Security And Development In Southern Africa:

Security and Development in Southern Africa Nana Poku, 2001-04-30 With the end of white dominated South Africa many observers have argued for a positive transformation of the whole of Southern Africa based upon market integration and increased cooperation among the states of the region Poku and the contributors to this collection re examine this optimistic scenerio and they point to the problems of translating good intentions into actual policies In reality the economic imbalance between South Africa and its neighbors poses severe problems for the region Far from finding a stronger ally in regional reconstruction and developoment the countries in the region are finding that for many in South Africa they simply do not matter that much The analysis points to greater polarization which may imply greater marginalization of the poorer countries in the region Moreover a major widening of the gap between the richer South Africa and some or all of the weaker economies may lead to increased tensions and breakdown of regional relations even to a situation detrimental to economic development in the region A provocative analysis by some of the leading politico economic thinkers of the region the volume will be of great use to scholars researchers and policy makers involved with Southern African development

Food Security and Sustainable Development in Southern Africa Scott Drimie, Simphiwe Mini, 2003 Southern Africa experienced acute food shortages during 2002 and 2003 The Security-development Nexus Lars Buur, Steffen Jensen, Finn Stepputat, 2007 The link between security and development has been rediscovered after 9 11 by a broad range of scholars Focusing on Southern Africa the Security Development Nexus shows that the much debated linkage is by no means a recent invention Rather the security development linkage has been an important element of the state policies of colonial as well as post colonial regimes during the Cold War and it seems to be prospering in new configurations under the present wave of democratic transitions Contributors focus on a variety of contexts from South Africa Mozambique and Namibia to Zimbabwe and Democratic Congo they explore the nexus and our understanding of security and development through the prism of peace keeping interventions community policing human rights gender land contests squatters nation and state building social movements DDR programmes and the different trajectories democratization has taken in different parts of the region

Security and Democracy in Southern Africa Gavin Cawthra, André Du Pisani, Abillah H. Omari, 2007 A study of the ambiguity of democratization and how it can generate violence Southern Africa has embarked on one of the world s most ambitious security co operation initiatives seeking to roll out the principles of the United Nations at regional levels This book examines the triangular relationship between democratization the character of democracy and its deficits and national security practices and perceptions of eleven southern African states Based on national studies conducted by African academics and security practitioners over three years it includes an examination of the way security is conceived and managed as well as a comparative analysis of regional security co operation in the developing world The study concludes that democratization is ambiguous and uncertain and can in some cases generate violent conflict Building a common security regime in southern Africa will require moving beyond regime solidarity In particular progress will mean building multinational institutions entrenching democratic practices drawing on civil society and integrating the southern African project with that of the African Union The authors conclude with a set of policy recommendations that aim to strengthen both states and civil society within the framework of an emerging common security system Security and Development Assistance United States.

Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations,1983 Regionalism, Security and Development in Africa Ernest Tooche Aniche,Ikenna Mike Alumona,Inocent Moyo,2021-04-29 This book charts the history and contemporary landscape of African regionalism investigating how regional cooperation can be used to help to tackle security and development challenges in Africa Africa has a long tradition of regional cooperation with the oldest trade and monetary integration schemes in the developing world but its colonial period and partition of have caused lasting damage that still be seen in today s African economies Contemporary post colonial African regionalism deeply rooted in notions of pan Africanism has served as a means of collective self reliance and economic transformation and development This book starts with the history and theory behind African regionalism before discussing and comparing regional organisations such as the Economic Community of Central African States ECCAS the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS the Community of Sahel Saharan States CEN SAD Southern African Development Community SADC the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa COMESA and the East African Community EAC Finally the book considers how regional integration and cooperation can help to address security and development challenges This ambitious and broad ranging book will be a valuable resource for researchers working on African regionalism security African integration and development and comparative regionalism Policymakers should also consider it a useful guide to the background and contemporary landscape of African regionalism

