nineteenth century Through the introduction of modern forms of education brought to Egypt by evangelical missions the state aimed to ensure children's loyal service to the state whether through conscription or forced labour However these schemes of educational reform most prominently Joseph Lancaster's monitorial system led to unforeseen consequences as students in Egypt's new modern schools resisted efforts to control their behaviour in creative and complex ways and these acts of resistance themselves led to new forms of political identity Tracing the development of a distinctly Egyptian modernity From Mission to Modernity is indispensable for all those interested in Egyptian history and the history of modern education and reform

Tea on the terrace Kathleen L. Sheppard, 2022-08-09 Tea on the terrace takes the reader on a journey up and down the Nile with famous archaeologists and Egyptologists Spending time with these fascinating men and women at their hotels and on their boats the book reveals that a great deal of archaeological work took place away from field sites and museums Arriving in Alexandria travellers such as Americans Theodore Davis Emma Andrews and James Breasted and Britons Wallis Budge Maggie Benson and Howard Carter moved on to Cairo before heading south for Luxor the site of the Ancient Egyptian city of Thebes The book follows them on their journey listening in on their conversations and observing their activities Applying insights from social studies of science it reveals that hotels in particular were crucial spaces for establishing careers building and strengthening scientific networks and generating and experimenting with new ideas

Combining archaeological tourism with the history of Egyptology and drawing on a wide array of archival materials Tea on the terrace takes the reader behind the scenes of familiar stories showing Egyptologists activities in a whole new light

Morris L. Bierbrier,2021-12-31 The civilization of ancient Egypt has been a source of fascination for explorers and scholars for centuries and has occupied a special place in the imagination of the public ever since early travellers descriptions and illustrations of the strange culture of temples tombs and hieroglyphs began to circulate around the world The story of Egyptology from a hobby for the educated and wealthy to a highly formalized academic discipline provides the key to understanding how and why we know what we know about ancient Egypt This biographical dictionary tells the stories of the most important contributors and will be an indispensable reference tool for scholars and enthusiasts alike Who Was Who in Egyptology remains one of the most important reference works for understanding the characters that contributed to the field of Egyptology and Egyptian archaeology from the Napoleonic invasion of Egypt through to the present day The fifth edition bring entries up to 2019 and is expected to be the last volume produced in print A Field Guide to the Street Names of

Central Cairo Humphrey Davies,2018-07-14 The map of a city is a palimpsest of its history In Cairo people places events and even dates have lent their names to streets squares and bridges only for those names often to be replaced and then replaced again and even again as the city and the country imagine and reimagine their past The resident wandering boulevards and cul de sacs finds signs the reader perusing novels and histories finds references Who were Abd el Khaleq Sarwat Basha or Yusef el Gindi that they should have streets named after them Who was Nubar Basha and why did his street move from the north of the city to its center in 1933 Why do older maps show two squares called Bab el Luq while modern maps show none Focusing on the part of the city created in the wake of Khedive Ismail s command given in 1867 to create a Paris on the Nile on the muddy lands between medieval Cairo and the river A Field Guide to the Street Names of Cairo lists
