Fierke, 2015-03-06 During the Cold War the concept of international security was understood in military terms as the threat or use of force by states The end of East West hostilities however brought critical perspectives to the fore as scholars sought to explain the emergence of new challenges to international stability such as environmental degradation immigration and terrorism The second edition of this popular and highly respected text offers a wide ranging and comprehensive analysis of the growing field of critical security studies All the chapters have been fully revised and updated to map the on going evolution of debates about international security since 1989 including the more recent shift in emphasis from critiques of the realist practices of states to those of global liberal governance Topics covered include the relationship between security and change identity the production of danger fear and trauma human insecurity and emancipation The book explores the meaning and use of these concepts and their relevance to real life situations ranging from the War on Terror to the Arab Spring migration suffering in war failed states and state building and the changing landscape of the international system with the emergence of a multipolar world and the escalation of global climate change Written with verve and clarity and incorporating new seminar activities and questions for class discussion this book will be an invaluable resource for students of international relations and security studies Gender, Human Security and the United Nations Natalie Florea

Hudson,2009-09-22 This book examines the relationship between women gender and the international security agenda exploring the meaning of security in terms of discourse and practice as well as the larger goals and strategies of the global women s movement Today many complex global problems are being located within the security logic From the environment to HIV AIDS state and non state actors have made a practice out of securitizing issues that are not conventionally seen as such As most prominently demonstrated by the UN Security Council Resolution 1325 2001 activists for women s rights have increasingly framed women s rights and gender inequality as security issues in an attempt to gain access to the international security agenda particularly in the context of the United Nations This book explores the nature and implications of the use of security language as a political framework for women tracing and analyzing the organizational dynamics of women s activism in the United Nations system and how women have come to embrace and been impacted by the security framework globally and locally The book argues that from a feminist and human security perspective efforts to engender the security discourse have had both a broadening and limiting effect highlighting reasons to be sceptical of securitization as an inherently beneficial strategy Four cases studies are used to develop the core themes 1 the campaign to implement UN Security Council Resolution 1325 2 the strategies utilized by those advocating women s issues in the security arena compared to those advocating for children 3 the organizational development of the UN Development Fund for Women and how it has come to securitize women and 4 the activity of the UN Peacebuilding Commission and its challenges in gendering its security approach The work will be of interest to students of critical security gender studies international organizations and international relations in general Natalie Florea Hudson received her PhD in Political Science from the University of Connecticut and is an Assistant Professor at the University of Dayton She specializes in gender and international relations human rights international security studies and international law and organization ECOWAS and the Dynamics of Conflict and Peace-building Thomas Jaye,Dauda Garuba,2011-12-15 ECOWAS and the Dynamics of Conflict and Peace building testifies to the fact that we cannot talk of West African affairs more so of conflict and peace building without talking about ECOWAS For over two decades now West Africa has remained one of Africas most conflict ridden regions It has been a theatre of some of the most atrocious brutalities in the modern world It has nonetheless witnessed one of the most ambitious internal efforts towards finding regional solutions to conflicts through ECOWAS The lead role of ECOMOG the ECOWAS peacekeeping force in search of peaceful solutions to civil wars in Liberia Sierra Leone Guinea Bissau and Cote d'Ivoire has yielded a mix of successes and failures In this book the authors take a candid look at the role that ECOWAS has played and show how the sub regional organisation has stabilised and created new conditions conducive to nation building in a number of cases Conversely the book shows that ECOWAS has aggravated if not created new tensions in yet other cases The comparative advantage that ECOWAS has derived from these experiences is reflected in the various mechanisms protocols and conventions that are now in place to ensure a more comprehensive conflict prevention framework This book provides a nuanced analysis of the above issues and other dynamics of conflicts in the region It also interrogates the roles played by ECOWAS and various other actors in the context of the complex interplay between natural resource governance corruption demography and the youth bulge gender and the conflicting interests of national regional and international players