Uniting Africa David J. Francis,2017-05-15 Plagued by bloody wars and armed conflicts political instability communal violence and displaced persons and at the mercy of natural catastrophes such as drought and famine it is not surprising that the Western press has long dismissed Africa as the hopeless continent In the face of these challenges Africa today is faced with a stark choice either unite or perish The debate on why and how the continent should unite in terms of co operative peace security and development is more urgent than at any other time in Africa s post colonial history Moving forward from the failure of the earlier typically idealistic Africa unity project David Francis demonstrates how peace and security challenges have created the imperative for change He argues that a series of regional peace and security systems are emerging and that states that have participated in practical experiments in regional peacekeeping peace support operations conflict stabilization management and preventive diplomacy are building de facto systems of peace and security that could be institutionalized and extended SADC - The Southern Arrested Development Community? MICHAEL. AEBY,2019-09-13 Southern Africa is likely to experience more social unrest in the foreseeable future That is one of the conclusions in this policy dialogue which provides an overview of political and economic developments relevant to regional peace and security in Southern Africa While the region continues to experience isolated armed conflicts and while developmental backlogs present a major risk to regional stability in the long run currently the most acute source of instability stems from governance deficits which in the past decade have prompted crises in many of the member states of the Southern African Development Community SADC SADC's institutional framework for regional peace and security has proven ineffective because SADC leaders have prioritised national sovereignty over the enforcement of democratic principles The institutions have little capacity as they lack material and political support The governance deficits and SADC's lacklustre conflict management may in the long run arrest development in Southern Africa

Achieving Food Security in Southern Africa Lawrence James Haddad,1997-01-01 The effects of macroeconomic reforms and regional integration on agriculture and rural development Bringing previously disadvantaged rural people into the economic mainstream The effective development of Southern Africa's water resources Safety nets and protecting the poor The effective development of rural infrastructure

Conflict, Security and Development Paul Jackson,Danielle Beswick,2014-11-07 This textbook draws on academic theory field research and policy developments to provide an overview of the connections between security and development before during and after conflict This 2nd edition is revised and updated to take account of changes that have occurred in both policy and academic arenas which are relevant to students and practitioners in this area In an interdependent world it is often argued that the challenges of underdevelopment and insecurity have global implications This textbook charts an accessible course through these complex debates providing a comprehensive introduction for those encountering these issues for the first time The main aims of the revised edition are to set out how thinking on conflict security and development has changed over time and continues to evolve to explore the consequences of these changes particularly for the theory and practice of development and security promotion to introduce a range of case studies from across the globe in order to explore the implications of a combined approach to security and development The authors are experienced in both the theory and the practice of this field and illustrate the links between conflict security and development with practical examples drawing on key case studies from the past twenty years Each chapter is informed by student pedagogy and the book will be essential reading for all students of development studies war and conflict studies and human security and is recommended for students of international security and IR in general

Food and Nutrition Security in Southern African Cities Bruce Frayne,Jonathan Crush,Cameron McCordic,2017-12-22 Urban population growth is extremely rapid across Africa and this book places urban food and nutrition security firmly on the development and policy agenda It shows that current efforts to address food poverty in Africa that focus entirely on small scale farmers to the exclusion of broader socio economic and infrastructural approaches are misplaced and will remain largely ineffective in ameliorating food and nutrition insecurity for the majority of Africans Using original data from the African Food Security Urban Network's AFSUN extensive database it is demonstrated that the primary food security challenge for urban households is access to food. Already linked into global food systems and value chains Africa's supply of food is not necessarily in jeopardy. Rather the widespread poverty and informal urban fabric that characterizes Africa's emerging cities impinge directly on households' capacity to access food that is readily available. Through the analysis of empirical data collected from 6 500 households in eleven cities in nine countries in Southern Africa the authors identify the complexity of factors and dynamics that create the circumstances of widespread food and nutrition insecurity under which urban citizens live. They also provide useful policy approaches to address these conditions that currently thwart the latent development potential of Africa's expanding urban population. Louis A. Picard, Terry F. Buss, Taylor B. Seybolt, Macrina C. Lelei, 2015-04-22 Many new development initiatives have been introduced in Africa over the past few decades. Each of these has been heralded as marking a new era in the continent's development. However many of these initiatives have failed to produce sustained results due to numerous challenges including most importantly the lack of good governance. The Africa P

Region-Building in Southern Africa Chris Saunders, Gwinyayi Albert Dzinesa, Dawn Nagar, 2013-07-04 How successful have Southern African states been in dealing with the major issues that have faced the region in recent years? What could be done to produce more cohesive and effective region building in Southern Africa? In this original and wide ranging volume which draws on an interdisciplinary team of mainly African and African based specialists the key political socio economic and security challenges facing Southern Africa today are addressed. These include the various issues confronting the Southern African Development Community SADC and its institutions such as HIV AIDS migration and xenophobia land grabbing and climate change and the role of the main external actors involved with the region including the United Nations the European Union the United States and China. The book also looks at the Southern African Customs Union and Southern African Development Finance Institutions including the Development Bank of Southern Africa and Industrial Development Corporation and issues of gender and peacebuilding. In doing so the book goes to the heart of analyzing the effectiveness of SADC and other regional organisation suggesting how region building in Southern Africa may be compared with similar attempts elsewhere in Africa and other parts of the world.

