Kasten Dumroese, Tara Luna, Thomas D. Landis, 2009 In 2001 the Forest Service U S Department of Agriculture USDA through its Virtual Center for Reforestation Nurseries and Genetics Resources RNGR invited Native

Americans from across the United States to attend the Western Forest and Conservation Nursery Association annual meeting. About 25 tribal members representing 20 tribes attended the meeting at Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colorado. The following year a similar meeting was held in Olympia, Washington, and tribal members initiated a Tribal Nursery Council and requested that RNGR facilitate the organization. During 2003 RNGR requested information from 560 tribes across the United States seeking specific information on tribes' needs for native plants, facilities, training, and so on. Results from the responding 77 tribes were incorporated into the Tribal Nursery Needs Assessment. Based on the results of that questionnaire and input from tribal members attending the 2003 Intertribal Nursery Council meeting in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, it was agreed that a nursery handbook was needed. That fall planning began for writing the manual, loosely based on Agriculture Handbook 674, The Container Tree Nursery Manual, but with special attention to the uniqueness of Native American cultures.

It features information on the reason to graft, along with clear instructions on the formation of the graft union, the production of rootstocks, bench grafting techniques, field grafting, vegetable grafting, and cactus grafting. An A to Z appendix of plants features detailed information on what type of graft should be used, when it should be done, what type of root stock needs to be used, and what environment it needs to be kept in. The Manual of Plant Grafting is a must-have guide for nursery and horticulture professionals, horticulture students, and orchard owners.
