Writers of the Spanish Colonial Period David William Foster, Daniel Altamiranda, 1997 These critical studies propose innovative readings and overall reformulations of the texts and authors that stand as representative of the period for the contemporary reader The first group of articles refers to reports chronicles and Renaissance epics a vast block of texts that fall in most cases halfway between history and narrative fiction and examine the experiences of the discovery the conquest and the colonization of the new territories The second group concentrates on regionally marked texts from the Baroque period especially those of the central figure of the Mexican nun poet and intellectual Sor Juana In s de la Cruz Finally there are some essays on representative texts of the latter part of the colonial period Publisher s description Sugar Central and Planters News, 1922 Translanguaging with Multilingual Students Ofelia García, Tatyana Kley, 2016-06-10 Looking closely at what happens when translanguaging is actively taken up to teach emergent bilingual students across different contexts this book focuses on how it is already happening in classrooms as well as how it can be implemented as a pedagogical orientation It extends theoretical understandings of the concept and highlights its promises and challenges

Using a Transformative Action Research design six empirically grounded ethnographic case studies describe how translanguaging is used in lesson designs and in the spontaneous moves made by teachers and students during specific teaching moments The cases shed light on two questions How when and why is translanguaging taken up or resisted by students and teachers What does its use mean for them Although grounded in a U S context and specifically in classrooms in New York State Translanguaging with Multilingual Students links findings and theories to different global contexts to offer important lessons for educators worldwide