Migration, Development and Urban Food Security Crush, Jonathan, 2016-11-25 Over the last decade two issues have risen to the top of the international development agenda: Food Security Migration and Development. Each has its own agency champions international gatherings national line ministries and voluminous bodies of research. There is thus a massive institutional and substantive disconnect between these two development agendas. The reasons are hard to understand since the connections between migration and food security seem so obvious. Food security needs to be mainstreamed into the migration and development agenda and migration needs to be mainstreamed into the food security agenda. Without this happening both agendas will proceed in ignorance of the other to the detriment of both. The result will be a singular failure to understand and manage the crucial reciprocal relationship between migration and food security This paper aims to promote a conversation between food security and migration experts and policy makers with particular reference to the crisis of urban food security in Africa The empirical basis of the conversation is an AFSUN survey in 2008 and its findings on the differences between migrant and non migrant households in 11 cities in Southern Africa Security and development in Southern Africa Christopher Saunders, Dawn Nagar, University of Cape Town. Centre for Conflict Resolution, 2008

Security, Governance, and State Fragility in South Africa Edward L. Mienie, 2020-03-06 Do existing measures of state fragility measure fragility accurately Based on commonly used fragility measures South Africa SA is classified as a relatively stable state yet rising violent crime high unemployment endemic poverty eroding public trust identity group based preferential treatment policies and the rapid rise of the private security sector are all indications that SA may be suffering from latent state fragility Based on a comprehensive view of security this study examines the extent to which measures of political legitimacy and good governance effectiveness in the security system especially with respect to the police system and mounting economic challenges may be undermining the stability of SA in ways undetected by commonly used measures of state fragility Using a mixed methods approach based on quantitative secondary data analysis and semi structured interviews with government officials security practitioners and leading experts in the field this study finds that the combination of colonization apartheid liberation struggle transition from autocracy to democracy high levels of direct and structural violence stagnating social political and economic developments make South Africa a latently fragile state Conceptually the results of this research call into question the validity of commonly used measures of state fragility and suggest the need for a more comprehensive approach to assessing state fragility Practically this study offers a number of concrete policy recommendations for how South Africa may address mounting levels of latent state fragility

Food Security in South Africa Sakiko Fukuda-Parr, Vivienne Taylor, 2015-11-10 The right to food is guaranteed in South Africa s Constitution as it is in international law Yet food insecurity remains widespread and persistent at levels much higher than in countries with similar levels of per capita GDP and development such as Brazil In this book leading local and international researchers on food security and related policy work have come together to create the first systematic and trans disciplinary analysis of food security and its multiple dimensions in South Africa and the southern African region Drawing on Amartya Sen s entitlement theory to identify the key drivers of hunger they see food insecurity as a chronic structurally based condition rather than only resulting from natural environmental disasters temporary economic shocks and household vulnerabilities The authors focus on a range of policy options and choices to provide short term and longer term solutions to the systemic causes of unemployment failing rural livelihoods and traditional subsistence production They also emphasise the linkages between the social and economic dimensions of food insecurity and use an integrative interdisciplinary approach to analyse the reasons why these conditions persist and what can be done to address them Importantly the book brings together work undertaken at local and national levels in new ways so that policy makers researchers human rights advocates and social and economic scholars are better able to make the links between macro and micro processes of development Innovations in

Achieving Sustainable Food Security in Eastern and Southern Africa Negatu, Workneh, Musahara, Herman, 2016-06-13

Security, Education and Development in Contemporary Africa M. Raymond Izarali, Oliver Masakure, Edward Shizha, 2016-12-01 This volume delineates the critical link among security education and development in Africa and provides a multidisciplinary framework of analyses and possible solutions Africa has had a long history that embodies layers of mass scale criminality and exploitation not merely from neocolonial and apartheid policies but also from political greed This has impacted adversely on security education and development in a way that deprivation of education and underdevelopment in turn re creates security issues The volume aims firstly to help augment scholarly inquiry into the nexus among in security education and development through the multidisciplinary framework of analyses secondly to provide policymakers and educators with tools and a framework to comprehend the complexity and magnitude of the issues to which they ought to be sensitive and respond and finally to provide caregivers and childcare agencies of the state a comprehensible framework of underlying multifaceted sources of trauma experienced by children in extraordinary circumstances It is organized in four sections theoretical conceptualization on security and development country cases on security and development security and educational development and country cases on security and education Serving as a significant compass to understand and respond to the complex interplay and impact of security education and development in Africa it is of great use to graduates and scholars interested in Africa Politics IPE security studies and development studies
